CAROL ON THRONE; TAKES SON

DID MAC DONALD RENEGE ON THAT RAPIDAN CHAT?

Treaty Opponents Want to Know.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—[Special.]—Those historic conversations between President Hoover and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain on the Rapidan last October are destined to figure prominently in the forthcoming debate on the navy limitation treaty, it transpired today.

Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], leader of the opposition to the treaty, and other opponents have received information that the principal provisions of the treaty, including acceptance of the British cruiser terms, were agreed upon then by the President and the prime minister.

According to this version of the incident, Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald made mutual concessions. Mr. Hoover came down from 21 eight inch gun cruisers for the United States as essential to Anglo-American cruiser parity to the 18 the British proposed to limit us, and Mr. MacDonald agreed that the United States should have the right to build one or two superdreadnaughts, equivalent to Britain's Rodney and Nelson, in order to make the American battleship fleet equal in power to the British.

MacDonald Couldn't Deliver.

Mr. Hoover "delivered" on his part of the reported bargain, but Mr. MacDonald did not. The prime minister, according to the story, found he had promised more than he could deliver. The British admiralty, when it found that Mr. MacDonald had promised to allow America one, if not two, new dreadnaughts sat down upon the prime minister most effectually. He was informed that a concession of that character was simply out of the question. Mr. MacDonald, however, did not disclose his inability to deliver until after the American delegation reached London, and after it had been committed in writing to a maximum of 18 big gun cruisers.

The administration admits the truth of only part of this story. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson is authority for the assertion that the proposal of an American Rodney emanated from the conversations on the Rapidan. It was Mr. Stimson's understanding when he went to London that there was an agreement on this point between Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald.

Deny Hoover Cut Quota.

That Mr. Hoover, however, consented in the Rapidan conversations to come down to 18 big gun cruisers is denied. In support of this denial it is pointed out that as late as December both Mr. Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams were maintaining that 21 eight inch gun cruisers would give us parity with Britain but 18 would not.

It is to throw light upon this disputed detail of the negotiations that Mr. Johnson and his supporters are demanding that the administration furnish the senate committee on foreign relations with the correspondence and memoranda of other interchanges between the negotiators. Also the opponents of the treaty are asking if it is to conceal embarrassing details of the manner in which our acceptance of the British cruiser terms was brought about that the administration has refused to furnish the information requested.

The British cruiser terms accepted by the Hoover administration in the London treaty were first proposed at the Geneva conference of 1927. These terms were that cruisers should be divided into two subcategories—one to be ships mounting eight inch guns and the other six inch guns or smaller—and that the United States should be permitted to have about half the number of eight inch gun ships it deemed essential to its security and the protection of its high seas commerce while being allowed nearly twice as many six inch gun cruisers as it had use for. The British proposed at one time 12 and another 15 each as the limitation of big gun cruisers for America and Britain.

Coolidge Rejects Terms.

Backed by President Coolidge the American delegation flatly rejected these terms and as the British refused to accede the conference failed. The American delegation maintained that we should have complete freedom of choice of the size of cruisers and guns within the limit of the maximum cruiser tonnage agreed on and within the limitations imposed by the Washington treaty.

The American government maintained its position on cruisers unqualifiedly until Mr. Hoover became Presi-

Five Die as Train Hits Picnic Auto

Father, Two Children Are Among Victims

A party of five, including two children, met instant death on a country outing yesterday when the small sedan in which they were riding was struck by a gas-electric railway coach at an unguarded Chesapeake and Ohio railroad crossing at Beatrice, Ind., ten miles south of Valparaiso. A sixth member of the party escaped with slight injuries.

THE DEAD:

Clyde Henley, 35 years old, a confectioner of Highland, Ind., a suburb of Hammond. He was driving the sedan.

Clyde Henley Jr., 8 years old, and his sister, Marjorie, 6, children of the confectioner.

Virgil Planalp, 26 years old, storekeeper of Tipton, Ind.

Harley Park, 30 years old, 1131 Jackson boulevard, Hammond, guest of the Henley's on the outing. His father, Melvin Park, was the survivor of the accident.

Plan Outing for Week.

All week the Henleys had planned the outing. The children were ready half an hour before their mother, Amanda Henley, was ready to start.

They were bound for the farm of Ed Peterson, near Beatrice in northeast Porter county, where the Henleys had grown up. On the way they stopped for Harley Park and his father, likewise former residents of Porter county.

After dinner at the Peterson home, Virgil Planalp, a Sunday guest, remarked that the trout were biting over at Lake Eliza and Peterson said he had fishing poles for all in the granary.

Harley Park and his father were eager to go, as was Henley, while his children clamored for permission to go also. "Don't let the children go swimming," was Mrs. Henley's last warning. "They might be drowned."

Train Rounds Corner.

Five minutes later as the sedan reached the crossing a quarter mile from the Peterson farmhouse, the railway coach, rounding a curve between two bluffs, struck it at 45 miles an hour. All but the elder Park were dead when the train crew and passengers reached the wrecked sedan.

They carried Park to the farmhouse and Mrs. Henley asked what had happened. The train crew was silent but Park raised his head. "They're all dead over there," he announced.

Two Die in Benton Harbor.

Inez Gilbert, 17 years old, and Vern Schollesser, 22 years old, both of La Porte, Ind., were killed last night when the automobile in which they were riding with four other persons collided head on with the automobile of E. Manske, 1412 Morton avenue, St. Joseph, Mich., on U. S. highway No. 12 near the Twin City airport in Benton Harbor, Mich.

Manske, driver of the second automobile, was slightly injured. The other four persons riding in the Gilbert-Schollesser automobile were also slightly injured and left for home after receiving treatment.

One Death in County.

One death in Cook county raised the 1930 auto toll to 378.

John C. Piffl, 49 years old, 1824 Washington boulevard, a boxmaker, died at the county hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck near his home by an automobile driven by Dr. James Bernardi, 727 South Laflin street. Dr. Bernardi was released on a $1,000 bond.

BULLET FELLS SELLER OF GANG MACHINE GUNS

Hides Mysterious Assassin's Name.

Frank R. Thompson, gang machine gun seller, once accused of having supplied the guns to the killers in the Moran gang massacre of St. Valentine's day, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded last night in a mysterious affray which, Chicago police surmise, marks a spread of local gang strife to a broader field of action.

Thompson drove his car into the only garage at New Milford, a hamlet on the southern boundary of Winnebago county, at 11 p. m. He opened the door and toppled to the garage floor. To the garage attendant, T. H. McCalmon, who lifted his head, Thompson gasped:

"I'm dying. Get me to a doctor."

Taken to Rockford Hospital.

McCalmon called to a state trooper, E. L. Smith, who was passing on his motorcycle. They lifted the wounded man into his own car and, with the garage attendant driving and the trooper escorting drove Thompson to the Swedish American hospital at Rockford, five miles north.

The hospital surgeons found that a bullet had pierced Thompson's chest just below the heart, taking a downward course and emerging from his back in the region of his kidneys. Although Thompson is in the prime of life, 40 years old, and of rugged constitution, the surgeons doubt that he will survive.

The Winnebago county sheriff, Harry Baldwin, hurried to the bedside Thompson, who has known the sheriff for ten years, met the sheriff's questions as to the scene of the shooting and the identity of his assailants with a sneer.

Refuses to Talk.

"Listen, Harry," he told the sheriff, "I've seen everything, done everything, and got everything, and you're smart enough to know I won't talk. Go to hell."

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Thompson, elderly folk, who have lived for years at 427 Fulton street, Elgin, were notified of his condition at their home. The father expressed dismay. Frank, he said, had been living quietly with them for a year, employed as a salesman, and had motored to Rockford on Saturday to complete a business deal. The elder Thompson left immediately for Rockford but, when he reached his son's bedside, the wounded man was unconscious.

Sheriffs of adjoining counties volunteered Sheriff Baldwin an outline of Thompson's past, but could furnish no information on his recent activities which might cast light on the attempt to slay him. An examination of the car, the windshield and cushions of which were unmarked, established that he had not been shot while in the machine.

Goes to Jail for Assault.

Mrs. Helena Dolder, sheriff of De Kalb county, recalled that in 1927 Thompson had become embroiled in a bitted quarrel with his wife, the upshot of which was his bombardment of her parents' home at Kirkland with a machine gun. He was convicted of assault with a deadly weapon and served six months in the De Kalb county jail at Sycamore.

Police at Freeport recollected that only three months ago they had arrested Thompson on complaint of Marjorie Van Hall, who accused him of peddling narcotics. Locked up at the Freeport police station, Thompson attempted suicide by slashing his wrists with a watch crystal. He escaped trial on the narcotic charge, convincing the Freeport authorities that the woman's charge was inspired by spite.

With these avenues of the investigation yielding nothing, Sheriff Baldwin called on Chief of Detectives Stege for help. Stege received the report of the shooting with interest, remarked that Thompson seemed to have gotten his desserts, and promised to list the case for local investigation.

Stege Predicts Bitter Strife.

Stege was more concerned, however, with determining who had shot Eugene [Red] McLaughlin in the head and dropped his iron-weighted body into the drainage canal at Summit,

Wm. R. Moss, Attorney, Is Found Dead

William R. Moss, for more than 30 years a prominent lawyer and civic leader in Chicago, was found dead yesterday in the kitchen of his Oak Park residence, 719 North Elmwood avenue. A burner of the gas range was partly open. The police concluded death was accidental.

They at first attributed it solely to asphyxiation, but medical opinion was that there were not sufficient fumes in the room to kill a normally healthy person. It was then learned that Mr. Moss' heart had been weakened through recent illness and they finally decided death was due directly to heart failure, superinduced by the gas.

Attorney in Leland Case.

He and his law partner, Milford H. Olds, were in the public eye in 1924 in the divorce case in which Albert H. Leland named the Rev. Carl D. Case, pastor of the First Baptist church of Oak Park, and his wife's spiritual adviser, as co-respondent. Mr. Olds represented Mr. Leland, and Mr. Moss Mrs. Leland, Dr. Case was exonerated.

"Contrary to idle talk," said Mr. Olds last night, "the case had no effect on Mr. Moss' practice. It is true that he suffered financial reverses, but they came years later."

Goes to Suburban Home.

Mr. Moss, who was 62 years old, retired from public life some time ago. He lived with his wife, Mrs. Florence Thompson Moss, and a daughter, Florence Louise, at 4638 Lake Park avenue, Chicago. Their Oak Park residence was not occupied, although Mr. Moss was accustomed to make weekly trips there to work in the garden.

He left home Saturday morning for one of these weekly visits. Apparently he worked about the house during the day, then sat down in the kitchen to read. Police theorized that he brushed against the gas stove, opening the jet.

Joins Fight Against Vice.

Mr. Moss completed his education at the University of Michigan, being graduated in 1899. He became active as a public speaker and led the fight joined in by many prominent citizens against vice conditions in Chicago in 1923.

He was a member of the Union League, Traffic, Executives, and Oak Park clubs and active in activities of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

JOHNNY PERSHING CAN STAY IN U. S., HIS MOTHER SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BORDEAUX, France, June 8.—Johnny Pershing Stanton, 10 years old, of Fox Lake, Ill., need have no fear that his mother will force him to come to France to be brought up. According to the mother, Mrs. Henrietta Stanton Berry, who is at present visiting her family here, accompanied by her husband, Joseph Berry, they are returning to the states in a month and they never intended to live in Bordeaux.

Mrs. Berry said she was upset over the affair and intends to fight Jacob Larsen's suit to gain the custody of Johnny, who deliberately missed the steamship which was to have taken him with the Berrys to France.

Mrs. Berry, a native of France, said she married Mr. Stanton at the end of the war and they were divorced within a short time. She said Johnny had been living with a Mrs. O'Boyle and her son, Mr. Larsen, who are friends of his father.

"You can imagine my anguish when I discovered that he had vanished from the boat," said Mrs. Berry. "I was frantic until a got a radio message from Mr. Larsen saying he was safe."

Mr. Berry declared he is fond of Johnny and wanted to raise the boy as his own son.

Common Cold Cure Found, Savant Says

Baltimore, Md., June 8.—(AP)—The cause and cure for the common cold, which is estimated to cause the American worker a loss in wages alone of two billions a year, is believed to have been discovered by Dr. J. A. Pfeiffer, associate of the University of Maryland medical school.

The scientist, in a paper before the University of Maryland Biological society, announced the isolation of a microscopic organism and its identification as the source of man's most common and unpopular ailment. He described it as the micrococcus coryza.

Proves Cure to His Satisfaction.

"We are certain that the micrococcus in question is the one we have been looking for and that persons can be immunized against its attacks," Dr. Pfeiffer said today. "We have proved both points to our satisfaction by experiments with animals and with humans."

The organism he has succeeded in isolating after years of research by scientists the world over is entirely new to bacteriology, he said. He uncovered it in the course of seven years' research into the causes of colds and did not make public his discovery until his theories had been confirmed in practice as well as in the laboratory, he said.

"Inoculation of freshly isolated strains of this organism into the nasal cavities of suitable objects produced the typical clinical symptoms of acute rhinitis (colds)," he said. "In these cases a coccus biologically identical with those injected was recovered from the discharge as long as the symptoms persisted and often for some time thereafter."

Germ Definitely Identified.

According to Dr. Pfeiffer, the germ that causes colds has been definitely identified and a successful method for combatting it has been developed. A vaccine has been worked out and has proven successful in experiments with humans and an antitoxin that should be equally successful is being developed, he said.

The results, Dr. Pfeiffer said, showed that it is possible, using the vaccine, to immunize people against catching colds for one to three years. It also is possible, he said, to break up a cold with the vaccine.

Dr. Pfeiffer has been recognized as one of Maryland's greatest scientists for years. He has carried on exhaustive studies in Paris, Munich, and Frankfort and has studied at other foreign centers.

'GHOST CAR' RUNS THROUGH LIGHT AND SHOCKS COP

South Park Policeman James Mackie was amazed yesterday afternoon to see a sedan apparently without a driver go through the red light at 26th street and directly across the line of Sunday motor traffic in South parkway. Fortunately the light had just changed and no cars were moving.

Leaping to the running board of the sedan he found eight year old Howard Miller of 2622 Lowe avenue standing on the floor in front of the driver's seat trying to manipulate the wheel. On hands and knees was six year old Elmer Gerino of the same address excitedly pushing away at clutches and pedals.

"What's the matter?" demanded Mackie.

"We got it started, but it won't stop," they explained.

The sedan belonged to Joseph Fisher, restaurant proprietor, at 2647 Cottage Grove avenue. The boys had climbed into it when they discovered it parked in front of his place. The sedan was returned to Fisher and the boys' parents notified.

RUMANIA HAILS PRODIGAL; FIRST AIR COUP WINS

Voted Crown He Quit for Love of Girl.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 8.—A new king rules Rumania tonight. He is Carol II., the prodigal prince, who came out of the sky to seize the throne he had spurned on Jan. 4, 1926, for a love nest, which he set up with a pretty red headed divorcée, the daughter of a Jewish junkman.

The parliament of Rumania, which but a few years ago passed laws abrogating all the royal rights of the love sick crown prince and made his baby son, Michael, heir to the throne of his father, today voted to crown Carol Caraiman, who until then was just, legally, a plain citizen of the country.

First Air Coup d'Etat.

The airplane coup d'état, the first one in history and which marked the climax of years of love, plots and intrigue, was thus brought to a successful conclusion.

The 8 year old boy king, who was deposed to make room on the throne for his father, was returned to his nursery and to a position of crown prince. And while 200,000 or more Rumanians were wildly cheering their new king and celebrating tonight, the little boy, who but yesterday had ruled the land, immediately became the center of a royal domestic drama.

With the cheers still ringing in his ears following the proclamation making him king, Carol dispatched his brother, Prince Nicholas, to Chaussee palace, the official residence of the Princess Helene, to request that he should be allowed to take Michael to see his father.

A half hour later Prince Nicholas returned, accompanied by Princess Elizabeth, sister of Helene, with the message that the latter could not consent to part with her son even for an hour. King Carol thereupon motored to Chaussee palace himself, where a dramatic scene ensued.

King Takes Son Away.

Helene repeated the declaration that she could not part with her son. But afterwards King Carol succeeded in taking Michael away.

The situation regarding Carol and his former wife is very obscure and the capital is full of rumors. Prof. Nicholas Jorga, once Carol's tutor, had a long conversation with Helene. She told him she would not leave Rumania—a country she loved far too well to go abroad—and she is determined to educate Michael herself.

The most generally believed report is that the divorce, which Helene obtained, will be annulled and that the royal couple will patch up their affair at least so far as the public eye is concerned.

Hints at Reconciliation.

Although Carol in his speech accepting the crown did not mention his mother, Dowager Queen Marie, or his ex-wife, Princess Helene, Prof. Jorga said to parliament:

"I trust another reconciliation will shortly delight us all—that of our king with his wife Helene. Nothing now stands in the way of such a step."

This new chapter in the history of Rumania began today when the national assembly, with a vote of 485 against one, proclaimed Prince Carol king. M. Bratianu, Liberal leader, cast the dissenting vote.

People flocked here today from all parts of the country to pay homage to King Carol, in spite of the fact that it was not certain that he would be proclaimed king.

The capital this morning presented a sight never before seen. The streets were jammed with people, flags were flying from all buildings, and airplanes were circling in the sky, writing the huge letter "C" in white smoke.

Deputies and senators of all parties with the exception of the Liberals—who are continuing to manifest their objection to Carol's return—arrived as early as 7 o'clock this morning ready for the full dress session of parliament.

Debate Boy King's Fate.

The regency had resigned and a temporary government was formed, the latter deciding to proclaim Carol as king. At the morning session, the law prohibiting Carol's return within a period of ten years was repealed, both houses voting unanimously. Many hours were spent debating the fate of the boy King Michael, and eventually it was decided to award him the title of "Grand Voivode," and create him duke of Alba Julia.

After criticizing Michael's new title, Grand Viovode, as being taken from a Viennese operetta, Prof. Jorga spoke movingly in favor of the proclamation of Carol as king of Rumania through passing the act of annulment.

"Carol has been the victim of discreditable intrigues," said Prof. Jorga. "On the late Jean Bratianu, on Prince Stirbey, rests the shame of having persuaded the unwilling King Ferdinand to pronounce a sentence of banishment against his beloved son. It was in vain that Dr. Maniu, Ton Mihallache and Dr. Vayda-Voevod joined me in counseling King Ferdinand to refuse to banish his son."

Raising his voice, he cried:

"At last the day has come to repair the wrong then done."

Weeps as He Rides By.

The main session of both houses began at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon with the galleries and boxes packed to capacity, all foreign diplomats being present. Minister of Justice Junian presented a bill to parliament annulling Carol's own renunciation to the throne, which was immediately voted on and passed, thereby restoring to Carol the title of crown prince and, as the office of king was vacant, Carol automatically became king.

Here the session was interrupted to enable King Carol to be brought to parliament from the palace. Throughout the journey from Cotroceni palace to parliament, King Carol was the object of tremendous enthusiasm, particularly on the part of the younger members of the crowd. He was accompanied by his brother and former regent, Prince Nicholas. The king wore the uniform of a general of the flying corps, and was greatly moved by his reception, weeping as he rode by.

On his entry into parliament, the national assembly rose and cheered him for more than ten minutes. The archbishop of Bucharest administered the oath.

Carol Takes Oath.

Placing his right hand on the Bible, in accordance with the formula of the Orthodox church, King Carol took the oath to the constitution. He endeavored to speak but, before he could make himself heard, the cheering broke out again and lasted 15 minutes. When at last the assembly was ready to hear him King Carol addressed the members.

He declared he cherished no thoughts of revenge against those persons, who had succeeded in driving him from Rumania and separating him from his people for four and one-half years.

"For those, who intrigued against me there awaits not the death penalty or any other," he said. "If my own wish is fulfilled, they will reoccupy their former positions or continue in those they still hold."

Embraces His Brother.

"Now," King Carol added, the tears streaming down his cheeks, "is the last wish of my dear father fulfilled."

Then he turned to his brother Prince Nicholas, whom he thanked for his devotion, and, while the deputies and senators cheered, embraced him.

Immediately parliament went into an uproar again, the deputies, senators, and spectators shouting "Long live King Carol."

The president of parliament, Cico Pop, hurried toward King Carol and was the first to congratulate him. The king then left parliament and drove to the royal palace, and a half hour later a royal manifesto was published

Late tonight Premier Mironescu, as well as the entire cabinet, resigned. Prof. Jorga and former Premier Julius Maniu were called in for a conference with King Carol, and it is understood that Maniu was entrusted to form a new cabinet. The Rumanian minister to London was recalled. The Rumanian minister to Paris, Diamandi, also resigned.

At a late hour tonight tens of thousands of people were still parading the streets, cheering the new king.

Exiled Rumanian Comrade Bares Story of Flight Which Won Carol His Crown

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BELLEME, France, June 8.—The complete story of how Prince Carol's sudden return to Bucharest was carefully prepared and then precipitated by unexpected discord in the royal family was told here by Capt. Paul Dimitresco, who returned tonight from Munich where he alone accompanied Carol last Tuesday.

Gathered at the Chateau, which is the property of Mme. Magda Lupescu, the prince's abandoned mistress, was a group of young Rumanians who, led by Capt. Dimitresco, for years devoted themselves to the cause of the exiled and dispossesed heir to their country's throne. Most of them, exiles themselves, were celebrating their victory tonight and, when the news of parliament's vote giving the crown to their prince was received by telephone, they stood with bared heads and drank to the health of "King Charles."

Magda Urged Him to Go.

Reviewing the facts which led up to the adventure, Capt. Dimitresco said that long negotiations had been carried on through political and military circles in Bucharest in Prince Carol's behalf ever since the death of the prince's arch enemy and Rumania's strongest politician, Jean Bratianu. In recent months these negotiations gave reason for the strongest hopes, and nearly all difficulties were believed to have been overcome. Obstacles in the way were lightened by the fact that Mme. Lupescu voluntarily made a personal sacrifice, urging Prince Carol to follow his conscience. But the date for his return had not been set.

At this juncture, it was learned there had occurred in Bucharest an incident between Prince Nicholas, a member of regency, and the queen mother, Marie.

Prince Nicholas had quarreled with his mother, it is said, with regard to the personality and political influence of Prince Barbu Stirbey and had threatened his resignation from the regency to take place last Tuesday. The queen had declared to Prince Nicholas, that he must refer the question to Prince Wilhelm of Hohenzollern, head of the Rumanian branch of the family, and announced her departure for Bavaria to consult him.

Prince Carol at his Normandy chateau received a message requesting him to come to Sigmaringen, Bavaria, to attend this family council, which was to be presided over by Prince Wilhelm, son of the former King Ferdinand's brother, and Prince Carol's own cousin.

Prince Carol had replied to his mother agreeing to attend this meeting, when a colonel in the Rumanian army, whose name is now withheld, arrived at Belleme with important information.

This colonel, representing the most influential interests of the country, made a complete exposé of the internal political situation, which fully convinced Prince Carol that the conditions he fixed for his return had been fulfilled. An important revelation was made that the Liberal party, particularly its younger members, would not oppose Prince Carol's recovery of the crown.

Son of Old Foe Relents.

A dramatic feature in this connection was that it was due mainly to the efforts of George Bratianu, son of former Premier Bratianu, that the Liberal opposition had been undermined. George Bratianu, 36, professor of sociology at the University of Bucharest, had become a leader of the Liberal party in Moravia. Since his father's death he became convinced that injustice had been done to Prince Carol by his family and he determined to use his influence so that this injustice might be righted, according to Dimitresco's declaration.

This was the situation when, at the moment Prince Carol was preparing to go to Bavaria for the family conclave he received an urgent message from his brother Prince Nicholas, sent after Queen Marie's departure from Bucharest, declaring in effect that "now's the moment."

Prince Nicholas' message informed Prince Carol that everything was in readiness for his return, and he had only to appear and the army, people and parliament would welcome him to the throne.

"This message was the deciding factor," said Capt. Dimitresco. "Arrangements were quickly and secretly made. I accompanied the prince alone, and we went to Care De Lest Tuesday night and bought pullman tickets for Munich. We arranged with the French aviator, Lalouette, to meet Prince Carol at Munich.

None Aboard Planes.

"There were no passengers in the airplanes when they left Le Bourget. I saw Prince Carol in the plane and witnessed his departure from Munich, returning here immediately. It had been arranged that a Rumanian army plane would meet him at the frontier to convey him to the capital."

Dimitresco tonight denied statements there had been a secret meeting of reconciliation between Prince Carol and Princess Helene.

Prince Carol did not notify Queen Marie of his sudden decision, and his action proves his sympathy with his brother Nicholas in the family quarrel. Dimitresco was an officer in the Rumanian aviation corps, but is an exile. For the last two years he has been acting in the capacity of private secretary to Prince Carol.

U. S. TO LIGHT MORE AIRWAYS IN COMING YEAR

Washington, D. C., June 8.—[Special.]—Plans for lighting 3,000 more miles of airways in the fiscal year beginning July 1 were announced today by Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics. With the completion of this program there will be a total of 17,500 miles of federally lighted airways.

The construction program will include 20 additional airways radio stations broadcasting weather information to pilots in flight on an hourly basis, bringing the number of such stations up to 65. The system of collecting current weather information along the airways by use of automatic telegraph typewriters will be extended to 8,500 miles and the radio beacon service to the point where 50 per cent of the lighted airways will be equipped.

BOARD OF TRADE WILL TAKE OVER NEW HOME TODAY

History will repeat itself this morning in La Salle street. The forty-four story structure towering at the foot of the street, the new home of the Chicago Board of Trade and twelfth in the list of buildings that have housed that organization, will be taken over by the membership.

President Hoover at Washington will press an electric button that will sound a gong announcing the opening of the new mart. At Liverpool, England, a group of grain brokers will gather to hear their president, Alexander Slater Jr., telephoning to the trading floor of the Chicago market.

Tonight a banquet celebrating the occasion will be held at the Stevens hotel. Reservations have been made for 2,450 members and their guests.

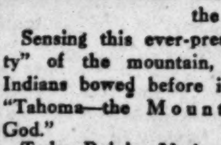
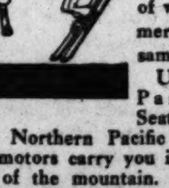
RAINIER NATIONAL PARK, "THE MOUNTAIN THAT WAS GOD"

"Lo, it is the spell of the mountain!" Visitors to Rainier National Park, Washington, talk about it. They define it as that intangible "something else"—a constant feeling of the mountain's presence in daylight or darkness—which adds its fascination to the scenic delights, the exhilarating sports and restfulness of the region.



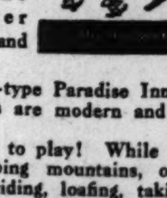
Sensing this ever-present "personality" of the mountain, the aboriginal Indians bowed before it and called it "Tahoma—the Mountain that was God."

Today Rainier National Park attracts visitors, from every state and from foreign lands, who come to enjoy the rare experience of winter and summer sports at the same time.



Up the road to Paradise from Seattle or Tacoma, on a Northern Pacific Railway tour, park motors carry you into the strange spell of the mountain. Then you begin to understand the secret of its compelling charm.

Almost three miles high towers the massive white dome, once the largest volcano in America. Among the snows, volcanic red and purple streaks appear Meadows and forests of rich green rival in depth of hue the whiteness of the snow and the blueness of the sky. Patriotic flower fields of red, white and blue seem to label it a great national playground and the forests shelter deer, bear, elk and mountain sheep.



Rustic, chalet-type Paradise Inn and the other hotels are modern and hospitable.

What a place to play! While some folks are climbing mountains, others are horseback riding, loafing, taking a refreshing dip in a mountain pool, fishing, skiing, fighting snowball battles or catapulting down snowy slopes in paraffined pants. And, over all, lies the spell of the mountain.

For only $90.30 round trip you can travel from Chicago to Rainier's mountain-forest playground via the Northern Pacific—the route of 28 mountain ranges!

If planning a trip please ask us to tell you more about a Rainier tour. We'll gladly arrange all details. Call personally at our conveniently located office, telephone or write.

CAGO TRIBUNE

ARBARY FIGHTS UTSIDE INVASION OF BEER RACKET

ane County Found to Be Wide Open.

Under orders of State's Attorney rge D. Carbary of Kane county, uty sheriffs last night watched all ds leading from Chicago into the River valley district. The state's orney said he had been informed t Melrose Park gangsters planned attempt to take over the beer and ohol business in his county and that number of beer trucks would be dis- ched to roadhouses and saloons in d about Aurora, Batavia, Geneva, Charles, Elgin, and Dundee.

"We are not going to stand for icago gangsters breaking into Kane unty," said State's Attorney Car- ry. "I have positive information t the Melrose Park gangs intend start delivering their beer and al- ol here. We are going to keep m out."

Complaints from Inn Keepers.

A number of roadhouse keepers re said to have complained that y had been visited by Italians who led out barrels of beer which were the barrooms and stated that re- cements would be delivered at $55 barrel. The proprietors were also rned that they must henceforth rchase their alcohol for $8 a gallon m Chicago dealers, according to the ries.

A tour of inspection of Kane county a TRIBUNE reporter revealed many oons operating openly in the cities d roadhouses selling beer and alco- to all comers. Old fashioned bars d smiling, white aproned barten- s greeted the visitor. Beer was ing at 25 cents a stein and colored ohol at 25 cents a drink.

"It is no wonder that the Chicago ys are looking at Kane county with vious eyes," said one local official. Things tightened up a bit when te's Attorney Carbary went into of- a year and a half ago and staged number of raids. We all heard t Kane county was going to be e dry. Then, the killing of Mrs. lian De King in a dry raid in rora caused a reaction. Now the r and alcohol business is getting be mighty profitable."

See Answer in Conditions.

In supporting Gustave C. Malcor Aurora, a dry candidate for sher- in last April's primary, State's At ney Carbary made many speeches which he threatened to curtail his hibition enforcement program if candidate was not nominated. en Chief of Police Harry A. Craw- d of St. Charles won the Repub- n nomination over Malcor by a of more than 2 to 1, the prose- or was asked if he would carry his threats. He refused to an- r. Wet leaders declare that pres- conditions are answer enough.

No guide was needed to discover the e county bars. It was found that rear entrances of almost all the dhouse's visited led to barrooms re a number of men would be ding at the bar, quaffing from ming steins. Now and then, a dhouse had no bar and apparently no illegal beverages for sale. These were the exception.

Posing as a thirsty tourist, the stranger had no trouble in buying all the beer he wished. Requests for a stronger potation were treated with hesitation although a little argument usually prevailed. The colored alcohol, which was the universal strong drink, was poured from a pitcher.

All Kinds of Customers.

The customers were usually orderly and ranged from farmers in blue overalls to well dressed, prosperous looking men. In one saloon, when two young men became argumentative, the proprietor produced a set of boxing gloves from behind the bar and suggested that they settle their differences in a scientific manner. Although the invitation was not accepted, the bartender said that arguments were often decided in this manner.

At another place, a horse shoe tournament was being conducted. Losers paid for the drinks and interested onlookers made wagers on the outcome.

On one hot evening, noting an unusual number of automobiles turning off the main highway into a quiet lane, the reporter's automobile followed. The road emerged into a grove at one end of which stood a small structure. Perhaps forty automobiles were parked in a circle around this building and pitchers of beer were being served to the occupants of the cars. The pitchers contained a foaming mixture which was described as home brew. Fifty cents a pitcher was the price.

Many Saloons Visited.

Driving north from Aurora and passing through Batavia, Geneva, the county seat, St. Charles, Elgin and Dundee, with an inhabitant familiar with the county, a total of fifteen saloons were pointed out in the cities, and more than twenty roadhouses inspected along the way. One of the roadhouses, apparently a popular resort, was about a mile and a half from the home of State's Attorney Carbary on the outskirts of Elgin.

KILLS OWN WIFE IN RUMPUS OVER SEARCH FOR RUM

Others Wounded as Song Fete Breaks Up.

Eupora, Miss., June 8.—[Special.]—A justice of the peace shot and killed his wife today in the excitement of a battle which resulted from an attempt to search an automobile for liquor at a community singing fête at Fame, 12 miles from here. One of two youths in the car was probably fatally wounded as he lay on the ground, and several other persons suffered gunshot wounds or other injuries.

Lee Ferguson, the magistrate, aided by two deputies, started to search a car in which were Tom Elkins, 19, and Watts Bowen, when he thought the two youths were drinking. Elkins demanded a search warrant. A dispute drew a throng from the 1,000 persons in the churchyard where the fête was being held. Bowen was led from the car but Elkins was either pushed or fell to the ground. Then shooting started and Elkins was shot in the back as he lay on the ground.

In the confusion Mrs. Ferguson started to run toward her husband. He fired and she died within a few minutes. She was 45 years old. Elkins was shot through the lung and is not expected to live.

Sam J. Sewall, 56, a bystander, was shot through the knees. Mrs. Floyd Cooper, 23, was shot in the leg, and T. D. Castle, 19, over the left eye. Arthur Morris was struck over the head with a gun butt and others suffered bruises.

A charge of manslaughter was placed against Ferguson.

Simmons (N.C.) Pays Penalty for Bolt with 60,000 Defeat

Charlotte, N. C., June 8.—(AP)—Senator Furnifold M. Simmons went down to defeat yesterday at the hands of the Democratic party of North Carolina which he had led for more than a quarter of a century.

The veteran North Carolina legislator, oldest member of the senate in point of service, ran more than 60,000 votes behind Josiah W. Bailey, Raleigh attorney, in the Democratic primary, fought largely around Simmons' failure to support Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 presidential election.

The vote in 1,513 of the state's 1,799 precincts gave Bailey 178,896; Simmons, 117,969; Thomas L. Ester, a wet candidate, 889.

Washington Is Startled.

Washington, D. C., June 8.—[Special.]—The decisive defeat of Senator Furnifold M. Simmons [Dem., N. C.] for renomination in the North Carolina primary yesterday startled leaders of both parties today and loosed a flood of speculation.

Among regular Democrats it was interpreted as a repudiation by their party of Simmons' bolt of Al Smith in the presidential election of 1928 and of the movement fostered by Bishop James Cannon Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, for the ousting of John J. Raskob from the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee.

The regular Democratic leaders have confidence that the party is reunited and that there is no danger of North Carolina and other southern states going Republican in the future. They see the result in North Carolina as identical with that in Virginia last year when the Democrats returned to the fold in such numbers that the coalition ticket of Republicans and anti-Smith Democrats was snowed under.

Expect Defeat of Heflin.

The defeat of Simmons is also heralded by the Democratic regulars as a forecast of the fate of Senator J. Thomas Heflin [Dem., Ala.], another southern senator who bolted Smith and who is seeking reëlection this year. Heflin has been barred by his party from the Democratic primary in Alabama and intends to run as an independent.

Bishop Cannon was asked tonight for his opinion of the defeat of Simmons, but replied that he had no comment to make.

CAR PLAN SEEN AS PUBLIC BOON BY GEN. FOREMAN

Cites Unified Lines and Transfer Rights.

BY GEN. MILTON J. FOREMAN.

In addition to his notable military career, the general is a former alderman and chairman of the local transportation committee.

Chicago has won the greatest victory in its transportation history; and the voters will solve on July 1, every one of the major questions which have been vexatious issues for 30 years.

I consider unification of all of our local transportation systems one of the most important provisions of the ordinance. No one can estimate the time, convenience, and money that the people of Chicago will gain by this one action. It means that elevated lines, surface lines, subways and buses will all be united under one management.

Cites Universal Transfers.

Next we have universal transfers. It means that a worker leaving his place of employment in the evening can get on the elevated or rapid transit lines, ride to a transfer point with a saving of from ten to thirty minutes in time, then transfer to a surface line or a bus and ride to his front door without any additional cost. Thirty years ago when I was a member of the city council we had seven or eight separate transportation systems in the city. When you transferred from one system to the other you paid another fare.

A few of the critics of this ordinance want to know how we are going to terminate this grant. Chicago citizens do not want to terminate it. The thing they want is an ordinance that will make it possible for the companies to give service.

As a practical matter, every grant is perpetual. How long would the people stand for stopping operations if the grant were to be suddenly terminated? Not for one hour would they permit our transportation system to cease operations.

Cites Effect of Defeat.

What is the situation if this ordinance is not adopted? The companies will keep operating without any obligations, without any duties. There will be no chance to build any extensions because the companies will have no money with which to do it.

What are we after—an academic discussion of this question filled with surmises, conjectures and suspicions, or do we want service and development of the city?

Public service companies have learned that they must give the best service possible in order for them to make money. The companies are at a point now where they must build extensions if they want to develop their business.

Take the surface lines. Their franchises expired three years ago, but the tracks are there and the cars are running, and they will run just as long as that is the form of transportation the people need to get to and from work. As for the elevated, it is incorporated under the railroad act.

I wonder who dreamed 20 years ago that employés of a public utility would work under the system that provided a pension for them in their old age or in case of disability. That is provided for in this present ordinance. It is another insurance policy for good service.

Will Make Business Boom.

The unemployment situation in Chicago is bad. Present times are very hard on the small merchant, on the working man, and there is stagnation in the real estate market. Adoption of this ordinance, which will require the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars, will be like the infusion of fresh blood in the city of Chicago. It will give it new life.

Some of the critics talk about overvaluation. What do they know about valuations? In 1907 the city council fixed a fair and equitable valuation of the transportation properties of the city. Everything that has been added since that time has been done with the approval of the board of supervising engineers.

Some of the opponents say that it will be a long time before we start building subways, that much preliminary work will have to be done. This is foolish, because the city has been getting and considering plans since 1900. Construction of a subway could begin very shortly after the adoption of this ordinance.

It's about time that Chicago showed the world it is capable of solving its internal problems, the most prominent of which, in the eyes of the world, is traction. When this is done, people of Chicago will have added reason to have great pride in their city as the wonder city of the world.

This ordinance, if vigorously and effectively carried out, will make Chicago a coherent, cohesive city instead of a collection of contiguous communities.

Professor Mott Attacks Indefinite Term in Proposed Franchise; Raps Valuations

BY PROF. RODNEY L. MOTT.

Of the department of political science of the University of Chicago, who gives his views against the car ordinance in the subjoined article.

A proposal to give the use of the streets to a traction company is always an important matter, but the wording of the franchise now before the public makes it especially necessary that there be the fullest discussion of its terms. Heretofore, public utility franchises have been generally limited to a definite term of years. At the end of this time the voters could take stock of the service they were receiving and could bargain for its improvement.

The proposed ordinance, however, is an indeterminate one, and attempts to prescribe the rights of both the company and the city for an indefinite period. Indeed, the privileges it confers can only be revoked if the city wishes to purchase the property of the company, or can find another corporation with enough ready capital to buy the old one out.

The possibility of purchase by the city is extremely remote. The constitution limits the bonded debt of Chicago to five per cent of the assessed valuation. Before the city could legally issue enough bonds to purchase the property we would need to raise the tax assessment to three times its present figure.

"Is Permanent Bargain."

The new company will have a capital investment of about $460,000,000. This is a staggering sum, and the prospect of finding a second company able to provide it, should the first company give us unsatisfactory service, is very slight. As a practical matter, therefore, we are making a permanent bargain.

Under the proposed ordinance the company agrees to spend some $200,000,000 on extensions and improvements. These extensions are badly needed.

It is possible, however, for a number of contingencies to prevent the fulfillment of this promise of new service. [1] The company must be able to float enough bonds to secure the large amount of capital necessary. [2] The owners of a majority of the properties on any street can prevent the building of a line past their property by refusing to give "frontage consent." [3] Those "extensions which depend for effective operation on the use of city owned subway structures" need not be completed until the subways are ready for operation.

Transfers Are Discussed.

The second benefit the ordinance will provide is a system of transfers between the surface and the elevated lines.

In return for these advantages the city has made very liberal concessions. The value of the property of the new company is fixed at $260,552,063.82, apart from any extensions or improvements which may be made after the ordinance goes into effect. This amount is not only the sum which the city must pay if it decides to buy the lines, but it is likewise the value which the courts must use as a basis for fixing the fares charged.

In a recent case the United States Supreme court declared that eight per cent is not an unreasonable rate of return for traction companies. Eight per cent of the value fixed in the proposed ordinance is $20,835,365. The combined earnings of the surface and elevated lines in 1929 were only $17,952,493. It is therefore evident that unless traffic is rapidly increased the rate of fare must be raised.

The new transfer privileges will probably cost the company nearly $1,500,000 a year in revenue, and it is doubtful if the increased traffic will bring in enough revenue to more than cover this loss. It is difficult to see how a change in rates can be avoided.

Attacks Valuation Figure.

If the value fixed in the ordinance were undisputably a fair one, this raise in rates would probably be justified. In 1924 a careful valuation was made of the surface lines by the foremost expert in the United States, Milo R. Maltbie, and the cost of reproducing them new, less depreciation, was fixed at $130,237,672. This does not include the elevated system, and unfortunately we have no such reliable valuation of their properties. Such a valuation would certainly seem to be demanded before the people should be asked to accept the fantastic figure of $95,000,000 which the city council approved.

Such is the agreement the voters will be asked to consider July 1. It is not a matter to be passed over lightly. We may never be able to revoke our decision.

JAIL BONDSMAN AND MAKE HIM PAY $40 FOR BOND

Louis Ascher, 57 years old, known as a professional bondsman in Chicago courts for twenty years, spent twelve hours in a cell yesterday and had to pay another professional bondsman the regular ten per cent fee, amounting to $40, to get out. Ascher made the mistake of telling Sergt. Thomas Alcock: "You can't put me in jail."

Ascher, who lives at 5009 Sheridan road, and is reputed to be worth a million, was in the South State street court Saturday when the case of Margaret Hamilton, known as gangland's "jinx girl," was called. The girl did not appear and the $6,000 bond provided by Ascher was ordered forfeited.

"Well, another one of your clients has disappeared," Sergt. Alcock told Ascher who at one time was blacklisted because more than fifty bonds he had furnished criminals had been forfeited. The bondsman became abusive and a few moments later, he was in a cell, charged with disorderly conduct.

Ascher finally induced another bondsman, Danny Goodman, to put up a $400 real estate bond.

Body in River Gives Gotham Police Mystery

New York, June 8.—[Special.]—Finding of the body of a man in the Passaic river Saturday has launched the police of this town on an investigating of what they believe to be a murder mystery. The body was that of a man about 50 years old, and there were signs of violence upon it.

Parachute Jumper Killed When Foot Tangles Ropes

Kingston, N. Y., June 8.—(AP)—Eric Lindgren, 27, of New York City, a professional parachute jumper, was killed today when his foot tangled in the ropes of his parachute as he leaped from 1,500 feet.

Hudson, N. Y., June 8.—(AP)—A parachute jumper fell to his death here today from 2,500 feet, his rip cord not pulled. He was Frank Levinsky, 22, of Chicago, who substituted for another man.

Chicago Girl Found Dead in Hotel at Milwaukee

Miss Ursula Leng, 19 years old, 3233 Fullerton avenue, was found dead in a Milwaukee hotel yesterday. Detectives found evidence that she had taken poison. A note asked that her sister, Mrs. Carl Pollner, be notified at the Fullerton avenue address. Miss Leng had been employed as a maid in the home of Nathan Karasik, 704 Independence boulevard. A man with whom she registered at the hotel as Mr. and Mrs. D. Andrew, 209 Clay street, Muskegon, Mich., is missing.

GANDHI'S REVOLT FLARES IN RURAL AREAS OF INDIA

Farmers Defy British Tax on Grazing.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, June 8.—India's unrest is now taking forms entirely new to Mahatma Gandhi's original civil disobedience program with its attendant violation of salt laws and general economic boycott of British-made goods. The passive resistance, inaugurated by students, has spread among workers and farmers throughout the peninsula.

The next move in the "revolt" involves the government's forest preserves at Poona, where natives plan to break the grazing tax by sending their stock into the forests to feed.

Professor Sent to Prison.

A striking demonstration has aroused Cawnpore, where Achara Kripiani, a university professor, was sentenced to a year's rigorous imprisonment on a sedition charge yesterday. Before sentence was passed Prof. Kripiani addressed the court, saying:

"It has not been my privilege to excite sedition, disaffection and hatred. That work is being done more effectively by bleeding India white and by ruthless repression and terrorism."

The Bengal-Nagpur railway union, comprising 50,000 employes, has cabled Wedgwood Benn, secretary of state for Indian in London, demanding the immediate right of self determination.

The bodies of two police inspectors, killed at Mindapore, in Bengal, have not yet been found. Casualties from police fire on rioters there now total 28. Many Bengal lawyers have discontinued practice of law as a protest against the shooting. The government has appointed press officers at Calcutta and other cities to pass upon newspaper stories before publication.

The social boycott of native Indian government employés of all classes is steadily growing, hampering their purchase of necessities.

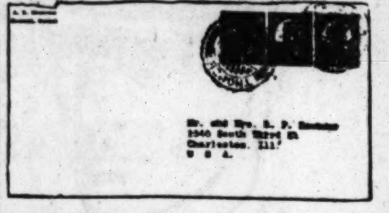
Several Hurt in Clash.

KARACHI, India, June 8.—(AP)—Several persons were injured in a clash last night between plain clothes detectives and civil disobedience volunteers in front of the home of the deputy superintendent of police, Rao Bahadur Daraindas Wadhumal. The crowd was finally dispersed at midnight.

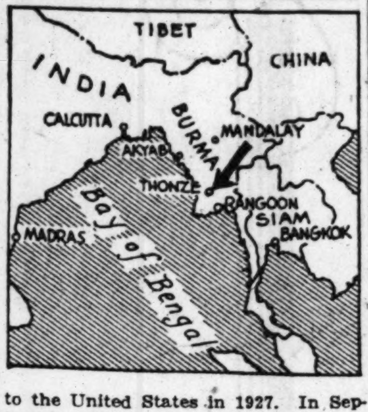
INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.

FROM THONZE, BURMA



Letter received by Mrs. B. P. Huebner, Charleston, Ill.



Concerning the sender of this letter and the town from which it came, Mrs. Huebner writes:

"Thonze, Burma, whence this letter came, is almost due west from Pegu, the center of the recent earthquake disaster. It is one of the richest sections of Burma, and the territory is one of the most active strongholds of Buddhism.

"The writer of this letter, Sidney V. Hollingsworth, calls himself a printer-missionary, because printing was his trade, not only before but after going to Burma as a missionary of the Northern Baptist convention. For seven years after his first sailing in 1920 he was connected with the Rangoon Press, which prints all types of Christian literature, including Bibles, hymn books, Sunday school lessons, religious periodicals, and school books in Burmese, Karen, Kachin, Shan, and numerous other dialects.

"A serious health condition threatened Mr. Hollingsworth's life for many months and brought him back to the United States in 1927. In September, 1929, he was able to sail again for Burma, this time to Thonze, where he and Mrs. Hollingsworth have supervision of the American Baptist Mission schools in a territory having a population of 350,000.

"The envelope enclosed carried a letter which told of Christmas festivities in this mission field. Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth attended, in addition to the Thonze programs, concerts and Christmas parties in four outlying stations, and assisted in distributing 680 gifts to children (many of the gifts being only a crayon or two, or a few sheets of colored paper), 1,150 copies of the gospel of St. John in Burmese, and many tracts in the vernacular. Over 1,700 people heard the story of Christmas during the eight meetings, some of them for the first time."

Public Pays 23 Millions in 5 Months for Fake Stocks

New York, June 8.—[Special.]—The public paid approximately $23,000,000 to bucket shop operators and sellers of fraudulent securities during the first five months of the present year, according to a report submitted by Assistant Attorney General Washburn, in charge of state bureau of securities, to Attorney General Ward. Of this amount $1,432,500 was recovered through court action.

MOUNTED POLICE CURB RELIGIOUS RIOT IN MALTA

British Premier's Backers Rage at Archbishop.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

VALETTA, Malta, June 8.—The church and state controversy in Malta flared up into a menacing street demonstration today. Only prompt action of the police prevented an anti-clerical crowd from storming St. John's cathedral, where Archbishop Caruana of Malta was celebrating Whitsunday high mass.

Mounted and foot police formed a phalanx around the archbishop's state carriage when he left the cathedral, while at the corner of the palace square a hostile crowd waved red handkerchiefs as the prelate's carriage clattered past. The excitement lasted most of the morning, but several arrests were made and the police now have the situation well in hand.

His Words Start Riot.

After his recent speeches attacking Prime Minister Strickland, it was expected Archbishop Caruana would again denounce him at today's service. The church was packed and in the street thousands were assembled. The archbishop limited himself to stating that, in Catholic countries, civil authorities, judges, ministers, and police obey the bishops and that in every struggle between church and state the church always prove to be right.

As soon as news of this declaration spread, there was a hostile demonstration outside the church. Despite a big force of police, reinforcements were called and the police drove the demonstrators from the cathedral toward Valetta's main street. Here, the crowd broke and rushed in the direction of the cathedral.

Yell Insults at Bishop.

The police managed to regain control. The commissioner then gave orders not only to clear the square fronting the church, but the whole of the street through which the archbishop had to pass. Mounted police helped to disperse the crowds.

As soon as the archbishop's carriage appeared, surrounded by a police escort, pro-church enthusiasts broke through the police cordon and demonstrated in favor of the archbishop, while his carriage made its way slowly down the street. Hostile demonstrators rushed from side streets, however, and although the police commissioner ordered the archbishop's coachman to drive faster, he could not escape the unfriendly crowds before reaching the shelter of his palace.

DIES OF INJURIES IN BRAWL.

Injuries suffered last Tuesday night in a brawl resulted in the death yesterday of Stanley Mroz, 43 years old, 1415 Augusta street, in the Jefferson Park hospital. The police are seeking his alleged assailants, Tony Mazurkowics, 2620 Iowa street, and Joseph Sokolowski, 2336 Augusta street.

MYSTERY S. O. S. HAS WATCHERS GUESSING; CAN'T "RAISE" VESSEL

New York, June 8.—[Special.]—A mystery S. O. S. halted radio broadcasting tonight at 10:23 daylight saving time, and although traffic was ordered resumed at 10:50 the source of the appeal was still in doubt. It was the second time in as many nights that an unexplained S. O. S. had flashed.

Naval communications reported it had been advised by a coast guard vessel of intercepting a message from the steamer Alleghany in which the latter requested another station to keep its radio beacon going as the Alleghany was in trouble. The message gave no details and neither naval communications nor the Radi-Marine Corporation of America was able to raise the Alleghany.

The Alleghany is a craft of 5,480 tons owned by the Merchants and Miners Transportation company of Baltimore. Her last reported sailing was from Baltimore on June 3 for Boston.

REPORT CHICAGO TONGS WILL DEFY N. Y. PEACE PACT

Lieut. John Norton of the detective bureau last night assigned details to patrol Chinatown, following receipt of information that the peace pact signed in New York yesterday by leaders of the Hip Sing and On Leong tongs not only would not be observed here, but that orders had been issued to renew the warfare both in Chicago and Pittsburgh.

Three Chinese are being sought in connection with the latest killing, that of Chang Gong Gank, who was shot down near his home at 5726 Madison street, on Friday night. Those sought are Henry Luke, alias Hen Young Look of 2306 South State street, assistant secretary of the Chicago Hip Sings; George Kum, alias Joseph Fook, 2442 Montrose avenue, and Tom Wung, alias Tom Wing, a waiter. Both Kum and Wung are Hip Sings.

Since the tongs started shooting a total of seven lives have been lost in Chicago, Everett, Mass., Newark, N. J., and New York. The treaty yesterday was signed by national leaders of both factions in the presence of Dr. Samuel S. Young, Chinese consul general.

POLL OF SENATE SHOWS 8 WETS, 21 FOR DRY LAW

13 Others Refuse to Take Stand on Issue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—[Special.]—Eight United States senators were recorded as favoring and twenty-one as opposing repeal of the 18th amendment in the report of a wet and dry canvass of the senate made public today by the Washington branch of the Woman's Organization for Prohibition Reform.

Thirteen senators, personally interviewed, according to the report, refused to answer the two questions asked them. The questions were: "Do you favor the 18th amendment and the Volstead act?" Or "Do you favor the repeal of the 18th amendment, turning back to the states the liquor problem with the provision that the saloon could not return as an institution?"

These Declined to Answer.

Those listed as refusing to answer were: Roscoe C. McCulloch [Rep., O.], William H. McMaster [Rep., S. D.], Daniel O. Hastings [Rep., Del.], Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.], Lynn J. Frazier [Rep., N. D.], Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], Lee S. Overman [Dem., N. C.], W. B. Pine [Rep., Okla.], Samuel M. Shortridge [Rep., Cal.], Frederick H. Gillett [Rep., Mass.], Bronson Cutting [Rep., N. M.], and Hamilton F. Kean [Rep., N. J.].

"It is a sad commentary on representative government that although we have had national prohibition for ten years, during which time there has been ample opportunity to study its workings, that many senators either had no opinion on the subject or refused to state their position," the report stated. "For them to have no views on such an important matter or to refuse to express their views is tantamount to a breakdown of representative government."

They Favor Repeal.

Senators listed as favoring repeal of the 18th amendment were: David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.], Arthur R. Gould [Rep., Me.], Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], Lawrence C. Phipps [Rep., Col.], Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.], Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.], Edwin S. Broussard [Dem., La.], and Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.].

Those who "favored national prohibition substantially as at present" were: J. Thomas Heflin [Dem., Ala.], Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], William J. Harris [Dem., Ga.], Porter H. Dale [Rep., Vt.], John B. Kendrick [Dem., Wyo.], Hubert D. Stephens [Dem., Miss.], Henry J. Allen [Rep., Kas.], Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.], Morris Sheppard [Dem., Tex.], Arthur Capper [Rep., Kas.], Guy D. Goff [Rep., W. Va.], Robert B. Howell [Rep., Neb.], Arthur R. Robinson [Rep., Ind.], Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], John Robsion [Rep., Ky.], Furnifold M. Simmons [Dem. N. C.], Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], Thomas Connally [Dem., Tex.], William E. Brock [Dem., Tenn.], William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], Phillips L. Goldsborough [Rep., Md.].

Several senators were frank enough to admit confidentially that they would not give their position on this question because it might result in their defeat at the coming election. The report asserted that "all civic bodies should coöperate to determine the exact position of congressional candidates at the next election in order that representative government may be a reality and not a myth."

ASPHYXIATED AS KETTLE BOILS OVER.

Watching a kettle simmer yesterday, James Green, 60 years old, 1018 Sedgwick street, went to sleep. The brew boiled over, the gas flame was snuffed out, and Green was asphyxiated.

DIVORCES MADE IN MEXICO STILL LEGAL, SAYS JUDGE

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—(AP)—Justice Francisco Diaz Lombardo today set at rest the minds of many Mexicans and Americans who had obtained divorces in Cuernavaca, state of Morelos.

The third division of the supreme court last week threw a cloud over the Cuernavaca divorces by revoking one issued there on the ground that the Morelos law was invalid, but Justice Lombardo, who presides over that division, announced today the decision affected only the case in which granted.

He said the constitution forbids the automatic annulment of all cases by a decision on one.

Roadhouse Owner Beaten by Pair He Tries to Eject

Leo Doetsch, for 12 years a Niles Center roadhouse proprietor, catering particularly to Northwestern university students, was beaten unconscious early yesterday morning by two boisterous customers whom he had tried to eject from his place at Church street and Niles Center road. He was taken to the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where it was said he had a skull fracture.

Bank Robber Is Slain; Three Women in His Gang

Tuskahoma, Okla., June 8.—(AP)—One of two robbers who attempted to enter the Tuskahoma bank today was fatally wounded by sheriff's deputies. Three women waited for the robbers in a motor car near the bank and helped them escape. The wounded man died after the car had sped toward Wilburton, 20 miles away, where his body was left.

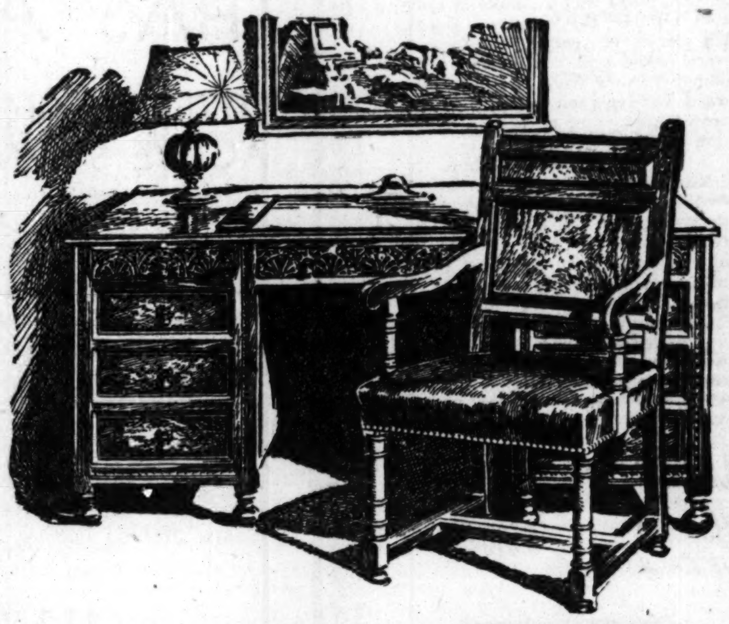
hard times? . . . our sales are 10% ahead

ALTHOUGH the past few months have been reported generally quiet, yet so eagerly sought is Danersk furniture that our sales are running 10% ahead of last year.

A sales gain so unique shows that the American people will not be hindered from making their homes and offices continually friendlier and more pleasant —it shows, too, a realization that Danersk furniture is an exceptionally sound and stable investment.

We have recently installed on our second floor the most complete collection of interesting and dignified designs in office furniture that we have ever created in oak, walnut and historic mahogany pieces of the 18th century.



In the Danersk collection you can find furniture which will advantageously express the personality of your business. Danersk furniture is the result of years of experience in adapting traditional forms to practical every day use. Because you are dealing direct with the maker, you may purchase these interesting pieces at no greater cost than furniture less thoughtfully produced. Write for our brochure, "The Livable Office."

TAXIS NO LUXURY IN GAY PARIS; RIDE FOR 8 CTS. A MILE

High London Rate Is Yet Cheaper than Chicago's.

Here and Abroad

A recent analysis, printed in The Tribune, showed Chicago's taxi fares are higher than those operative for a majority of cab companies in ten major American cities.

Louisville has the lowest rate of the group. There, one or four persons may ride two miles for 25 cents, while Chicagoans must pay 45 cents for one mile if they ride with either of the two leading companies. Boston and Philadelphia companies charge 40 cents for the first mile; Cleveland and Los Angeles, 35 cents; Baltimore, New York, and Detroit, 30 cents, and St. Louis, 20 cents.

In European cities the taxi rates are far cheaper than in America, as the following analysis by a Tribune correspondent shows:

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 8.—Paris, with its vast fleets of sleek up-to-the-minute taxis, still retains the cheapest taxi cab in Europe, despite the dismay of the drivers when the rates were recently increased by the municipality at the same time street car and subway fares were augmented.

On the other hand London, which still adheres to an almost medieval type of cab, retains its reputation as the most expensive European capital for taxi rates.

Londoners Pay 12 Cents.

Parisians, who have never considered a taxi ride a luxury, are able to ride for an initial cost of eight cents and an additional charge at the rate of eight cents per mile. Londoners, who are likely to take a taxi as a luxury, owe the driver 12 cents as soon as the flag is lowered and have to pay an additional 18 cents per mile.

Only at night time does the Paris taxi become a luxury, for while the initial charge remains, the running price doubles, amounting to 16 cents per mile. Taxis in other European capitals charge the same night and day, although they also sometimes charge a supplement for extra passengers, while Parisian chauffeurs accept as many as can pile in at the same price.

In Rome the taxi meters start out at six cents, going up to a rate of 13 cents a mile, while a single passenger in Berlin pays ten cents to pull down the flag and 14 cents per mile. Berlin drivers, however, get revenge when more than one person takes a cab at the same time, for the old system of charging by the passenger is still retained. Thus while one passenger pays 14 cents per mile, two passengers pay 21 cents per mile and three or more are charged 30 cents per mile.

$2 and $3 Fares.

Passengers in Paris and Rome gain not only on the low rates but also by the comparatively short distances within the city limits. In these cities it is possible to go almost anywhere within the metropolitan districts for less than 50 cents, while in Berlin and London the fare often amounts to two or three dollars when a passenger travels from one side of town to the other.

Two Civil War Veterans Meet Again After 65 Years

Fairfield, Ill., June 8.—(AP)—Two veterans of the civil war, members of company H, 6th Illinois cavalry, who were mustered out of the service at Springfield, Ill., Nov. 5, 1865, today met for the first time since that date, when both attended an American Legion meeting here. They are J. T. Cunningham of Salem and Kirk Whitlock.

No chance for a compromise here! Fashion has issued her law and no smart woman will even attempt to evade it. For walking, for shopping, for country club and the car. For mornings and afternoons. A dozen times a week, Madame, you'll be faced with the actual necessity of wearing a spectator slipper. And particularly in white with dark brown Russia calf.

Spectator slippers are not new to I. Miller. Months and months ago—in Seville—in Bermuda—in Palm Beach—Havana and the Riviera, the cosmopolites of all the world of fashion were wearing I. Miller Spectator Slippers . . . wearing them and adoring them, Madame. Just as you shall wear them—and adore them here. And NOW!

FIND HIGHWAYS JAMMED 50 MILES FROM CHICAGO

Few Signs Seen of Promised Widening.

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago automobile owners drove out of the city into the country yesterday for the one day of the week that they can enjoy any of the state highway system for which they are paying taxes seven days a week. Those who motored less than fifty miles from the city were on the narrow radial highways jammed with cars running bumper to bumper trying to zig-zag around the occasional slow driver. With few exceptions there was no sign of the widening activity that Gov. Emmerson promised the metropolitan area for 1930.

At the intersections of important highways cars were blocked in some cases for miles. These are sites of proposed grade separations.

Many Corners Blockaded.

Lake street and North avenue offered an example of what was taking place in at least a dozen points around Chicago. For blocks from the intersection automobiles were brought to first or second gear with frequent braking to a stop, vexing tempers and heating motors to cover a mile that with a grade separation would offer no unpleasantness, hazard, or delay. The state highway department, from last reports, was still dickering for the right of way for the structure.

On Lake street just southeast of the intersection the four lane pavement ends, and it is on the narrow concrete that takes lives as well as time that the heavy traffic of this important old road was traveling. At Ontarioville, 13 miles from the Cook county line, cars congested at the dangerous Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad crossing. The state has made little progress in negotiating with the railroad for a grade separation here.

Another Dangerous Crossing.

On this same railroad, 11 miles northwest of Elgin, there is another dangerous crossing where the Lake street road climbs a hump to cross the rails on the bias. State route 72 comes into the Lake street road at this point.

The congestion on Lake street, also known as Ill. 5, U. S. 20, Grant highway and the Yellowstone trail, extended, as far as was inspected by THE TRIBUNE car, to Rockford, 88 miles from Chicago. The rolling country with grades and turns on the pavement made it particularly dangerous, both for the slow car and the fast, for one to cut around the other. A wrecker was pulling an overturned machine from the ditch five miles east of Elgin.

The state this month is to let a contract for widening Lake street from the Cook county line to Ontarioville. The governor's program calls for widening this year to Elgin, but the Cook county highway department has failed to procure small stretches of additional right of way required for taking some of the kinks out of the road.

Dr. Gilbert Wynekoop Will Face Court Today

Dr. Gilbert H. Wynekoop, 5059 Sheridan road, must appear today before Judge Schulman in South State street court and answer to disorderly conduct charges made by two girls. He was arrested Saturday night at his home by Detectives Roy Von Herbulis and William Murphy. Both girls complain that Dr. Wynekoop insulted them when they called at his office in answer to his advertisement for a housekeeper.

CARS COLLIDE; 1 DIES, 8 HURT.

Omaha, Neb., June 8.—(AP)—One person was killed, three were injured critically, and five others were injured less seriously in an automobile collision near Carson, Ia., this afternoon.

A WATERWAY, BUT WITHOUT WATER.

Attempts to bring about an agreement in committee on the flow of water to be permitted for the Illinois waterway have apparently failed and the question will be fought out on the floor of the senate.

Senator Deneen, speaking for the Mississippi valley, holds that the diversion should be determined by the war department. Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, speaking for the so-called lake states, wants the diversion limited to the maximum permitted under the recent Supreme court decree in the lake levels case.

The court's decree was concerned with the amount of water needed for sanitation. The lake states want that limitation to apply to navigation as well, though in the past they have maintained they were interested in excessive dilution of sewage. They are willing, they say, to let the federal government spend money in completing the channel, but they are not willing to let the channel become a useful artery of commerce, for they will not agree to permit a flow which government engineers find to be necessary.

They will not leave the determination to the war department, though the war department has every reason to deal at least as fairly with lake as with river shipping. In short, they are determined to prevent the Illinois waterway from becoming useful because they regard it as a possible rival and are jealous of it. Grain outward bound now is rushed from the harvest fields in lake vessels, but the lakes are closed to navigation in the winter months, during which wheat held by farmers for better prices might move down the Mississippi to New Orleans for export. It is to prevent that and similar diversions of traffic that the opposition to the Illinois waterway owes its existence and persistence.

The phenomenon is a familiar one in American history. The east is again attempting to thwart the development of the west. Eastern capital invested in an alliance of water power, steel, coal, and lake shipping companies is resolved to hold the interior of the country in subjection and make it pay tribute. The effort is shortsighted, for every time the shackles have been broken, with benefit to the interior, the east has also profited. The opposition to the Illinois waterway is only the last of a long series of similar efforts. It is unique only in its absurdity. The opposition is willing to let the federal government invest millions in a public improvement on condition that the improvement will be worthless.

EVERYTHING JAKE.

Intellectually curious medical men are interested in the recent prohibition phenomenon known as jake paralysis which seems to have had its origin and greatest prevalence in the dry south. It comes from drinking a fraud known as Jamaica ginger with a potent poisonous content regarding which the authorities do not agree. The consequences of taking it are made plain enough in many cases. The addict finds that he just cain't get his feet off the ground. The jake hitch will make a popular fox trot when tin pan alley gets a tune for it.

The popularity of the drink probably will grow in other sections of the country, but it appealed at once to the temperamental elan of the southern prohibitionist. It followed the well known formula of Gen. Forrest of gettin' there fustest with mostest men. The container held two drinks. They could be taken in two gulps and were effective instantly. The reveler's head went into the pink clouds. Later he found that his feet were stuck in the black bottom, but, shucks, there's just obliged to be a ketch in everything somewhere and if a dry gent's head is whirling around loose like and free, it doesn't matter where his feet are. Feet aren't much account anyhow except to go from where you are to where you aren't. One of nature's noblemen is probably better off where he is than where he would be. Wanting to go places is just damyank restlessness.

A soundly indoctrinated southern prohibitionist seeking to commit intoxication wants action without motion and the jake Jamaica was an improvement on moon with a tincture of lye and extract of buckeye.

It is also an improvement on the undependable poisons with which the government seeks to please the popular taste. The government changes its formula too often. A customer no sooner adjusts his palate to formaldehyde, creosote, and carbolic acid than he finds that the content has been changed to wood alcohol, turpentine, and arsenic. These changes not only introduce alien elements to the palate but they interfere with the building up of a resistance and the necessary immunity. The beverage may be a success, but the patron may turn up his toes.

Congress has been very liberal to the prohibition bureau in dealing with the poison problem. Senator Tydings of Maryland, supported consistently by Senator Glenn of Illinois, endeavors to limit the federal effort to nauseating compounds rather than deadly, but the majority in both houses reject these compromises as unworthy of the noble experiment. In spite of congressional aid the government has not been able to produce anything as popular with prohibition drinkers as the jake Jamaica or anything with results half so interesting to the medical profession. Presently the nation under Volstead will be all jake and there'll be nothing more to disturb anybody.

CONSCRIPTION WHEN, AS, AND IF.

Secretary Hurley of the war department is opposed to the enactment now of a law providing a general conscription of men and factories to follow automatically upon the declaration of war. Mr. Hurley has reversed the position taken by his recent predecessors in office, Mr. Davis and Mr. Good, who favored the proposed laws.

Mr. Hurley believes, as all students of American military history must believe, that in a large scale war the most effective and the fairest means of raising an army is by means of the draft. He proposes to have a draft act ready for congress should the emergency calling for its use arise. Meanwhile, the presence of such a law on the books, far from serving as an aid in keeping the peace, as its advocates say, might actually become an instrument to precipitate wars.

An administration which had lost popular support and was facing defeat might be tempted to use such a law to reëstablish itself. It is always possible to pick a quarrel and to find that the quarrel cannot be settled except by resort to arms. Once a war was declared, the nation would become an armed camp if the universal conscription law were to go into effect automatically. Political opposition would be sterilized and would remain sterilized until the war ended.

This is an aspect of the question which should appeal with great force to congressmen jealous of the rights under the constitution of the legislative branch. Congress, to be sure, has the right to declare war, but nothing is clearer than the ability of a President to make a declaration of war by congress certain through his control of the diplomatic machinery. He can force the hand of congress, as Mr. Wilson demonstrated in 1917.

Mr. Hurley probably realizes, too, that too much man power may actually be an impediment to an effective military effort. A grand conscription is warranted in a war against a major military power, but it would be absurd to mobilize millions of men for a war against a small nation. No one knows what kind of a war the next one will be, and it is therefore impossible to lay down principles today which will certainly prove applicable when the emergency arises.

The further proposal to mobilize all the nation's productive capacity the moment a war is declared has even less to be said for it. Conscription of factories can be accomplished only by placing army officers at the head of them, with the general staff in supreme command of the economic forces of the nation. The general staff at present has its hands more than full trying to direct and maintain an army in the field, and its accomplishments in the last war were not of a character to encourage the country to give further responsibilities to the staff. Army men are trained to fight and not to run factories. Conscription of factories is certain to interrupt the production of supplies for the armed forces.

Mr. Hurley has taken what many believe to be the unpopular position in the controversy. He deserves much credit for his straight thinking and his courage.

MONEY IN WISCONSIN POLITICS.

Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber has asked for trial of the charges made against him, alleging violation of the corrupt practices act. This is the same law under which Gov. Walter J. Kohler was tried and acquitted of corrupting the citizenry of Wisconsin by giving band concerts and serving cookies on the lawn. Wisconsin's master politician, "Fighting Bob" La Follette, never would have made the error of bringing to trial an action accusing a popular governor of corrupting the whole electorate. He would have made speeches about Mr. Kohler's wealth; he would have demanded that there be a legislative inquiry some day; he would have declared that certain people can be bought with cookies. But he would not have let the issue get to a jury. If a candidate is guilty of corruption, he must have corrupted some one. To charge that 224,000 voters were seduced by cookies and chocolate sundaes and music is not good politics, if one wants anything but laughter from the 224,000 voters.

The Wisconsin corrupt practices act is not practical. It is founded on the theory that money is prima facie evidence of guilt, wherever found. Under its provisions a candidate for governor may spend $3,900 in circularizing half of the voters of the state, but if he spends another $500 to circularize some more he is a criminal. He may rent halls in thirty counties for public meetings, but if he spends enough to visit sixty counties he is a lawbreaker, provided the additional rentals bring his expense above $4,000.

The Wisconsin legislature should set itself to the task of writing a corrupt practices act based on morals and common sense. The real point is not how much money was spent by a candidate but how it was spent.

THE LAW OF DREAMS.

[New York World.]

Out in Fond du Lac, Wis., it seems that one Richard W. Wilson, an athletic director employed at Hammond, Ind., was in an automobile accident. The next night he dreamed of the crash, leaped out of bed to escape what he thought was impending death, and jammed his hand through a window, cutting it. Thereupon he sued the two men who had been in the accident, alleging that they were responsible for the dream, and the court awarded him $1,000. This, to be sure, is a strange kind of law. Yet we are by no means sure that we are opposed to it, for it does open up some very attractive possibilities. For example, there is the redress for that very common misfortune, a bad dinner. As things stand now about all that can be done about this is to call the head waiter, mumble a faint hearted squawk, and take chill consolation from his volubly expressed regrets. But if this dream law becomes general there will be a very different story. Nothing is so productive of bad dreams as a bad dinner, and once we have imagined that we are pursued by a gigantic Long Island duck and lashed out at it with a wicked left hook, bruising our knuckles on the bedpost, our course is plain. We bring suit, alleging that the restaurant was responsible for the dream, collect $1,000, and then seek a place where the food is better. In fact, it seems to us that if a man put his mind on it he could make a pretty good living at this sort of thing, although eating so many bad dinners would probably impair his health.

USE OF SULFONAL.

C. M. writes: I am a practical nurse and work mostly in the country. My greatest trouble is that my patients will take all kinds of medicine along with that the doctors prescribe, calomel, laudanum, and sulfonal being the most common. The latter worries me most as they can get it without a prescription and they use it freely. They get it mostly in ten grain powders and I have found as high as four powder papers in twelve hours having been given by some member of the family in my absence from the room, and the patient sleeps for hours and hours. Other medicines to produce sleep are taken in much the same way.

Purgatives are even more popular. Some people take purgatives regularly each day. The people I am complaining about are those who see their tongues coated, or feel bilious, as they say, and take a dose of calomel or some other purgative. Another lot feel a little achy or stiff, whereupon they say they are full of malaria and take some quinine or a course of calomel and quinine. Others take a dose of aspirin when they feel a little out of sorts. Then there are those who take bitters for the stomach pretty regularly, or nerve tonics, or something or other.

REPLY.

You are right. The habit of taking medicine for all sorts of symptoms is very general. However, we are not as bad as our Latin American cousins. The shelves of drug stores in those countries are laden with old time remedies abandoned by the people of our country.

While we are making much headway, too much drugging is still a great curse with us. Ninety per cent of the symptoms for which these drugs are given would pass away of themselves if given a little time. Nature is a fine doctor. The best remedy for poor sleeping is mental and physical relaxation. Taking purgatives makes matters worse. Bitters and tonics are useless nine times out of ten. Malaria is a definite disease. What is called "a touch of malaria" is no disease at all and taking quinine for it is worse than useless.

DEPENDS ON BODY HEAT.

W. G. H. writes:

1. Do you suggest wearing light weight underwear the year round, or in summer only with a light weight union suit for winter?

2. Is chewing gum harmful, either to the teeth or gums, or the health in general?

REPLY.

1. If you are a good heat maker, wear light weight underwear in winter. If not, wear woolens in winter.

2. No.

DEPRESSION IN CHEST.

Mrs. E. L. H. writes: My 15 year old son has grown very rapidly the last two years and, through improper sitting posture, also probably through the strain of rapid growth, has developed a very flat chest and also a deep hollow about in the center of the chest. Will you please give advice and corrective exercises? He has an exerciser. If used, do you think it will do any good?

REPLY.

Your son is right in the midst of a rapid growing age. He will slow up within a year.

A deep hollow in the middle of his chest is not a direct effect of rapid growth. That is probably the result of a childhood rickets, or an attack of pleurisy, pericarditis, or a mediastinal infection of some sort, probably in childhood. No exercise will fill that depression.

He can improve the shape of his trunk considerably by exercises, provided he is persistent. Unless he is bullheaded there is not much use starting. Using an exerciser will help. Rowing, swimming, rope climbing, work on the bars, wrestling, and pitching hay are good.

IT IS NOT SERIOUS.

A. B. C. writes: Please advise if it is possible to have streptococci in the small intestines? What are the symptoms? How is this determined? How cured? Is it serious?

REPLY.

One of the streptococci and sometimes more than one variety, live habitually in the large intestine. Doubtless also, they are often found in the lower stretches of the small intestines. There should be no symptoms and no treatment is necessary. It is not serious.

RECOVERING WAGES.

Chicago, June 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please advise me what steps I may take to collect wages due me for labor? The sum is only $20. I cannot afford to employ an attorney, as I have been out of work all winter. I am a married man and have three children, so am very much in need of my money.

W. W. B.

The Illinois statute authorizes recovery of attorney fees on wage claims. It is sometimes possible to get an attorney to undertake collection in reliance on such fee, but ordinarily some payment in advance is required. The legal aid bureau of the United Charities assists those who are unable to pay an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PIGS AT LARGE.

Chicago, June 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My neighbor lets his cattle and pigs run at large on the public highway or road to graze the grass without a person as tender. I am almost compelled to keep my road gate closed continually and I must drive his cattle off many times. What is the law in this case?

W. E.

We suggest that you notify him that if he does not correct the condition you will have the animals placed in the pound.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

"CONCEALED WEAPON" DEFINED.

Shabbona, Ill., June 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it unlawful to have a loaded revolver on the floor of an auto? I am a frequent night driver and want to carry one for personal protection.

D. H. S.

The statute provides: "No person shall carry concealed on or about his person a pistol, revolver, or other firearm." In 322 Illinois at page 52 our Supreme court held "about his person" means sufficiently close to the person to be readily accessible for immediate use. A firearm is concealed about the person when it is pushed down behind the cushion of an automobile on which the accused is sitting, but not when it is lying on the floor under a rug.

AN OPEN FACED LETTER TO ARTHUR.

Old Art Lueder, the w. k. postmaster of Chicago, sends us a letter right from the heart, telling us that the vacation period just raises hob with mail deliveries because people generally don't leave specific instructions as to where they have gone and when they'll be back; and asking us to coöperate with him to insure our mail's reaching us during our vacation. Well, Art, it was mighty nice of you to write us personally, although we must say that signature of yours on the letter looked a good deal like a rubber stamp; however, we get the idea, you want to know just where we'll be in vacation time. Well, Art, if there isn't any more money in sight along in July and August than there is right now, and a couple of birds don't pay us back the coin we lent 'em, and if the stock market doesn't get hep to itself and do a little plain and fancy rising, and if prosperity is still sneaking several thousand jumps and a half behind, and the old wolf succeeds in getting his hind legs and tail through the door—well, Art, in short and to make an end, in case things don't look up, we'll tell you where you can find us on our vacation. You know the corner of Lincoln Park where Abe Lincoln's got his statue? Sure you do. Well, walk north on the east side of Abe and then turn left towards the old tomb. Then you keep on going nor'-nor' east to the third bench on the left. If a fat woman with five children and two dogs is on the bench eating hot dogs and popcorn, just bring our mail to the next bench. If a fellow is sitting on that bench with his arms glued 'round his sweetie, follow the trail to the next bench north. And so on. You can find us all right, Art, if you just keep going.

LA SALLE LOOKS DOWN HIS STREET.

The lilies of the Bourbons
  Lie in the Paris dust,
The banners of the Bourbons
  Sink under ancient rust;
Not Louis of the armies,
  But courage served so well
Gives guerdon of the city
  To Robert, Sieur La Salle.

He sees the tall towers rising
  Where once the marshes spread,
He feels the tides of living
  Flood over dreams long dead,
He sees the wealth of empire
  Rise swift against the sky,
And glimpses greater splendor
  Than ever had Versailles.

In cul-de-sacs of shadow
  He sees pale women weep,
And watches, through gray rain mists,
  A dim procession creep.
The poor, the sick, the aged,
  The lame, the halt, the blind
Limp down the sin-washed pavement,
  The sentries of mankind.

A voyageur of vision,
  With all his battles told,
He sees the newer frontier
  As once he saw the old,
Its bravery of triumph,
  Its valor of defeat,
Its gleam, and power, and glory,
  La Salle looks down his street.

MADELON.

MONDAY—Ladies and gentlemen! No holidays in sight, but June, glorious June—so why put up a wail about holidays? June is itself a holiday, old Mamma Nature does her very sweetest for us in June, and if you're all right other ways you ought to be happy in June just being alive. Which, little Pollyannas, should hold you for awhile.

HEY! HEL-LUP! HEL-LUP! The English language contains 700,000 words, and the wise men who are explaining the new traction ordinance to us pro and con have already used up 689,743. They're coming to the end! What to do? What to do?

ANYHOW, up to today at least, no one has pulled Our Stimmie's famous remark (in re the naval settlement), "it's the best we could get." Oh, didn't you know? Why, we were speaking of the street car traction ordinance.

THE CABLES ANNOUNCED Saturday (things may have changed since then, see first page) that Prince Carol had walked out on the sweetie who cost him a throne and gone back to take the king job in Roumania. Ah, as Mr. Kipling once nearly said, "A woman is only a woman, but being king is something else again."

THE REPUBLICAN national committee reports a surplus of $60,388 and the Democrats confesss a deficit of $40,000. At the same time, if you listen closely, you will detect merry peals of childish laughter coming from the general direction of the Democratic national headquarters and a sad, cold silence from the nest of the G. O. P. Now, we wonder why that is?

FISHERMEN, and American fishermen, mark you that, have just reported to the dock authorities in Boston that on their last trip they saw a sea serpent one hundred and twenty-five feet long, with a body that had the girth of a big barrel, a head shaped like the head of a horse. And yet people ask us why we think prohibition has failed to prohibit. Bah!

WHILE IN THE PAST we have willingly and gladly given you the reason whenever the last line did not appear we refuse to give you the secret facts today as their production would not, in our opinion, be compatible with the public interest. As long as you will not accept our last line without being given the secret facts then there will be no last line. As Commodore Vanderbilt has so well said, "The public be damned." FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 9, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The government has not yet determined where Jeff Davis shall be put on trial for treason. Maryland, the eastern district of Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia are competitors for the honor. The indictment was found by the grand jury of the district without consultation with the attorney general, secretary of war or any other member of the cabinet. There is therefore no indication what the government will do.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Both sides now claim the victory on the new constitution question. The Democrat's figures, including St. Louis city, reduce the majority against to about 1,000, which is increased and then decreased in later returns.

NEW YORK.—The morning papers devote much space to the account of the reception of Gen. Grant yesterday and the meeting at Cooper institute in the evening. The crowd at the Astor house during the day was very dense and two receptions were held.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The grand old 6th corps which has participated in nearly every battle fought on Virginia soil in the last four years passed along Pennsylvania avenue in review before President Johnson, his cabinet and many generals. This corps saved Washington less than a year ago, but Washington exhibited little enthusiasm over the march.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Testimony was offered in the trial of the Lincoln assassins to impeach the testimony of M. P. Norton, a government witness. M. Bordeau of Troy, N. Y., testified he would not believe Norton under oath. The government proved by two witnesses that on Saturday the 15th, at 4:30, Mudd told Norton that Lincoln was assassinated and that Booth did it. Further testimony was offered by Atzerotd to prove that he was a coward.

SPRINGFIELD, O.—Thirty or forty bounty jumpers and deserters who have been confined at Camp Butler were sent to Cincinnati, where their cases will be disposed of.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 9, 1900.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Times from Peking, dated yesterday, says: "The American missionary conference sent a telegram to President McKinley at Washington appealing for protection and stating that the missionaries at Pao-Ting-Fu and other places were in extreme danger; that the Tung-Chau missionary station had been abandoned; that chapels everywhere were being burned and hundreds of native Christians massacred by the Boxers."

ROME.—Pope Leo had several fainting fits and his condition is giving the Vatican officials no little alarm. His holiness yesterday complained of being tired, and, at the advice of his physician, postponed a reception in St. Peter's.

CHICAGO.—Ann Hamilton Manierre, widow of Judge George Manierre and one of the pioneer residents of Chicago, died at her residence, 1928 Calumet avenue. She had been ill for only a few days. Mrs. Manierre was born in 1825 and came to Chicago in 1840.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 9, 1920.

CHICAGO. — The big Republican show opened yesterday with two rings dividing the attention of the public. In one the league of nations reservationists staged a battle with the irreconcilables over the peace treaty platform plank, with Senator Borah threatening to bolt and organize a third party unless the Republicans come out flatly against the acceptance of President Wilson's covenant even with the senate's safety appliances attached. In the other ring there was much activity of the political tacticians on the selection of a candidate. Gov. Lowden sustained a terrific hammering from the eastern old line Republicans. Gen. Wood was strengthened by the reaction against Lowden. Senator Johnson was in the same position, with his chances of nomination depending upon a stampede. Representation of the Fifth Missouri district, which had been held up by the national committee on the grounds of fraud, was restored by the committee on credentials.

A REPLY TO J. HAM.

Chicago, June 3.—With all due respect to James Hamilton Lewis' oratorical powers, a gross inaccuracy appears in the report of his address to graduate nurses at the Shoreland hotel Monday night.

Mr. Lewis declared: "It is unthinkable that a system of hospital management which consumes the possessions of the moderately well to do and denies all treatment to the poor shall be permitted to persist in such practices."

Do hospitals "deny all treatment to the poor"? I have at hand the report of Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, for 1929, in which I read the following facts:

Part-pay patients admitted	51%
Free patients admitted	15%
Total number of patients paying less than cost	66%
Total number of days' treatment entirely free	23%
Number of days' treatment partly free	42%
Total number of days' treatment less than cost	65%
Free use of operating rooms	1,150
Free dressings given patients after leaving hospital	1,048
Free X-ray skiagraphs and treatments	1,771

In interpreting these figures it should be remembered that part-pay patients pay less than the cost to the hospital of their care. If it be argued that Presbyterian does an abnormally large amount of charity work, a very conservative estimate of the total free work done by all hospitals of the country is 20 per cent.

Moreover, about 10,000,000 ambulatory patients, who are too poor to go to physicians for treatment, are treated annually at slight cost in the out-patient departments connected with the hospitals of the country. Physicians charge no fees for service given these visitors and the clinic fees do not cover the cost of supplies, equipment, etc., of the departments.

No purely business enterprise can show as good a record of free service voluntarily performed. Not even politicians—with all their "gifts" and "assistance to friends"—can show as good a record of service to the poor.

As for Mr. Lewis' solution of the problem—tax supported hospitals—it is what one would expect from a professional politician. Consider the opportunities for graft which would open up to ambitious politicians if all hospitals were tax supported! Hospitals spend $1,000,000,000 annually for maintenance and $300,000,000 annually for new construction. Of course the politician casts a greedy eye upon these potential spoils. But the people have had enough of the removal of able school superintendents by political boards of education, enough of buying back their own cinders through corrupt trustees, enough of do-nothing mayors! They will not turn over the institutions which reclaim their very lives to political management.

Our hospitals go about their work, restoring weakened humanity to economic productivity at an average charge of less than $75 per patient for an average stay of less than 12 days. Perhaps Mr. Lewis can run a hospital more economically and more serviceably than the present administrators—if so, let him try.

PREDICT REPEAL OF DRY LAW IN FINLAND BY 1933

Opposition Mounts Fast, Even in Parliament.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, June 8.—In Finland's fast rising $3,000,000 parliament building, many politicians, some of them drys, confidently predict repeal of the prohibition law within the next three years.

Prohibition in Finland began as a social question, but developed into a political issue even before the law was passed in 1907. It was not adopted as an amendment to the constitution, and so a majority of votes in the Finnish parliament can repeal it. Some delegates have come out against the law, some privately disobey it, and an increasing number are beginning to say it is a bad piece of legislation.

Dry by Unanimous Vote.

Finland was made dry by unanimous vote of parliament. The law became effective in 1919.

Three years ago I discovered plenty of drinking in Helsingfors but Finnish politicians refused to discuss the law and public leaders refused to defend it. The only Finns willing to defend the law were professional drys with government jobs.

Today the situation has changed entirely. More and more, Finnish leaders are coming out openly against prohibition and the alcohol question has become one of the most acute political questions in the country.

Hope for Agrarian Split.

At present, among the growing opposition, there is the hope that the Agrarian party, largest in parliament, will split on this question. There are also signs of a split in the Socialist party, and if these two parties are forced by internal dissension to grant their delegates a free vote, then Finland will go wet.

According to J. T. Hyvonen, judge, government councilor, and leader of the wet faction of the Agrarian party, prohibition has proven a very unlucky law for Finland. Mr. Hyvonen considers prohibition a failure because of the impossibility of enforcing the law and he believes economic necessity will eventually force parliament to repeal it.

"When we passed this law nobody thought alcohol would be smuggled into Finland from abroad," said Judge Hyvonen. "We thought we could completely abolish the evils of alcohol by legislation. The government has been attempting to use force to stop drinking. We found out that if we tried to make the people be sober by force, then many did not want to be sober.

"Can Never Be Enforced."

"Furthermore, Finland has the same laws, traditions, institutions and morals as the other Scandinavian countries and it is impossible to enforce a law of this kind in Finland, which Sweden, Norway, and Denmark have rejected. Prohibition can never be enforced successfully by one single nation."

One of the few drys I was able to find in Finland, who defended prohibition was Prof. Vaino Voionmaa of Helsingfors university and leader of the Socialist party.

"Protects Middle Class."

"Prohibition is a class law designed to protect the workers and the middle class from alcohol," he said. "I believe that the workers and peasants are drinking less. While it seems impossible to abolish drinking by law still strong measures are necessary against alcohol, which is a social peril."

Gives Age as 104, Files as Candidate for Office

Stockton, Cal., June 8.—(AP)—W. Harry Rane, who gave his age as 104, has filed a declaration of his candidacy for justice of the peace for Castoria township, in San Joaquin county.

HUNT PAIR WHO ROBBED BANKER OF $10,000 GEMS

The Albany Park police were searching yesterday for two gunmen who robbed Frank W. Hausmann, president of the Noel State bank, and his wife of jewels, valued at $10,000 in the driveway of their home at 4443 North Mozart street early in the day. With Mr. and Mrs. Hausmann were August J. Kowalski, 4616 Virginia avenue, vice president of the Northwestern Trust and Savings bank, and Mrs. Kowalski.

They had just driven up to the Hausmann home from a restaurant after attending a north side theater. The robbers appeared to be interested chiefly in jewelry and took a pin, a braceland, and a ring from Mrs. Hausmann. Mrs. Kowalski was wearing no jewelry. The police believe the bandits followed the party from the theater after noticing Mrs. Hausmann's jewelry.

ARREST WALKING 'CORPSE'; SOUGHT FUNERAL MONEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 8.—Pretending to be dead and then trying to collect funeral expenses from a brother has resulted in a police order to deport W. A. Barr, alias J. Miller, of Bristol, Tenn., to the United States. Barr, police say, wired his brother under the name of J. Miller, saying his brother, W. A. Barr, had died.

The brother in Bristol inquired the cost of having the remains sent to Tennessee. "Miller" replied it would cost $176 and asked the money be sent at once. A Bristol undertaker ordered a Canadian undertaker to embalm the body.

Search for the corpse was made, but there was none and after a bit of detective work Barr, "the corpse," was arrested while walking down a street.

YOU HAVE A DOCTOR'S WORD FOR THIS LAXATIVE

In 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he saw the harm in harsh purgatives for constipation and began to search for something harmless to the sensitive bowels.

Out of his experience was born a famous prescription. He wrote it thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, feverishness, nausea, gas, poor appetite, and such disorders, are relieved by the prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original effective and harmless formula. All drug stores have it.

MINNESOTA MEN IN SENATE RACE SMITING TARIFF

Schall and Christianson in Stiff Battle.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Paul, Minn., June 8.—[Special.] —Minnesota's political campaign is an anvil chorus on the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill. Thomas D. Schall, the blind senator, six years in the senate and ten years in the house, is fighting it out with Gov. Theodore Christianson, six years governor, for the Republican senatorship nomination at the June 16 primaries. With great accord both are socking the tariff and whacking Senator Joseph R. Grundy of Pennsylvania over the radio.

Grundy's remark about "backward states" and Senator George Moses' allusion to "sons of wild jackasses" are served up nightly with sulphur and brimstone flavoring. The rival camps say Grundyism is a leading issue, but all the candidates, Republicans, Farmer-Laborites, and Democrats, are all talking the same way.

Hoover Barely Mentioned.

President Hoover is hardly mentioned in the campaigning, unlike the Iowa fight last week, where both "Hell Raising Dick" Dickinson and "Honest John" Hammill claimed to be "a pal of Hoover." Minnesota presents the spectacle of both leading Republican candidates insisting that they want to go to Washington to help Senator Henrik Shipstead, the one Farm-Labor member of the senate. Shipstead rolled up a 300,000 plurality and carried every county in the state on the Farmer-Labor ticket two years ago, when Hoover carried the state. He's in the coalition that prompted the Moses "wild jackass" remark.

Both candidates are exalting "regional consciousness" above "party regularity." Schall points to his record of voting with Shipstead and the coalition. Christianson says: "I serve notice that if I am elected I shall not hesitate to join hands with members of other parties or, if no party, in fighting for the rights of the middle west. If this is political treason, I stand ready to accept the consequences. I am aware some will challenge my Republicanism."

Everybody Hits Tariff.

And how they burn the tariff! Everybody seems to be doing it, even candidates for the legislature and sheriff. Christianson labels it "a breach of party pledges." Schall says the tariff bill will not help the farmer unless it has the debenture plan or the equalization fee. The governor criticized Schall's vote for the bill, and Schall retorted he voted to support the debenture plan then in the bill.

The Christianson camp reproached Schall for voting to seat William Vare of Pennsylvania in the senate. The senator in answer exhibited a part of the Congressional Record. "I was for the seating of Vare because I was against the seating of Grundy," he said. "When the vote was being taken on whether to seat Vare, I made this prophecy: 'You will kick Vare out today and seat Grundy tomorrow.' A few days later my vote was fulfilled.

"I saw the handwriting on the wall. Bill Vare, no matter what his faults, would have been a far better man in the senate than Joseph Grundy, who thinks we in the middle west are ignoramuses."

Expenditures Watched.

Schall is charging that eastern money is being sent into Minnesota to help defeat him. Even in Minnesota, where the rival camps are bemoaning that campaign funds are tight, expenditures are being watched. The Schall managers say they are up against the problem of making four or five thousand dollars do fifty thousand dollars' worth of campaign work. Gov. Christianson says to send a letter to the million voters in Minnesota would cost $20,000 for postage alone and "I do not expect to have one-fourth of $20,000 to spend in this campaign."

Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, it was reported today, plans to drop off at St. Paul to investigate reports that large sums are being spent. Christianson says: "If elected senator I shall not vote to seat those who have spent unconscionable sums to be elected."

Old Charges Revived.

Meanwhile the muskrat and fox fur farm rackets are being stressed by the Schall forces in their attacks on Christianson, while the governor's supporters are airing again old charges that bootleggers contributed to the Schall campaign fund six years ago. Minnesota has had a lot of trouble.

FRENCH DOCTOR FLAYS MODERN COCKTAIL AS RUIN OF BEST MINDS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 8.—Before the French White Cross society, which is a league against alcoholism, Prof. Emile Sergent, a member of the French Academy of Medicine, made a devastating arraignment of the cocktail and its deleterious effects against post-war society.

The cocktail, he declared, has transferred the field of alcoholism from the old ravages of the demon rum in the lower ranks of society to the disintegration of the highest intellectual social classes.

The professor drew a contrasting picture of what he called the "old harmless pre-war jag," of a workman clinging to a lamp post after too much wine, and a modern alcoholic who, after absorbing a dozen cocktails in one day because it has become the style, appears comparatively unaffected, but in reality quickly becomes physically and nervously undermined and eventually a psychopathic if not completely insane. He deplored especially the cocktail's appeal to and effect on women, who until the present epoch in France have been laudibly immune from alcoholism. The doctor closed his address with a warning that unless preventive action is taken against the cocktail, France in ten years time may be faced with an army of degenerates, inebriates and half-wit children, and all this in what should be the nation's best social strata.

The Bargaining Power of Cash

THERE is hardly a housewife today who does not know the power of cash to save money for her when she goes out to do her daily shopping. She knows that cash gets her the lowest prices on many household commodities—that the cash and carry habit enables her to make substantial savings on standard necessities. Everywhere she buys, cash is her means of driving a better bargain.

The family with cash can often make remarkable savings on such items as clothing, furniture, household supplies, and hundreds of other necessities. The classified pages of your newspaper carry column after column of such bargains: "A home for sale on a small down payment"... "A radio at less than wholesale price"... "A list of furniture that must be sacrificed for cash at a fraction of its cost because the owner is moving out of town"...

Household's business is the lending of $100 to $300 in cash, and the full amount of your loan is handed to you for just such purposes. Loans are made to husband and wife and no inquiries are made among friends, relatives or employer. No outside signers are required and there are no fines, fees or deductions under the Household Plan. We give you from one to twenty months to repay and charge you only for the actual time you keep the money.

If you need cash for any good reason, see Household first—our lower rate saves you nearly one-third.

ADGER FARMS FIND STOCK AND MILK PAY WELL

Keep Prosperous Through Diversification.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Madison, Wis., June 8.—[Special.]—Marketing of farm crops via the live stock products route, on hoof or in the milk pail, is most profitable, it is being proved yearly by Wisconsin farmers, who lead the nation in percentage of total farm income derived in this manner.

Milk is by far the outstanding source of revenue on Badger farms, and in recent years herds have spread throughout the state. Dairy products provide 53 per cent of the state's farm income, according to Walter H. Ebling, federal crops specialist here, while live stock and animal products furnish 88 per cent of the gross returns of $425,625,000.

Range of Diversification.

From the state's ledger of farm returns these figures show the range of diversification: Dairy products, $227,292,000; cattle and calves, $54,998,000; hogs, $47,319,000; eggs and poultry [10 per cent of the state's farm business], $40,306,000; grains, $10,244,000; canning peas [over half the nation's crop], $6,108,000; potatoes, $9,000,000; tobacco, $7,023,000; fruits, $5,346,000; other vegetables and truck crops, $7,205,000; a like amount from forage or hay crops, and more than $3,327,000 from sheep and wool. Bees bring Wisconsin farmers another three quarters of a million dollars.

Wisconsin Leads in Milk.

In the ranking of states on crop production, Wisconsin leads in total milk production, cheese and condensed milk output, in canned pea and tame hay growing. It is second in production of cabbage, cucumbers, and snap beans, third in creamery butter and cranberry volume, fourth in value of horses, cherries sold, corn and rye yields, and number of tractors.

This state produces two-thirds of the nation's cheese and one-third of its entire output of condensed and evaporated milk.

Install Feeder Bus Lines on 3 More N. W. Streets

Installation of feeder bus service by the Chicago Surface Lines on three additional northwest side thoroughfares will be begun immediately, it was announced yesterday. The new lines include: Narragansett avenue from North avenue to Irving Park blvd.; North avenue from Narragansett avenue to Austin boulevard, and Elston avenue between Lawrence and Milwaukee avenues.

RESCUED AS RADIO FIRES HOME.

Peter B. Erminger, 40 years old, failed to awaken early yesterday when a fire, caused by short circuited wires in his radio set, occurred in his home at 4412 Greenview avenue. He was rescued by a squad under Chief Thomas Kenny of the Twentieth battalion and taken to the Ravenswood hospital.

BLOW, NOT GUN, CAUSES DEATH.

An autopsy performed yesterday by Dr. Thomas Dwyer, coroner's physician, on the body of Jasper Rockette, railroad section hand found dead Saturday afternoon in a vacant lot in Niles Center, disclosed that he had been killed by a blow instead of by a bullet, as was first supposed.

$1,250,000 Fire Sweeps Capital on Baltic Isle

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 8.—(AP)—The town of Nykjobing on the island of Falster, was swept last night by a fire which caused damage estimated at more than $1,250,000. Starting in a timber yard, the fire spread to the business section. The townsfolk spent most of the night moving their valuables on hand trucks.

Nykjobing is the capital of the island of Falster, in the Baltic sea. It has a population of about 11,000.

Police Vision Spread of Hoodlum Strife.

from whence it was churned up by a passing tug on Saturday.

With McLaughlin's murder to be avenged by those who conceive such vengeance their duty and with other "big shot" gangsters, hiding voluntarily or hidden permanently by other assassins, Stege discerned signs of impending bitter strife over the summer's profits in beer and vice.

The detective chief scouted reports that George [Bugs] Moran, Leo Mongoven, and Ted Newberry, had been disposed of in the same manner as McLaughlin had. He conceded, the possibility, however, that Jack Zuta and Benny Bennett, recently remarked as among the missing, might now be in repose at a river bottom.

Knows Hiding Place, He Says.

"I know that Moran and Newberry are merely hiding out," Stege asserted. "I know where they are, but it's my secret. You see, if I make public their hideouts, the police of the towns now unknowingly sheltering them, will run them out. They'll come hiking back to Chicago, a move we want to prevent if possible."

Regarding the manner of McLaughlin's demise, Chief Stege was considering three possibilties. He might, Stege conjectured, have been involved in the Fox Lake triple murder of June 1, and have been slain while in flight from the scene of the murders to Chicago.

Considers Ashland Avenue Shooting.

Again, Stege reasoned, McLaughlin had been staying since his return from Miami with his mother at her north side home, not far from the hotel at 5301 North Ashland avenue, where Sam Hunt, Capone gangster, was found carrying a sawed-off shotgun in a golf bag after a burst of gunfire on May 28. McLaughlin might have been Hunt's target, Stege said.

"It is not unlikely that Thompson was involved with the Chicago gang feuds," Stege said. "The gangs are expanding their territory, it is certain, as evidenced by the machine gun shooting at Fox Lake and the complaints of State's Attorney George Carbary of Kane county that the local mobs are moving into his territory. Winnebago county, where Thompson presumably was shot, may be another field just now being developed."

BODY FOUND BY RAILROAD TRACKS.

The body of an unidentified man, about 30 years old, who had apparently been run over by a train, was found yesterday along the right of way of the Rock Island lines at 139th street, Blue Island.

Hundreds of Thousands Of Wise Americans Demand Kruschen Salts

Keeps you in good health all the time—skin clear and body free from fat.

Just think of it: these new, better and different salts were only introduced into America a few months ago—yet a host of intelligent Americans are healthier and happier because of their supreme goodness.

Kruschen Salts are the daily health dose of millions of people the world over—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain.

One half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning gently but surely stimulates the liver, bowels and kidneys to healthy elimination.

But the six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts in Kruschen do more than cause regular elimination—the man or woman who takes them regularly need have no fear of poisons polluting the system which is the cause of many annoying and depressing ills.

One bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 4 weeks) costs but 85c and one bottle will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, headaches, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.

Not only that, but one bottle will bring about body activity—increase in energy, vigor and ambition, sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it.

WATER FREIGHT IN GERMANY GAINS 100% IN FIVE YEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 8.—Despite competition from train and motorbus service the importance of canals for transportation of freight to big towns is steadily growing in Germany. Computations made recently in Berlin show that 100 per cent more goods than five years ago enter the capital by waterway.

In 1924 a total 4,544 million tons of goods entered Berlin by waterway. By 1928 this figure increased to 9,245 million tons or close to 100 per cent higher than in 1924.

The corresponding figures for goods entering the German capital by railroad are 11,782 for 1924 and 15,516 million tons for 1928 which means an increase of 36 per cent in 5 years as compared to 100 per cent gain of goods transportation by waterway.

12 NICARAGUA BANDITS SLAIN IN 3 DAY BATTLE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 8.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas McDougal, commander of the Nicaraguan national guard, announced tonight that the recently launched offensive against banditry had resulted in three engagements in as many days, with twelve bandits killed and at least nine wounded. The guard had no casualties.

Gen. McDougal said the guardsmen, officered by United States marines, were scouring the hills and jungles of the northern sector, forcing the bandits to fight in their own haunts.

Supplies and arms were captured in all three engagements.

TWO DRY AGENTS SHOT IN RAID; FIVE ARRAIGNED

New Albany, Ind., June 8.—(AP)—Five persons were arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Robert W. Morris as a result of a raid here last night in which two prohibition agents were shot.

The agents, Warren P. Allender and Charles L. Rukes, both of Indianapolis, named Jacob Huth, 56, owner of the raided farm, as their assailant. He was held under $10,000 bond. Allender, shot twice in the arm, and Rukes, wounded in both legs, are recovering in a hospital.

Huth's wife and two daughters were charged with violating the prohibition law, as was Marshall Atkins, employed by Huth. The latter was charged with shooting with intent to kill. The agents said they stopped an automobile, found a quart of liquor and were met with a volley.

SHOT ATTACKING WOMAN; DIES.

Jesse Banks, a Negro, escaped from the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane, who was shot following an attempted assault on Mrs. Anna Schuster, 26 years old, near her home at 6535 Dakin street on Saturday, died yesterday. He was shot by Herman Esdorn, 3945 North Natchez avenue.

"CHICAGO'S LARGEST EXCLUSIVE FURRIERS"

This Pointing Finger answered their last question

This truth-telling scale points out the low carbon forming tendency of this new oil. Actually New Iso-Vis deposits only half as much as the average carbon formed by various premium-priced oils.

PROOF THAT New Iso-Vis will not thin out can be seen at any Standard Oil Service Station in this Ball and Bottle Test. The balls falling through "used" and fresh New Iso-Vis show that both have the same body.

THREE IMPROVEMENTS over the ordinary motor oil were set as a goal by the research men of Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Here is the combination of qualities they sought—a new oil:

1. that would not thin out in the crankcase
2. that also would resist above-normal engine heat yet flow at low temperatures
3. that also would cut carbon formation by at least 50 per cent of the average of various premium-priced oils.

A new refining process gave them a new type oil. Test tube evidence indicated that it answered every requirement. Engine tests confirmed their findings on the first two points. To answer their final question they made this practical test.

In the same engine under the same conditions, various oils were given 50 hour test runs. The carbon formed with each oil was carefully removed and put aside for weighing.

Now the pointing finger on this scale had chosen the best oil on the basis of low carbon forming tendency. It had picked out the new oil.

This oil has shown by these tests that it has decided advantages over any other motor oil. And all this laboratory evidence has been verified by literally hundreds of road tests. This improved motor oil was offered to the public only last March. It is sold under the name, New Iso-Vis.

Get the verdict of your own motor car on this new motor oil. The answer of your car will be plain to you in its longer life and lower maintenance costs. You will find New Iso-Vis at any Standard Oil service station or dealer.

New ISO=VIS Motor Oil 30¢ a quart

The New Polarine also is produced by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. The price is 25c a quart.

RY TO HEAD OFF OTE ON MEXICAN MMIGRATION BAN

use Sure to Pass Bill if It Gets It.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ashington, D. C., June 8.—[Spe-]—Upon parliamentary maneuvers hinge the fate of pending Mexi- immigration quota legislation.

pporters of the measure, includ- labor organizations, are bombard- members of the house rules com- tee with requests for a special rule its consideration by the house. Op- d to the granting of the rules are recognized Republican leaders of house, who suggest that President ver veto the bill if it reaches him. state department is on record in ition to the legislation because possible disturbance to present dly relations with Mexico.

Will Pass Unless Blocked.

lready passed by the senate and roved by the house immigration mittee with minor amendments, bill is said to be virtually certain passage by the house if its mem- are given a chance to vote on it. epresentative Albert Johnson , Wash.], chairman of the house igration committee, proposed to rt to every possible parliamentary euver in an effort to get the bill re the house. The house leaders prepared to use the same tactics keep it from coming to a vote.

f the rules committee, which has far ignored petitions from the igration committee for a special , continues to maintain its attitude Johnson intends to seek suspen- of the rules in the house. If ed down it is understood that he contemplating an emergency resolu- calling for a temporary ban inst immigration from all coun- as a means of meeting the unem- ment situation.

Might Stop All Immigration.

The proposed resolution probably ld shut off all immigration for a od of six or eight months except cases where certificates are issued wing the necessity for special s of labor. With unemployment ditions as they are, congress might n a mood to pass a resolution sus- ding all immigration.

epresentative Johnson and spokes- for organized labor contend that placing of Mexico under the quota em is imperatively needed, particu- y in view of present unemployment ditions. It is estimated that under national origins quota system im- ration from Mexico would be lim- to less than 1,900 annually.

n the fiscal year 1929 Mexicans ad- ted to this country numbered 38,- while in 1927 the total was 66,766 in 1924 it was 87,648. State de- tment officials contend that with strict enforcement of various ex- g immigration restrictions the ber admitted during the fiscal year will be only about 12,000.

Head-on Into Brick Wall at 37 Miles Per Hr.!

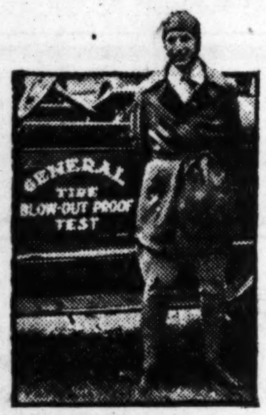
Amazing Test of New GENERAL Dual-Balloon

The Blow-Out Proof Tire

AT the wheel was Captain Dick Grace, famous Hollywood daredevil and motion picture thrill king, whose spectacular feats have included the cracking up of 34 airplanes for such productions as Wings, Lilac Time, Hell's Angels, Young Eagles and other thrilling air dramas. Because of his many daring exploits, Captain Grace was selected as the one man capable of giving the Blow-Out Proof Dual Balloon a test such as no other tire has ever been asked to stand crashing an 8-cylinder touring car under full power at 37 miles per hour into a solid wall of bricks and concrete.

The pictures show what happened!

The Blow-Out Proof Test
that Astounded Safety Experts



GENERAL TIRE BLOW-OUT PROOF TEST

He Comes Up Smiling

Failing to sail clear over the wall as he had expected, Captain Grace was shot forward, doubling over like a jack-knife, bending the cowling out of shape, and was then hurled into the air and to the ground. But fortunately he was only dazed. In a few moments he was on his feet ready to study the effect of the crash.

"As I neared the wall and realized the speed at which we were going to strike, I did not believe an automobile tire could be made capable of standing that blow. In engineering terms there were 170,000 foot-pounds of energy behind the impact," Captain Grace declared after the test.

AN 8-cylinder touring car drives head-on down the field into a solid wall of bricks and mortar. ¶ A shattering crash as its 3,500 pounds of speeding steel smashes against the barricade! ¶ The entire 10-ton wall, foundation and all, is lifted and tipped forward more than a foot, so terrific is the force of the impact!

Yet the General Dual-Balloon Tires, forced to take the first tremendous shock, are not blown out.

Note how the tires are pancaked against the wall by the irresistible weight and momentum of the car . . at the moment of greatest impact they were mashed absolutely flat between the wheels and the wall.

The force of the blow left the steel rims bent and flattened out of shape, but the Dual-Balloon Tires, with their built-in rubber shock absorbers, had withstood that battering punishment without a sign of bruise or break.

Examination immediately after the crash revealed absolutely no injury inside or out. Tested against tons of tempered steel and solid masonry, the Blow-Out Proof Tires alone had stood the shock without damaging effect.

This was a test without parallel in all the history of pneumatic tires . . . . . a demonstration of tire safety and endurance that astounded Akron's safety experts, rubber engineers and all who witnessed it.

Safe against the sudden impact of road holes and bumps that shatter the carcasses of ordinary tires at today's highway speed . . you can trust your life to the Blow-Out Proof Dual-Balloon. Nothing before has even approached its amazing performance . . . its all-road, all-weather, all-speed safety . . its easy riding comfort . . its lower final mileage cost.

400,000 casualties yearly due to tire blowouts, punctures and skidding!

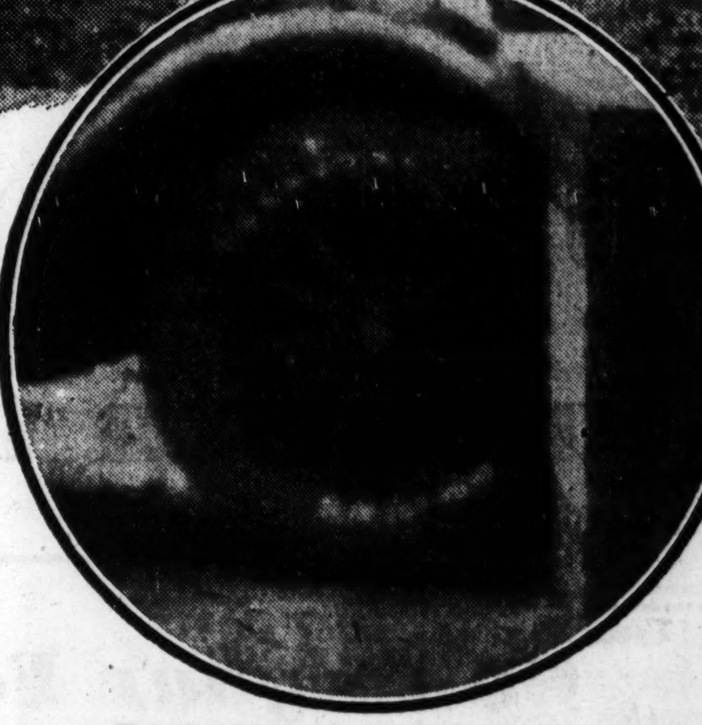
IT'S TIME TO ACT!

Blowouts didn't mean much in the day of slow speeds and small tires, but with balloon tires it's different.

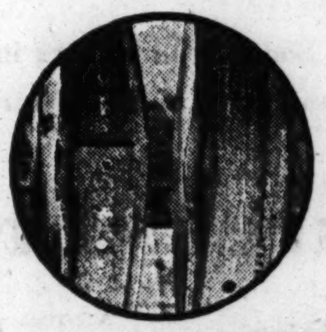
Your slowest speed on the highway today is 44 feet a second. At 60 miles per hour it's 88 feet a second . . . less than a tenth of a second from flat tire to tragedy where traffic is crowded, roads narrow and the ditch all too close!

If it cost more to be safe you might be excused for taking chances. But it actually costs less to run with the Blow-Out Proof tire. Its mileage is cheaper, it saves gas, your car stays quiet and new thousands of miles longer, and safety is yours without charge.



The quick eye of the camera, an instant before the wall tilted, shows how the tires absorbed the first tremendous shock of the impact.

The force of the blow flattened the steel rims inside and outside on both front wheels. Yet neither the tires nor tubes were cut or damaged in the slightest. They had not lost a pound of air.



This. Week
A Special Opportunity

Another week of demonstration—and we have an extra allowance plan at special terms that are sure to interest you. Let us tell you the cash trade-in value of your present tires. We can use them in any condition—and you'll be money ahead to make the change now.

DID MAC DONALD RENEGE ON THAT RAPIDAN CHAT?

Treaty Opponents Would Like to Know.

dent. Mr. Hoover decided to seek a navy limitation agreement on the basis of mutual concessions. As a concession by the British Mr. Hoover accepted MacDonald's consent to accept fifty cruisers instead of the seventy the British contended for at Geneva. That this was a real concession is open to question for the reason that the British had only 54 cruisers built and building and the British demands at Geneva were known to have been inflated for trading purposes.

Hoover Makes Concession.

The first concession Mr. Hoover made was the acceptance of the division of cruisers into eight inch gun and six inch gun ships. This concession was made without the approval of the navy general board, the members of which regarded it as fatal to our policy of national defense. It would entail, as they viewed it, the acceptance of fewer eight inch gun and more six inch gun ships than the United States needed.

The British had 15 eight inch gun cruisers built and building in addition to four 7½ inch gun cruisers. The United States had twenty-three building and authorized. Mr. Hoover came down to twenty-one on the theory that the preponderance over the British would offset British preponderance in naval bases. MacDonald insisted we should have but eighteen.

Then Mr. Hoover sought to bring the navy general board into line for these concessions, particularly the one requiring us to take fewer big cruisers, and more small cruisers than America needs. Mr. Stimson put the members of the board on the witness stand and cross-examined them in an effort to make them admit that six inch gun would be as useful as eight inch gun ships. As a result of the pressure the board came down to twenty-one cruisers but declared that the irreducible minimum.

Mr. Hoover's next move was to summon Admiral Pratt from the fleet and sound him. The admiral indorsed the proposition of accepting six inch gun Thereupon Mr. Hoover made the admiral chief naval adviser to the delegation.

Use Japanese as Lever.

The division of cruisers into two classes worked out as the general board members had feared it would. This concession by Mr. Hoover enabled the British to exert pressure, using the Japanese cruiser strength as a thumb screw. Mr. Hoover was standing out for 21 eight inch gun cruisers. Thereupon Mr. Hoover made the admiral chief naval adviser to the delegation.

To have given them the 70 per cent ratio they were demanding would have allowed the Japanese 147,000 tons, slightly more than Britain's 146,000 tons of eight inch gun cruisers. Australia and New Zealand said they never would stand for that and MacDonald said if the United States insisted on 21 big cruisers the conference would be wrecked.

That MacDonald knew he had an advantage as soon as Mr. Hoover agreed to divide the categories, was indicated by his September statement, in which he hinted that the United States could not have 21 big cruisers because that would cause the Japanese to demand more than the dominions would consent to Japan having.

U. S. ENVOY KEPT ON JUMP AS CHINA FIGHTS CIVIL WAR

Tries to Avoid Contact with Rebels.

Washington, D. C., June 8.—(AP)—Another delicate diplomatic situation is confronting the state department with the growing military activity in China of the so-called northern coalition against the forces of the Nanking government.

The problem which now has arisen is caused by the recognition by the principal governments of the Nanking government as the ruling régime in China. The advance of the northern troops southward and the coalition establishment at Peiping [Peking] of a diplomatic mission has created a delicate situation for the foreign envoys on the ground.

Frequently in Nanking.

Dispatches reaching the state department have disclosed that Nelson T. Johnson, the American minister, and his colleagues of the diplomatic corps are spending much of their time in Nanking—the seat of the southern government—to keep from dealing directly with the northern diplomatic representative in the old capital of China.

With the ever present possibility that the current struggle may establish a new régime in China, the diplomats are loath to completely ignore a northern representative if they are in residence in Peiping. On the other hand, their governments have recognized the southern régime and they must continue to deal with it as long as it maintains responsible control of so large a part of China as it now does.

Records of the state department tonight showed there are 2,617 Americans in the areas affected by the military campaigns. In some of these areas American consular agents and representatives are urging citizens of the United States to leave for places of safety.

ASKS CHIANG TO QUIT

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 8.—The civil war between the Nationalist government and the northern forces broke out at a new place today when Gen. Lu Hsing-tan, an ally of the Kwangsi faction, launched an attack against the city of Foochow in the Fukien province. Fighting is reported to be still in progress. No results of the battle are yet known.

No fresh developments have been reported in the Honan or Hunan provinces for the last two days. The situation in Honan is at deadlock, while the government is rushing reinforcements to Hankow in order to repel the Kwangsi advance toward the Yangtsze valley from Changsha.

An airplane belonging to Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang yesterday dropped a letter on Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters at Kweitefu suggesting that since the fighting is still indecisive and both sides have suffered heavy losses, that both Gen. Feng and Gen. Chiang resign their posts and go abroad "in order to discontinue a useless struggle."

A report from Japanese sources at Nanking stated today that it is not likely that Gen. Chiang will accept Gen. Feng's advice.

Kidnap 2 Spanish Priests.

HANKOW, China, June 8.—(AP)—Fathers Hidalgo and Avieto, Spanish priests, were kidnaped from Hwoshan, about 150 miles northeast of this city, in western Anhwei province, it was learned today, presumably by the same bandits who a week ago captured Father Clifford King at the Catholic mission at Sinyangchow, 100 miles north of here, in southern Honan.

The bandits demanded ransom in the form of supplies of arms and ammunition. The three priests were believed held in a village 20 miles west of Sinyangchow.

President Olaya Leaves Chicago for Washington

President-elect Enrique Olaya of Colombia, who spent the last few days in a round of social and civic functions here, departed last night for Washington, D. C. He was accompanied by two aids, Col. H. W. Miller and Commander H. L. Pence, who have been escorting him on his travels in the United States, and by his daughter, Lucia. The zoning system of Chicago was studied by the president-elect, who wishes to introduce a similar plan in Colombia.

Police Hunt Three Bandits for Raid on Eastgate Hotel

Police last night were seeking three armed men who early yesterday morning took possession of the first floor of the Eastgate hotel, 162 East Ontario street. They robbed the cash drawer of $154 and took $58 from Barner Foster, a guest. They threatened to lock Edward Klein, night clerk, Miss Katherine Beck, telephone operator, and Fred Cadieux, bellboy, in the office vault, but desisted when Miss Beck tearfully pleaded with them.

Let him do the Summer Knocking

MOTORS knock more in summer heat. And that's something not to be tolerantly brushed aside like Mr. Redtop's noisy clatter.

For no matter how slight, a knock is a shock! Repeated thousands of times a minute, it is bound to inflict wear and damage. Your motor grows old before its time.

Furthermore, knocking is the certain signal of power-loss and fuel-waste — taking the edge off high compression advantages and handicapping motors of old type even more seriously.

is the gasoline that disposes of the knock—and goes a good deal more deeply than that in providing better summer running.

For primarily this is a gasoline of exceptionally high type, combining deep-chested sturdy power with extremely quick dry vaporization and complete explosiveness. Consequently you run on the lean dry mixture of unusual economy and quickest response.

And Ethyl, foremost of knock preventives, is there to cushion this surging power into the droning hum of motor contentment.

YOUTHS URGED TO FILE CAMP APPLICATION NOW

Military Training Session Starts July 31.

The 1930 Citizens' Military Training camp for the 6th corps area, of which Chicago is the center, will open at Fort Sheridan on July 31 and continue until Aug. 29. This is but one of 52 camps. The camps are expected to train 40,000 boys and young men in the basic art of military discipline.

Two thousand of these will be accommodated at Fort Sheridan, 1,200 of them from Cook county. The Chicago and cook county quota so far shows 581 applicants, and the national headquarters, which is located at 6 North Michigan avenue, where applications may be filed, is urging those interested to file applications as soon as possible. The rest of the quota will come from northern Illinois and eastern and southern Wisconsin.

Hold Special Days.

Special attention is to be given to the Oath of Allegiance day, Aug. 2, and to Chicago day, Aug. 5. Other special days are North Shore day, Aug. 7; Governor's day, Aug. 9; American Legion and Auxiliary day, Aug. 14; Patten day [for Mrs. James A. Patten, donor to the athletic field], Aug. 19; D. A. R. and Chief of Staff day, Aug. 21, and Visitors' day, Aug. 23.

The day at camp is divided into three parts—military training in the morning, sports in the afternoon, and entertainment in the evening. The physical benefit may be judged by the record of last year's camps, which shows that the gain in weight was 5 pounds for each boy and an increase in chest expansion of 2¼ inches. Instruction in corps work and in athletics is in charge of experienced officers. The food served is a 75 cent daily ration, better than that of officers in the regular army.

Gain Support of Business.

During the 10 years in which the camps have been in operation they have gained the growing support of the business men, who have seen the benefits that their employés experienced. One hundred and eleven Chicago firms now give two extra weeks' vacation with pay to employés accepted for the camp. The public utilities companies and the banks contribute a good quota each year. This year the firm of Balaban & Katz is sending twenty boys to camp as the result of a contest within the organization among the ushers.

In a letter to George F. James, executive secretary of the Camps association, President Hoover declared that the camps have "proved themselves important agencies of physical and moral health in the individual and of civic welfare in the nation." The President commended the camps to fathers and mothers and to the young men of the nation.

SENDS OUT GUIDE TO MAKING LEGAL BEER AND WINES

Washington, D. C., June 8.—(AP)—A guide, mailed to each of his constituents, on how to make "nonintoxicating wine and home brew," and not run counter to the prohibition law has been issued by Representative La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.], wet, on the basis of a bulletin from the agricultural department of "Unfermented Grape Juice; How to Make It in the Home."

The bulletin, he said, described various kinds of "juice," from eubfandel to alicante and reisling, with all the intervening brands still fresh in the memory of the gourmand," and how to make them.

The rules laid down by La Guardia include:

"The beverage must be made in the home and consumed in the home. It cannot be transported. It can be made only in quantities in keeping with the size of the family and cannot be given to strangers or sold to friends.

"The home must be used exclusively for dwelling purposes. The beverage must be nonintoxicating in fact," but, he said, "it is not for the prohibition department or any of its officials or agents to determine what is intoxicating. That is a matter which only the jury with the aid of the court can determine. . . . The average home made wine used with meals in reasonable quantity and not producing or stimulating excitement of the mind, elation, enthusiasm, frenzy, or madness, may be considered as nonintoxicating within the meaning of the law."

Stabs Boy Who Blocks Path; Flees, Is Captured

Seven year old Peter Miller of 10753 Bensley avenue was stabbed below the heart yesterday, probably fatally, by Roman Hernandez, a laborer. Hernandez, drunk, was running down the street with a knife in one hand and a revolver in the other. Peter, playing in front of home, was in his path. Hernandez stabbed him as he passed. Neighbors pursued him. He was captured when somebody hit him with a brick.

3 IDENTIFIED AS ATTACKERS OF GIRL OF 15

Three young men, suspected by pedestrians of attempting to rape a young girl seen struggling in their car on south side streets yesterday morning, were arrested later in the day by Chicago Lawn police, who traced their car license.

They were vehemently denying the accusation when a 15 year old freshman at Bowen High school appeared in the station with her mother and identified them.

The prisoners are: Steve Nowak, 22 years old, 8317 Commercial avenue; William Majewski, 21 years old, 8238 Houston avenue, and Steve Ogrodowicz, 24 years old, 8214 Coles avenue. All but Ogrodowicz attached her, the girl said.

She had attended a party at a neighbor's house and was leaving for home when a girl, known to her only as Betty, introduced her to the trio. They promised to take her home but drove instead to a Hammond roadhouse, where they forced liquor upon her, she said. Later they drove to a beer flat at 6416 South Talman avenue, where the girl tried to escape and was seen struggling by witnesses, who noted the license of the car. The beer flat proprietor, George Kraft, 52 years old, and his wife, Augusta, were also arrested.

Horace Wright Cook Rites Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services of Horace Wright Cook, Chicago lawyer and father of the opera singer, Marion Claire, who died Saturday at his Lake Bluff residence, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at Grace Methodist church, Lake Bluff. Miss Claire, who canceled concert engagements in Europe at news of her father's illness, is expected to arrive in New York from France next Friday. Until she reaches home her father's casket will be held in a vault, interment to be made on Tuesday, June 17.

Son of Former Lake Forest Mayor Held in Auto Death

Henry A. Rumsey Jr., son of Lake Forest's former mayor, was ordered held for a coroner's jury yesterday at Winsted, Conn., in connection with the death of Leon Blanchard, 43, of Dayville, Conn. Blanchard and Allen Seymour, a tire repairman, were fixing a tire on Blanchard's machine when Rumsey's car crashed into them. A tire tool entered Blanchard's body, causing instant death. The father could not be reached by telephone last night.

DONALD MALKES, HUBERT ESTATE CLAIMANT, DIES

Funeral services will be conducted today at the chapel at 3125 West Roosevelt road for Donald E. Malkes, Chicago attorney and claimant to a share of the $11,000,000 estate of the late Conrad Hubert. Burial will be at Waldheim cemetery.

Mr. Malkes died Friday at Mount Sinai hospital of heart trouble. He is survived by a son, Jules, and a sister, Mrs. Ely Singer, of Los Angeles.

In October of 1929 he announced he would contest the will of Hubert, former vice president of the Union Carbon and Carbide company, who left 75 per cent of the estate to charity and 25 per cent to relatives and friends. Former President Coolidge, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Julius Rosenwald were named in the will to administer the charitable bequest.

Mr. Malkes announced he was bringing the action on behalf of himself and his sister, Mrs. Singer. He claimed they were cousins of Mr. Hubert. Samuel L. August of 3247 Berteau avenue, Mr. Malkes' former law partner, said yesterday he believed Mr. Malkes had never pressed his action in court, as he had been in ill health ever since announcing it.

FATE OF THREE ON TRIAL TODAY HANGS ON HAIR

Peoria, Ill., June 8.—[Special.]—A novel trial will start in the federal court here tomorrow, when bald headed men will play a stellar rôle.

Three Chicagoans, Frederick P. Goodwin, Roy Quinlan, and Theodore H. Larson, will face trial upon charges of using the Unite dStates mails to defraud.

The Larson institute sold what was called an infra red ray cap and did a tremendous business until a bald headed government agent subscribed to the treatment and then had the trio indicted. The prosecution will insist on a jury of bald headed men.

Letters to the prospective customers, according to the indictment, guaranteed that the discovery would produce hair under any and all conditions. They went so far as to guarantee that it would grow hair on a billiard ball.

AWARD PRIZES FOR LETTERS AT HOME EXPOSITION

Mrs. Marquerite Flood, 339 Franklin avenue, River Forest, and Mrs. Ella Raymond, 925 Lee street, Des Plaines, yesterday were announced as the winners of the two prizes offered by the Own Your Own Home Exposition management for the best letters, affirmative and negative, on whether children are essential to make a home. More than 2,000 letters were submitted.

"If a couple is happy without children, I do not think it necessary to gamble on an adopted child," wrote Mrs. Flood. "A wife, who is losing her husband and adopts a baby as a last resort, in hopes of regaining her husband's love, is not being fair to the child."

Mrs. Raymond wrote that "the first five years of our married life were marred by the disappointment that no children had been born to us." One eventually was born, but died. Since then they have adopted two children, a girl and a boy, and "words are inadequate to express the joy these children bring to our home."

MAKE UP YOUR OWN MIND—NOW!

Frankly, PEBECO Tooth Paste is for those who have found ordinary dentifrices seriously lacking—for people who have grown tired of tooth pastes that claim so much and perform so little. Pebeco keeps its promises—takes up where others leave off. It cleans. It whitens—without scratching the enamel. And by stimulating the flow of saliva it helps Nature check the mouth acids, and thus retards decay. Get acquainted with Pebeco's distinctive taste. It is a dentifrice for thinking people.

I'll Say It's Good!

It's "SELECTED" Milk

The Special Milk for drinking » » »

"Selected" has a "Sweet Natural Taste" which adds a great deal to the enjoyment of milk drinking.

Even if you never have taken "Selected" Milk, start now. Give it to your children this summer.

Then you won't have to coax them to drink their four-glasses-a-day which they need—they'll drink it with eagerness that will make your heart glad.

The special care and vigilance taken in the production of "Selected," and which accounts for its "Sweet Natural Taste," is also responsible for its better keeping qualities. It stays sweet longer.

The extra three cents a quart that you pay for "Selected" goes for quality. We pay a liberal premium to the "Selected" producers, because they have fine, healthy herds and modern equipment . . . and adhere to our rigid requirements covering feeding, stabling, milking, cooling, handling, etc.

It is a very simple matter to arrange a test of "Selected" milk in your home. Just speak to your Borden milkman, phone Franklin 3110, or mail the coupon below.

MILWAUKEE KNOWS AL'S HERE

Milwaukee didn't forget that Al Simmons was at Comiskey park yesterday when the champion Athletics met the White Sox in the second of their series. Barney W. Wolfman, a member of the delegation of 250 fans who came down from Al's home town, presents Simmons with a silver loving cup. Ald. M. P. Mueller of Milwaukee, chairman of the delegation, is at the extreme right. Al contributed a double and scored a run in the fifth inning rally which gave the Macks victory.

Collegians Pad Army Elevens, Fish Charges

New York, June 8.—[Special.]—The charge that West Point football teams for the last few years have been composed of fully 30 per cent of former college athletes, and that for at least one team, this proportion of semi-professionals ran as high as 50 per cent, will be considered by Secretary of War Hurley this week when Maj. Gen. Hugh S. Drum reports the results of his recent investigation at the army school.

If, in the opinion of Representative Hamilton Fish, who originated the charge, it is not satisfactorily answered a congressional investigation is likely to follow.

A demand in the house of representatives by Mr. Fish less than a month ago for an investigation of West Point was followed immediately by a more careful inquiry into the facts surrounding the marriage of Cadet Christian Cagle.

Mr. Fish, interviewed as he was returning to Washington today, revealed that he had made an independent inquiry. He asserted that 50 per cent of the players on one of the football teams within the last few years were former college or university players and that most of the teams since 1925 contained over 30 per cent of former college players.

"I am convinced," he said, "that practically all West Point teams have been composed of at least one-third of former college and university players. There would be no issue if there were one or two former college stars, although when Charlie Daily, former Harvard captain, attended West Point, he declined to play on the Army team more than two years against the Navy because of good sportsmanship. He was entitled to play the full four years, but declined to do so.

"I am of the opinion that four out of the last six football captains have resigned from the army without any service to the government."

He said that they had gone there only to continue their football careers. Among those he named as the recent stars who resigned were Garbisch, Sprague, McEwan and Cagle.

FIGHT BALLYHOO PICKS UP AFTER BRIEF ECLIPSE

Nothing to Disturb It from Now On.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Binghamton, N. Y., June 8.—Momentarily interrupted by the running of the Belmont stakes, the ballyhoo for the impending nonsense between Max Schmeling, the German, and Jack Sharkey, the home loving Bostonian, resumed today and will continue in growing volume until Thursday evening, when the two young men take the ring at the Yankee stadium to fight 15 rounds or less for the heavyweight championship.

That is, the New York prize fight commission insists that the heavyweight championship will be at stake, even though Schmeling has fought not more than two first class men in his life and caught those two while they were suffering from galloping dilapidation. They were Johnny Risko and Paulino Uzcudun, who had been pretty thoroughly punched around before he met them.

But He Punched 'Em Around

However, it must be conceded that he punched them around as nobody ever had punched them around before, although they had been punched by experts. These two victories, then, whatever one may think of them, and it should be noted that it is not necessary to think of them, constitute the reputation of the young German athlete who is training at a place about eight miles outside this factory town in the mountains in all the familiar mechanical panoply, mystery and comedy that these retreats have acquired in the course of the years.

Today, Herr Schmeling engaged in four practice bouts of a total of six rounds, two each with Charley Berlanger, the Canadian heavyweight champion, and a fellow named Lou Barba, and one each with Frankie Bush and Jack Shaw. Bush is a familiar if not a distinguished figure in the training resorts of heavyweights with championship business on hand, having served Jack Dempsey in the same capacity several years ago. Up to this time the employés who have carried the target for Schmeling in his training have been parties who were either docile by nature or discouraged by the jabs and hooks of outrageous fortune, and therefore showed pronounced recumbent tendencies.

Insists It's Good for Morale.

I do not know how much good it does a fighter to practice his knacks against such persons and it does seem a good deal like practising golf shots on a croquet ball, but Mr. Joey Jacobs, the present manager of the German prizefighter, insists that it is good for a gladiator's morale to see hulks go down, sprawling under the impulse of his punches. He can claim respectable authority for his theory, because the athletic directors and coaches of almost all the great university football teams generally plan to impart a sense of power to their athletes early in the season by listing games with teams which cannot win.

And, several of the major league baseball managers nowadays carry bush league pitchers, without pride of achievement nor hope of success, to pitch their innocent speed and curves to the great batters of the game in batting practice. After a hitter has belted a few long shots in this practice he goes up to the plate to face his professional peers in the actual game feeling mighty and confident.

Professes Utmost Confidence.

Mr. Jacobs professes to feel the utmost confidence in his prize fighter but I notice that he and everyone else who expects Schmeling to win the prizefight, in analyzing the situation, confine themselves to destructive criticism of Sharkey. That is, Sharkey is held to be emotionally erratic, given to rages, and tears in the ring and not too courageous. This idea probably is worth considering, but I don't think Mr. Jacobs and Schmeling should rely on it because in a fight it is always a good plan to do something offensive to disturb the other

Chicago Turf Awaits "Fox" and Whichone

BY FRENCH LANE.

All was quiet on the American Derby's western front yesterday.

One could travel around the barns and mingle with the railbirds at Washington Park and Lincoln Fields and come to the conclusion that the west, usually boisterous when one of the big Derby fixtures is decided, was almost too much subdued. For the American Derby is to be renewed at Washington Park next Saturday afternoon.

Will Gallant Fox or Whichone come for the race?

Wherever Derby talk was in the air this question bobbed up. The westerners were hopeful that one or both of them will be here. But they were prepared to do some cheering if both the eastern stars passed up the Chicago race.

"Then it will be a battle royal between a lot of good horses," one of the westerners said. "There may not be a champion in the lot, perhaps, but the horse that wins the American Derby will have to be a real racehorse."

On the western front last night were Gallant Knight, beaten in the Cleveland Derby on Saturday, but which was hurried here by Trainer Kay Spence to fill the American Derby engagement. Gallant Knight will have a powerful running mate in Flyer, a winner at Washington Park last week, and which ran so brilliantly he appeared to be the best 3 year old that has raced in Chicago this year.

Prince Atheling, Tannery, Dedicate, Alcibiades, Ned O., Sydney, Plucky Play, Dixie Lad, Tippy Toe, Ante Bellum, Thistle Ann, and Michigan Boy were other candidates on the western Derby front.

All exceupt Prince Atheling have been tried and found wanting this spring. Most of them were beaten by Gallant Fox in the Kentucky Derby. Those that didn't trail The Fox in the Kentucky Derby have been eliminated one way or another until there isn't a real standout or a possible champion in the group.

If Gallant Fox and Whichone should travel west for the American Derby some of the western hopes will be frightened out of the race. Those that go to the post against either of the eastern stars will not face the starter with much confidence.

Yet there isn't a sport so uncertain as horse racing, and it is not beyond the possibilities that one of these western dark horses will step out on Saturday afternoon and stop Gallant Fox or Whichone in the classic.

While the west seems to be extremely weak in formidable candidates in the 3 year old division, the American Derby promises to attract one of the great turf crowds of the year in Chicago. All but a few of the several thousand reserved seats in the clubhouse and grandstand sections were sold yesterday. Turf followers from many sections were beginning to arrive here to see the race decided. Special trains are to come from Louisville, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Detroit, and other cities.

Should Gallant Fox come west for the Derby there is no doubt but that he will go to the post a topheavy favorite. The play or pay bookmakers were offering only even money against him last night. They quoted 3 to 1 against Whichone, 5 to 1 against Snowflake and Swinfield, 8 to 1 against Prince Atheling, and you could write your own ticket on any of the other probable starters.

The Stewart Ridge purse at a mile and 70 yards, and the Windsor Park purse at seven furlongs are the features on today's program which marks the beginning of Derby week. Whiskery, Karl Eitel, Wacker Drive, Pigeon Hole, and others, famous in their day, are among the starters. But the western Derby candidates, eligible to both races, dodged the issue.

Former Harvard Football Captain Dies at Age of 63

New York, June 8.—(AP)—Arthur James Cumnock, wholesale dry goods merchant and textile manufacturer, died at his home here today at the age of 63. He was graduated in 1891 from Harvard, where he was noted as a football player. He was captain of the Harvard varsity teams in both his junior and senior years.

GALLANT FOX ALREADY HAILED AS MAN O' WAR

But Turfmen Aren't Ready to Concede Honor.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 8.—Already turf followers, impressed by Gallant Fox's successive victories in the Wood Memorial, Preakness, Kentucky Derby, and Belmont, are seeking reasons to call the son of Sir Galahad III. another Man o' War. eVteran turfmen, however, are not yet ready to concede that honor because the Fox still has much to accomplish before approaching the record of the champion 2 year old of 1919 and champion 3 year old of 1920, which then was retired.

That the Fox, with present earnings around $200,000 and eligible for many more rich stakes, will surpass the $249,465 total of Man o' War seems a certainty, barring racing or training mishaps. He already has earned more this season with its rich fixtures than the one time champion did in his entire 3 year old form.

2 Year Form Overshadowed.

If 2 year old racing also is considered, Gallant Fox would be out of the title comparison, for Man o' War won nine of ten starts as a baby racer. This one defeat was placing second in a race considered more or less of a fluke. Gallant Fox was a high class, but not champion 2 year old. He acquired brackets in two of seven starts.

As a 3 year old Man o' War started eleven times and was first eleven times, winning the Preakness, Withers, Belmont, Dwyer, Miller, Travers, Lawrence, Realization, Jockey Club, Potomac, and Kenilworth gold cup. He was not a starter in the Kentucky Derby. He still holds two world's records, a mile and three furlongs in 2:14 1-5 and mile and five furlongs in 2:40 4-5. In both these races he carried 126 pounds.

May Set Earning Record.

That Gallant Fox may set an all-time world's record for money earned is an interesting possibility. That honor now is held by the French horse, Ksar, which won 11 of 15 starts, with $335,340. That figure is based on a parity of five francs to the dollar. Isinglass leads British racers with $291,275 in 11 victories in 12 starts.

American horses rank: Zev, with $313,639, Display with $256,376, Exterminator with $252,596, and Man o' War with $249,465. Since the financial reward of turf fixtures has increased tremendously within the last decade, it is less difficult now to set an earnings mark.

Gallant Fox has improved immeasurably since last year. That is self-evident. Trainer Fitzsimmons' greatest care from this point on will be to prevent his training off.

CLYDE BECK.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 8. — Señor Adolfo Luque today was in rare form for a man of his numerous years, and the clouting Cubs, who in six straight games had pounded home 81 runs, suffered accordingly. All they could do with the squatty Cuban before a crowd of 30,000 on this rainy afternoon was to accumulate four hits, which proved of no more worth than the blank end of a 6 to 0 score in the third of the series with the pace making Robins. The champions now are three games from the top but still are confident of getting there eventually. Pat Malone will attempt to pitch the final here tomorrow. Lefty Elliott will operate for the Robins.

Get Two Hits in Seventh.

While the veteran citizen of Havana was engaged in turning out a near masterpiece, the Robins were busy tearing down their reputation built up by Bud Teachout in his recent success against the Braves. The young left handed collegian went only as far as the second round today before receiving disconcerting news. Five hits were exploded rather unexpectedly in this inning and three runs resulted. This attack took the heart right out of the ball game and the Robins merely wasted their energy by subsequently counting once more off Teachout and twice off Al Shealy, who pitched the eighth.

McCarthy's champions put on a powerful rally in the seventh. It consisted of two hits, thereby raising their total to four. English was the first man up and he whacked a single through short. His hopes of advancing were blasted when he was erased in a double play into which Cuyler grounded. Luque treated Wilson to free transportation, which Hack didn't spurn in view of the scarcity of hits. Stephenson then beat out a single to short, but Capt. Grimm was unable to prolong the scheme to get some runs.

Bissonette Starts Rally.

The three run assault upon Teachout in the second was instigated by Bissonette who led off with a single to center. Moore singled to the same spot and Wilson foolishly threw to third when there was no chance to catch Bissonette there. This error in judgment allowed Moore to go to second. Finn smashed a two bagger to right and the pair of runners scored. Slade sacrificed and Lopez fanned, leaving only Luque to dispose of. Instead of submitting meekly the Señor banged a single to left, driving Finn across. Then Gilbert also hit safely but the rally went no farther.

Just by way of proving the third was a mere accident, Teachout followed with two rounds in which only a fluke double was produced against him. The fifth, however, was a bit different, one Robin scoring. Frederick opened the inning in a profitable fashion by singling to center. Herman the Great sailed one toward right and it did a billiard off the concrete wall for three bases, Frederick scoring. Teachout halted this by fanning Bissonette and Moore and eliminating Finn on a fly to Wilson.

Two Robins Score.

The way in which the Cubs conducted themselves defensively in the eighth indicated that they weren't worried about a few enemy runs more or less. Shealy set down the first two batters without trouble. Then Gilbert scratched a hit to English and Frederick survived on a fumble by Blair. Herman bounced a teaser to Blair and there wasn't time to get the man at first so it went as a hit, filling the bases. Bissonette then walloped one straight through Blair's hands for a single, Gilbert and Frederick scoring.

FERRELL SINGLES IN NINTH TO HELP INDIANS WIN, 3-2

Cleveland Pitcher's Hit Beats Washington.

Cleveland, O., June 8.—(AP)—Wesley Ferrell pitched and batted himself to his ninth American league victory of the season today as Cleveland's third place team gained a lap on Washington, in second place, by a score of 3 to 2.

With the bases full and one out in the last half of the ninth, Ferrell singled over shortstop to send Averill home with the winning run.

TIGERS, 1; RED SOX, 0.

Detroit, Mich., June 8.—(AP)—Waite Hoyt, former Yankee pitcher, won his first start for Detroit today, holding the Boston Red Sox to four hits and taking a 1 to 0 decision from Ed Morris. The game was called because of darkness after six innings.

Morris allowed only two hits, but an error by Rhyne, followed by Alexander's single, brought in the winning run in the first inning. Paid attendance was 26,505, the largest crowd ever to see the Red Sox play here.

Walker Holds Cards to 2 Hits; Giants Win 8th in Row, 4-1

New York, June 8.—(AP)—The Giants continued their winning streak by taking the third straight from the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 1. It was the New Yorkers' eighth straight victory and the Cardinals' 12th loss in their last 13 games. Bill Walker, Giant left hander, allowed the Cardinals but two hits, and their lone run was unearned. He fanned seven men.

Bill Terry's homer put the Giants in front in the third, while Allen's single with the bases full and two out clinched the game in the eighth.

Ray Blades, who scored the Cardinals' lone run, pulled up lame and was replaced by Watkins. Score:

Braves Score 8 in 2nd; Beat Pirates, 10-6

Boston, Mass., June 8.—(AP)—The Braves launched an eight run attack in the second inning and finally defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 6, here today.

Walt Berger hit his 17th home run in the Braves' big inning with two men on base after singling his first time up in that frame. The attack was made off French and Spencer.

Socks Seibold pitched the Bucs into submission except in the seventh inning, when the Pirates scored six runs on six hits, an error, a base on balls, and a sacrifice. Score:

Bird Fans! Keep Your Martin Houses Closed

BY BOB BECKER.

Bird fans who erected martin houses this spring but failed to land a colony of these graceful insect destroyers should close all the entrances of the house so as to reduce the sparrow nuisance. The pestiferous English sparrow is an aggressive enemy of the martin. If given half a chance it will take possession of a box especially designed for the martins and resist all efforts to dislodge 'em.

We have seen an example of a martin box turned into a sparrow haven near our home. A well made "community house" which ought to have bagged a martin colony didn't get a tenant except sparrows. The latter thrived. Their noisy chatter was awful and soon they took over every available nesting site around the place. Then down came the martin house and at once the sparrow nuisance was reduced.

"Gamekeeper" reports an experience with martins and English sparrows which shows that a small shotgun [.410], used on the invading sparrows, not only does good work against these pests but also results in martins' taking over a house that they couldn't break into before the battle.

Sparrows seized possession of a martin house. The latter came up from the south and couldn't take possession of their home. Out came the shotgun. A couple of days of popping, sparrows were killed or frightened away, and within a few hours the martins settled down in their old home.

Quite unexpectedly and for no apparent reason the martin colony disappeared for a few days, so back came the sparrows.

OAK BROOK FOUR WINS FINAL FROM FREEBOOTERS, 7-4

Detroit, Mich., June 8.—[Special.]—Stung by yesterday's unexpected 8 to 6 defeat, the Chicago Oak Brook four came back this afternoon to administer a beating to the Detroit Freebooters in the final polo game of the series at Harrison field. Although they conceded the same two goal handicap that spelled defeat yesterday, the Oak Brook team seemed to find the steady downpour of rain to its liking and rode out a well deserved victory, 7 goals to 4.

Carl Crawford, the hub of the Oak Brook attack, was in the thick of every scrimmage and it was his uncanny ability to ride out the ball that gave his team such an advantage.

Oak Brook scored in all but the last chukker, when, with the game won, it was content to hold its three goal lead.

JIMMY FOXX

"Look at those shoulders! That boy's a natural-born batting wonder. No mere coddling or training could make a fence-buster like that!"

Jimmy Foxx was just a rookie when Canny Connie Mack gave him that size-up. Four years later he was crowding the swat kings of both big leagues for the batting championship.

And just that Nature-given goodness lifted OLD GOLD from a rookie brand to a big league leader in four years' time. Naturally better tobaccos... free from all throat-irritating impurities.

OLD GOLD created an entirely new type of cigarette enjoyment. It added a new taste thrill and took out all the throat scratch. That's why its sales have eclipsed the record of three other leading brands combined, in a like period of their existence.

STAGG GAMES EXCEL EASTERN MEET BY 7 TO 3

Better Marks Made Here, Table Shows.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Championship records in the ninth track and field meet of the National Collegiate Athletic association, which was held Saturday at Stagg field, reveal that the meet is indeed national. Geographically it is not national, for teams from the eastern part of the United States never have given the meet consideration.

For fifty-four years eastern universities have pointed each season for the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet. And while the intercollegiate association does not have as much claim to call itself national—not that it has advanced such a claim—nevertheless it has looked with hauteur on the Stagg meet as anti-climax to the eastern track competition.

Stagg Meet Superior.

The central states and the far west, with the exception of Stanford, University of Southern California, and California, have been content to compete in the national collegiate. The eastern meet, also, is held at a time when the western conference, the Big Six and other college associations hold their championships.

A comparison of the two meets this year shows that the Stagg meet Saturday had better records in seven events and the east was superior in three. The other five cannot be compared.

George Simpson's 220 yard dash record of :20 7-10 seconds is superior to Hector Dyer's time of :21 3-10. Dyer, who represents Stanford, also was entered in the Chicago meet, but did not compete. A comparison of the events and the winners follow:

	STAGG MEET.	HARVARD MEET.
220 YARD DASH.	mpson :20.7	Dyer :21.3
440 YARD DASH.	owen :48	Engle :48.1
TWO MILE.	anning 9:18.1	Hagen 9:26.8
HIGH HURDLES.	nderson :14.4	Record :14.8
LOW HURDLES.	stman :23.2	Carls :23.7
BROAD JUMP.	erdon 25 ft.	West 24 ft. 4⅝ in.
POLE VAULT.	rne 13 ft. 9⅞ in.	Sutermeister 13 ft. 6 in.
HALF MILE.	artin 1:54.1	Chapman 1:52.4
MILE.	vak 4:19.3	Bullwinkle 4:18.2
HAMMER THROW.	mpbell 162 ft.8¼ in.	Conner 177 ft.10⅝ in.

Wykoff Wins at Both Meets.

The last three events were won by men from eastern schools. Chapman is from Bates, Bullwinkle represents New York City college and Conner throws the hammer for Yale.

It is impossible to compare the 100 yard dash, the shot put and the javelin throw, for the same athletes won at both meets. Wykoff's time at Stagg field, which broke the world's record, was three-tenths of a second better than when he ran at Harvard. Competition was responsible, for the eight men racing in Saturday's final were the best in the country. Two of them, George Simpson and Herbert Meier, also had been timed in better than the world mark of 9 5-10 seconds, which belongs to Eddie Tolan.

Comparison Again Unfair.

A comparison also would be unfair in the high jump and discus throw. Stewart of Southern California jumped higher at Stagg field than O'Conner of Columbia did at Harvard. However, Stewart was second in the eastern meet, equalizing the caliber of competition. The same was true in the discus. Jessup of Washington won at Stagg field, and his mark was only three-eighths of an inch less than Krenz's winning throw at Harvard. Again, Krenz competed Saturday and was second, which squares the comparison.

Although he bears a vague facial resemblance to Jack Dempsey in the days before the latter had his nose reupholstered, Schmeling's temperament and fighting style are more like Gene Tunney's. As the day draws nigh for a prizefight in which he will or will not acquire a title worth at least one million dollars, he has himself under firm control, enjoying a serenity that comes of self-discipline and confidence, and it has been noticed that when he fights he first applies himself methodically to a process of torment, laceration and exasperation. He did not knock out Johnny Risko until the ninth round by which time he had worn his man away by solid, persistent punching. Against Paulino he never was frantic, but hacked away until at the end of the fight the unhappy Spaniard was weak from his efforts and his wounds.

See No Weight Disadvantage.

Both Schmeling and his manager tell me that the matter of a difference in weight will give Sharkey no advantage, although it has been noted that the only men Sharkey has knocked out in the last few years were fighters smaller than himself who could not withstand the weight of his attack.

"Schmeling weighs 187 pounds and I suppose Sharkey will weigh about 200," Mr. Jacobs says. "Maybe Sharkey will weigh as much as 205, as I have been hearing that he is pretty thick through the middle nowadays. But I remember that Dempsey weighed only 183 when he fought Jess Willard, who weighed 247."

MAGNOLIA SCRATCHED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Orangeburg, N. Y., June 8.—Lou Magnolia, one of the best referees in the state of New York, will not be eligible to afficiate in the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling fight next Thursday in New York.

James A. Farley, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, today said Magnolia's name will not appear on the list of eligibles from which the arbiter will be chosen, because "of his unsatisfactory work on the Sharkey-Scott bout at Miami."

"I have no personal prejudice against Magnolia," Farley declared. "In fact, he is a very good friend of mine. But he made a terrible mess of the Miami fight and right now we are looking around for an official who can be relied upon to give 100 per cent service in the Sharkey-Schmeling fight."

HOELLENS BEAT KANKAKEE.

Kankakee, Ill., June 8.—Hoellens of Chicago defeated Kankakee here today, 5 to 1. Williams allowed Kankakee only four hits.

ST. RITA RETAINS CATHOLIC TITLE, BEATS DE PAUL, 3-1

St. Rita retained its Catholic league baseball championship yesterday by defeating De Paul academy in the final game on the winners' field, 3 to 1. It was the second time in two years the pair had met for the title.

The final game was a pitching duel between Gordon O'Shaughnessy of St. Rita and Bernie Sutton of De Paul, the former granting three hits and the latter two. O'Shaughnessy fanned eleven to Sutton's four. Etten and Eicher contributed doubles, the only extra base hits of the game.

Bobby Thomas Wins 10 Mile Bike Handicap

Bobby Thomas of the Kollman Athletic club, Kenosha, Wis., won the R. L. Lyons memorial ten mile bicycle handicap at Sherman park yesterday when he beat Al Vertenten of the Henry Athletic club in the final yard. The race, sponsored by the Southtown Sportsmen, was witnessed by approximately 5,000 fans. Thomas and Vertenten gave the rest of the field a two minute start but caught the leaders on the eighth lap. Anthony Schaller of the Franklin S. & A. C. took third and Al Waldack of the Belgian-American C. C. was fourth. More than 65 riders started the race.

Thomas also won the class B two mile race in 4:31. Edward Schroeder was third. Ted Becker won the class A two mile race and Alf Marxer, German American C. C., was first in the two mile class C event.

The Kollman club of Kenosha, Wis., won the team prize with 23 points.

TO START PLAY IN CITY TENNIS TOURNEY TODAY

A field of more than seventy today will start play in the city tennis championship tournament at the Town and Tennis club. The finals will be played next Sunday.

There is no overwhelming favorite for the title. George Lott, Davis cup star, who won the event last year, is in Europe and cannot be here to defend his title. George Jennings, national public parks champion and a player who would have made the going hard for any one, is out of the city and will not compete.

NEW YORK WEEKLY CURB MARKET

SPRING WHEAT OUTLOOK SIMILAR TO THAT OF 1929

Prairies Need More Rain to Prevent Drought.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

About this season a year ago the wheat trade of the world commenced to take notice of the drought conditions prevailing in the North American spring wheat area. In the fuce of the largest carryover of old grain ever known, the market did not stop in its upward course until the price had advanced over 60c per bu, one of the largest upturns within such a short time ever known.

Conditions at the present time are very similar to those prevailing in 1929 in the spring wheat areas. Official reports show that rainfall in the prairie provinces in April and May was only about equal to that of last year at a great many points, but the lack of moisture this season follows a drought year which intensifies the lack of moisture this season follows a drought year which intensifies the lack of a reserve.

European Outlook Spotted.

Little attention is paid to the much less favorable reports from abroad where the outlook is for only a normal crop, which would bring the total down about 150,000,000 bu from last year's harvest, without consideration being given to Russia. In the latter country seeding is very slow, and latest returns indicate only 37,000,000 acres planted to May 20 or 21,000,000 acres less than last year.

An official estimate places the United States carryover on July 1 around 270,000,000 bu, or 25,000,000 bu in excess of the record established in 1929, but the total world's carryover is expected to show a decrease of around 100,000,000 bu despite the fact that world's shipments for the crop year of 650,000,000 bu were 150,000,000 bu below the average of the last 8 years.

While consumption abroad may be somewhat curtailed by the extremely high import duties imposed by many countries it is generally expected that heavier imports will be necessitated in 1930-'31.

Weather conditions promise to be the dominating influence in the market, with prospects of a decided trend developing within the next two weeks. Harvesting winter wheat is now under way in Texas and Oklahoma, and weather conditions in Kansas have been generally favorable for filling. Excellent quality is generally expected.

Wheat futures in Chicago hand a range of 3½@4c during the week and closed with net losses of 2@2⅜c for the week, July being $1.06⅛@1.06¼; September, $1.09⅛@1.09¼, and December, $1.13¾@1.13⅞ at the last. Prices follow:

Light Trade in Corn.

Bulk of the trade in corn has been of a local character, with the old crop months affected to some extent by decreasing stocks and smaller supplies back in the country than last year, while the December has been easy as the result of planting being completed over the greater part of the belt well ahead of last year. Outlook for the new crop is very favorable, with an increase of 3 to 5 per cent in the acreage.

Oat Crop Damaged.

Dry weather has given the new oat crop a setback that promises to prevent a bumper yield, regardless of weather conditions from now on. The crop has started to head on a short straw and the recent private estimates suggested a yield only 100,000,000 bu in excess of that harvested last year, when it was abnormally small. Future trading, however, is light and prices had a range of 1¼@1⅜c for the week, closing ⅜@½c higher, with July 40@40⅛c, or ⅛c over September, while December was 43c.

LARD MARKET WEAKENS

Changing operations furnished a good part of the trade in lard the last week, with prices 2½@30c lower at the last with December leading. Cash bellies were in demand at a price well above the futures, which led to short covering and an advance with the finish 47½@80c higher than the previous week. While supplies of hogs are not large they are ample for all requirements. Prices follow:

Endicott Johnson.

I would like information on the common stock of Endicott Johnson corporation, Endicott, N. Y.—O. H. C.

Endicott Johnson corporation is a leading shoe manufacturer. Factories are located in several cities in New York state. During the last few years the company has become an important manufacturer of rubber as well as leather footwear. It tans about 90 per cent of its leather requirements. Until a few years ago sales outlets had been largely small stores, but more recently the company has enlarged its distributive system through contracts with large department stores and by acquiring stores of its own.

Outstanding capitalization consists of $10,402,800 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock (par $100) and $20,268,000 of common stock (par $50). At the close of 1929 total assets and liabilities amounted to $50,792,802.

Since 1927 the trend of sales and profits has been downward. The decrease in volume of business during 1929, according to the management, was due to lower prices obtained for shoes. A gain of 9½ per cent in the number of pairs shipped was reported. Losses due to changes in the market value of hides and shoes and other losses incurred in eliminating stocks of unprofitable shoes during 1929 were estimated at $4,000,000.

During the year the company's financial position was improved and on Dec. 31 current assets were $30,858,974, and current liabilities were $3,764,132, leaving a net working capital of $27,094,842. This compares with $26,771,389 a year before, and $25,228,546 at the close of 1927.

Sales in 1929 amounted to $68,415,057, against $69,333,401 in 1928, and $73,078,800 in 1927.

Net income in 1929 was $2,771,563, against $3,601,263 in 1928. Earnings last year of $5.01 per common share compare with $6.96 per share on a like number of shares in 1928.

Dividends on the common are $5 per year.

The preferred stock is high grade. The common deserves a fair rating.

American Austin Car.

Are the 7 per cent notes of the new American Austin Car company a reasonably good investment?—C. W. C.

American Austin Car company, Inc., $1,000,000 7 per cent notes, dated May 1, 1930, and due May 1, 1933, are more a speculation than an investment.

DROP IN STEEL DEMAND SEEMS TO BE SEASONAL

Ingot Output Is at 70% Capacity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 8.—There has been a more marked recession in steel demand in the last two weeks than formerly, but the decrease is largely or wholly seasonal. Decreased buying by both farm implement and automobile manufacturers is particularly to be noted, and rail production, which was curtailed 20 per cent in the Chicago district May 1, now seems to be undergoing a sharper reduction. Sustained demand in various lines and increased production of line pipe have been helping to maintain the rate of steel production.

Steel ingot production in the last week has been at about 70 per cent of capacity, which compares with an average of 74 to 75 per cent in May and 79 to 80 per cent in April. With further but mild decreases to be expected, the average daily rate of production this month may be forecast at around 140,000 tons. This would be 29 per cent under last June, but the comparison is misleading because last year June production was unprecedentedly high as compared with the rest of the year.

Approximate Other Junes.

The rate would approximate that in June of the best years of the past, but a disconcerting fact is that as far back as 1923 there was substantially the same June production. Steel has such a habit of increasing year by year that a seven year throwback is a serious thing.

On the other hand, there have been much worse showings. In 1927 June was 20 per cent under the preceding March, while in 1924 July was about one-half of the best preceding July. By the broader view, the half year's production is running about 18 per cent under last year, and less than 5 per cent under 1928, while it approximates or exceeds production in the first half of previous years.

The comparison may look relatively favorable from a broad business viewpoint, but not from the steel makers viewpoint, because of the increase in capacity and in particular because of the decrease from last year. Steel producers habitually consider it their duty to emulate the best previous record.

Expect Dull Summer.

It is regarded as fairly well settled that while steel will, in a sense, have a dull summer, there will be no greater than average recession. The relatively poor general trade conditions will not affect steel in the summer any more than hitherto, if as much. This much being in clear prospect, interest centers on the outlook for autumn. An improvement in business in general would help steel, but steel can well be studied from its own particular circumstances.

In certain consuming lines there are seasonal swings which regularly have tended to make the second half lighter in tonnage than the first half, although allowing a substantial upturn when July is dull.

In the first place there are rails for replacement purposes, which are bought annually, chiefly for delivery in the first half of a year.

U. S. SHARE OF YOUNG PLAN BOND ISSUE MAY APPROACH 100 MILLION

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 8.—If the agreement outlined by the subcommittee is approved by the bankers assembling here Tuesday, then the amount of the Young plan bonds issued in the United States market will in reality closely approach a maximum of $100,000,000, which, the Washington government informed J. P. Morgan, would meet an unofficial opposition.

The American shares approved by the bankers' committee here, was fixed at $84,000,000 to $85,000,000. However, under the terms of The Hague protocol, the totals in bond issue figures do not refer to nominal or par value of these obligations, but to its productive value.

As the bonds in the United States under a tentative arrangement will be issued at 88, the actual productive value of the United States share at $85,000,000 will thus be raised to about $100,000,000 at par, and the total amount of the first Young plan loan will in actuality attain about $340,000,000, instead of the nominal $300,000,000.

In France, however, the rate of issue will be ten per cent higher, according to the agreed terms. Thus French purchasers buying Young plan bonds will be obliged to pay 98, instead of 88, in London or New York, or other international markets. The reason given for this difference is that the French government passed a special law exempting Young bonds from taxation, while taxes apply in other markets.

The difference in taxes, however, isn't so great as ten per cent in issuing price and it appears probable that the French government desires to encourage French buyers to obtain their bonds in foreign currency on foreign markets.

BENDIX AVIATION WOULD BUY CONS. INSTRUMENT CO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 8.—Plans for the sale of the Consolidated Instrument Company of America, Inc., and its subsidaries to the Bendix Aviation corporation has been approved by the directors of the instrument company and will be submitted to stockholders on July 9, it was announced today.

The offer from the Bendix company is to pay 16,416 shares of its stock for the assets of the instrument company and its three subsidiaries, the Julian P. Friez & Sons, Inc., Philadelphia, the Aircraft Control corporation and the Molded Insulation company of Philadelphia. The exchange would be on a basis of one share of the Bendix stock for each twelve shares of the instrument company stock.

The recent formation of the General Aviation corporation by General Motors and the fact that the motors company has substantial holdings in Bendix have caused the impression in some quarters that the expansion program upon which the Bendix company has embarked is allied with the announced plan of the General Aviation corporation to include other companies in the merger of the Fokker Aircraft corporation and the Dornier Flying Boat company of America, which are the two companies announced as being the first subsidiaries of General Aviation.

Hudson Bay Mining & S. Votes Increase in Capital

New York, June 8.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting company have approved an increase in the capital stock to 3,000,000 shares from 2,500,000, and the creation of a $5,000,000 issue of 6 per cent convertible debenture bonds.

See Success in Financing of Treasury

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 8.—The banking community here is unanimous in the opinion that the new treasury financing on June 16, comprising an issue of $400,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, will be a huge success despite the fact that the interest rate of 2⅞ per cent is the lowest on any government issue since 1925. Bankers pointed out that the issue is $150,000,000 less than the maturing issue of 4⅞ per cent certificates of indebtednesses, so that if a substantial amount of latter are turned in in exchange for the new issue only a relatively small amount will be available for new subscriptions.

Banks throughout the country are expected to enter heavy subscriptions in view of the fact that there is a distinct scarcity of short term tax exempt bonds in the market. The new issue, known as series TJ, will mature in one year. A concrete example of the demand for short term tax exempts was the sale of an issue of Westchester county, New York, one year certificates of indebtedness, last week at a price of par for the issue as 2.95s. The city of Yonkers, N. Y., also sold last week an issue of 6 months' 2.70s at par.

With the expectation of easy money rates, especially around June 16, it is generally believed that the new issue of treasuries will be heavily oversubscribed. The certificates of indebtedness enjoy the same tax features of the Liberty 3½s. It is also believed that the next financing to be done by the treasury will be in the form of treasury bills to be sold at a discount.

The first issue of treasury bills matures on July 14, 1930, and the second on Aug. 18, 1930. Later, on Sept. 15, 1930, the treasury will have to meet a maturity of the 3⅛ per cent certificates of indebtedness, series TS, and on the same date it will have the option of redeeming an issue of 3½ per cent treasury notes, series B, maturing on Sept. 15, 1932. The final maturity of the year is an issue of 3¼ per cent certificates of indebtedness, due Dec. 15, 1930.

American Colortype Co. Calls Special Meeting

A special meeting of the stockholders of the American Colortype company has been called for June 23 to vote upon increasing the common stock from 150,000 to 300,000 shares. George W. Reynolds, chairman, states that "the immediate need of increasing the capital arises from the fact that we have reached an agreement" to acquire the American Art Works, Inc., of Koshocton, O., to be made through an exchange of stock.

Yellow Coach Deliveries in May Exceed $3,500,000

Pontiac, Mich., June 8—[Special.]—General Motors Truck reports Yellow Coach deliveries for May as the largest in the history of the company, amounting to more than $3,500,000. This sum represents sale of 403 buses, mostly of the large capacity type. The total compares with deliveries valued at $1,535,000 for the corresponding month of last year.

Believes Publicity Would Benefit Investment Trusts

BY SCRUTATOR.

There is no particular magic involved in the operations of the investment trusts. On the other hand, they appear to have done better during the first quarter of this year than the average market trader could have been expected to do.

An analysis of thirty-four investment companies, made by Walter N. Durst, shows that in three months their total assets increased by 29.4 per cent and that the common stocks of the listed investment companies appreciated by 31.4, while the general market as a whole bettered its stock prices by 17 per cent.

Another analysis, by Dr. R. S. Tucker, showed that during the year 1929 fifteen of forty-five investment companies for which he had figures made net profits of from 1 per cent to more than 37 per cent. The average of all these companies was a loss of from 3 to 4 per cent each, which could not be regarded as bad.

Careful Selection.

The mere fact, however, that one investment trust profited by more than 37 per cent and the worst of the losers suffered by 50 per cent shrinkage in values demonstrates that care is needed in choosing investment companies, just as it is needed in choosing any other kind of investment.

Altogether there are some 500 companies of this kind in the United States today, and their assets are guessed at about four billion dollars. The record of comparatively small losses for the average company in a smash year like 1929 and of good recovery in the early part of 1930 indicates that they have successfully met a trying test in the opinion of the New York Trust company.

It appears probable that the future will see a period of mergers in the investment trust field in order to get more economical management. The movement toward greater publicity is marked. Eighteen large companies have listed their stocks on the New York stock exchange and must, in accordance with its rules, publish their portfolios at least once a year.

Works Out in Theory.

There has never been anything wrong with the theory of the investment trust. It offered diversification over a wide field for the man with a small amount of money. Theoretically it gave him the benefit of good management in making investments and charged him a little fee for it. Usually it did these things in practice.

On the other hand, the system itself gives opportunities for harm where managements are not over able or are desirous of getting rid of slow moving securities by absorbing them with funds derived from the sale of investment company stocks. That this element is small and will grow smaller with better publicity, greater regulation and enlightening of the public seems assured.

Pennsylvania Holds Lead in Rolled Steel Output

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 8.—Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana maintained their positions last year as the leading producers of all kinds of finished rolled iron and steel, according to a special statistical bulletin issued by the American Iron and Steel institute. Pennsylvania reported total production last year of 14,860,360 tons, compared with 13,069,352 tons in 1928. Ohio and Indiana, the second and third states, respectively, showed corresponding gains.

New York, June 8.—For the fiscal year ended May 31 the Union American Investing corporation reports gross earnings of $924,169 and net profits after all expenses, interest and taxes of $667,107, equivalent to $6.44 a share on the 103,517 common shares. The total assets increased from $6,378,800 to $6,960,803 in the year, and the assets value of the common stock increased from $37.99 on 102,090 shares to $43.09 on the present capitalization.

UNCERTAINTY OF TREND MUDDLES TRADE OUTLOOK

Bear Drive May Help Clear the Air.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 8.—Both at home and abroad the one novel aspect presented in last week's financial situation was the spirit of uncertainty as to what was the actual trend of things and of increasing hesitation about predicting when the period of readjustment will end and what will end it.

Probably that attitude on the part of a good many usually competent observers was the real explanation for the "bear drive" at the stock market in last week's closing days. It may or may not clear the air, so far as concerns stock exchange opinion. For the rest, it will remain for the usual trade indications during the next three months to show what is the actual underlying trend.

All periods of severe business reaction pass through several identical and well defined stages. The Wall street crash invariably gives notice of what is coming, but even Wall street always emerges from its own critical period with the belief that nothing has happened except readjustment of an overdone stock speculation.

Reaction Follows Afterward.

Trade reaction, accompanied by unexpectedly rapid fall in prices for commodities, follows shortly afterward. It causes some misgiving, but the alarm is usually mitigated not by the terminating of contraction in trade activities or by a halt to falling prices of goods but by a sharp recovery on the stock exchange. This phase of the reactionary period, such as occurred last March and April, merely

At present prices Western Union Common is selling about twelve times 1929 per share earnings. At this level the stock appears to be attractive for investment accumulation. Split-up rumors give the issue a speculative appeal. Detailed analysis upon request.

Each $1,000 Note may be converted, at the option of the holder, prior to maturity or redemption, upon surrender thereof with all unmatured coupons attached, into Common Stock of the Company on the same basis as the Series A Preferred Stock, namely: on or before December 31, 1932, into 20 shares; thereafter on or before June 1, 1935, into 17.5 shares, in each case without adjustment for accruals of interest or dividends.

The following is summarized from a letter of Mr. Martin J. Insull, President of Middle West Utilities Company:

Business: Middle West Utilities Company owns or controls through stock ownership public utility companies, rendering essential services in 30 states of the United States and in 2 provinces of the Dominion of Canada. The estimated population of the 4,405 communities served, as of December 31, 1929, by subsidiaries was 6,306,942, and of these communities 4,244 are served with electricity. At December 31, 1929, the subsidiary companies had 1,648,252 customers. Of the gross operating earnings included in the consolidated statement for the calendar year 1929, over 73% was derived from the generation, transmission, and distribution of electrical energy and approximately 8% from gas, a total of 81%.

Purpose: The proceeds from the sale of these Notes will be used in the development of the subsidiary companies and for general corporate purposes.

Security and Equity: These Notes will be a direct obligation of the Company. The preferred and common stock issues of the Company are listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange and have a combined market value as indicated by recent quotations of over $500,000,000.

Earnings: Net earnings of subsidiaries after operating expenses, taxes, rentals, maintenance and retirement appropriation were $63,041,376 and $56,614,443 for the calendar years 1929 and 1928, respectively. Of these amounts, $17,284,342 accrued to Middle West Utilities Company in 1929, and $12,024,108 in 1928. Other accruing income, net, of $5,633,554 and $4,245,357 for 1929 and 1928, respectively, brought the total income of Middle West Utilities Company up to $22,917,896 in 1929 and $16,269,465 in 1928. This compares with the maximum annual interest requirements on these Serial Convertible Gold Notes, of $2,450,000.

Control and Management: Middle West Utilities Company and subsidiaries at December 31, 1929, had approximately 296,000 stockholders. The management of the subsidiary companies is in the hands of experienced public utility men whose ability as economical and efficient operators has been thoroughly demonstrated.

UNCERTAINTY OF TREND MUDDLES TRADE OUTLOOK

Bear Drive May, or May Not, Clear the Air.

repeated the similar movement which was witnessed on a greater or lesser scale in April of 1921, in March and April, 1908, and in March, 1894.

While it was happening on all occasions of the sort, Wall street would invariably predict immediate ending to the trade reaction. That was its attitude last March. Discovery that the reactionary process was still under way coincided, on all those previous occasion as it did a month ago, with sudden renewal of the break in stocks. The sequel always was a season of profound inertia on financial markets, with stock exchange speculation at low ebb and with the whole community's attention directed not to such general indications as the course of stocks or money but to the tangible signs of continuing industrial reaction, or of returning stability, or of actual recovery in general trade.

This anxious scrutiny is now being applied by every one. No indication is too small to pass unnoticed. A week's better showing in "loadings of less than carlot merchandise," an advance of the bid for "melting steel scrap," are canvassed even by Wall street as anxiously as brokers' loans and monthly steel production used to be.

The last week's market may reasonably be described as reflecting a general attitude in the financial community of perplexity but not of acute misgiving, of uncertainty over some aspects in the situation but of belief that in the long run the position will be satisfactorily cleared up. Beyond this, the existing position is largely one of suspended judgment.

REDEMPTION NOTICE

To the Holders of Memphis Natural Gas Company First Mortgage Six Per Cent Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Dated as of August 1, 1928; Due August 1, 1943

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the provisions of that certain Indenture of Mortgage, dated as of August 1, 1928, made by Memphis Natural Gas Company, a Delaware corporation, to The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities and C. Stevenson Newhall, as Trustees, that Memphis Natural Gas Company has duly elected to exercise its right to redeem on June 27, 1930, all of said First Mortgage Six Per Cent Sinking Fund Gold Bonds issued and now outstanding under said Indenture of Mortgage and that all of such bonds are hereby called for redemption and will be redeemed on June 27, 1930, at the principal office of The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, at the South East corner of Fifteenth and Chestnut Streets, in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, by payment of the principal amount of all such bonds, interest accrued thereon to the said date of redemption and a premium thereon equal to three per cent (3%) of the principal amount of such bonds. At the time of such redemption said Memphis Natural Gas Company will issue to the bearers or registered holders of all of said First Mortgage Six Per Cent Sinking Fund Gold Bonds surrendered for redemption in respect of which the stock purchase privileges evidenced thereby have not previously been exercised, purchase certificates as provided in Section 7.02 of said Indenture of Mortgage evidencing the continuation of the stock purchase privileges expressed in such bonds, respectively.

You are further notified that Memphis Natural Gas Company has deposited with the Trustee cash in an amount sufficient fully to redeem all of the aforesaid bonds now issued and outstanding in the aforesaid manner and has further deposited with said Trustee purchase certificates for delivery as above provided. Bearers and registered holders of said bonds should present the same, together with all unmatured coupons thereto appertaining, at the principal office of the Trustee above specified, for redemption on or after June 27, 1930. All of such bonds registered as to principal should be duly assigned to bearer. From and after June 27, 1930 interest in respect of all of said bonds now issued and outstanding shall cease.

Memphis Natural Gas Company has instructed said Trustee that if any of said bonds, together with all appertaining unmatured interest coupons, are surrendered at the said office of said Trustee by the bearers or registered holders thereof prior to the redemption date (June 27, 1930) together with a written request that the Trustee take up and cancel the same upon payment of the principal amount thereof, interest accrued thereon to the date of such surrender and a premium of three per cent (3%) of such principal amount, and upon issuance of the purchase certificates, if any, to which such bearers or registered holders would be entitled upon the redemption of such bonds as above provided, then the Trustee shall comply with such request and said Trustee has agreed to follow said instructions.

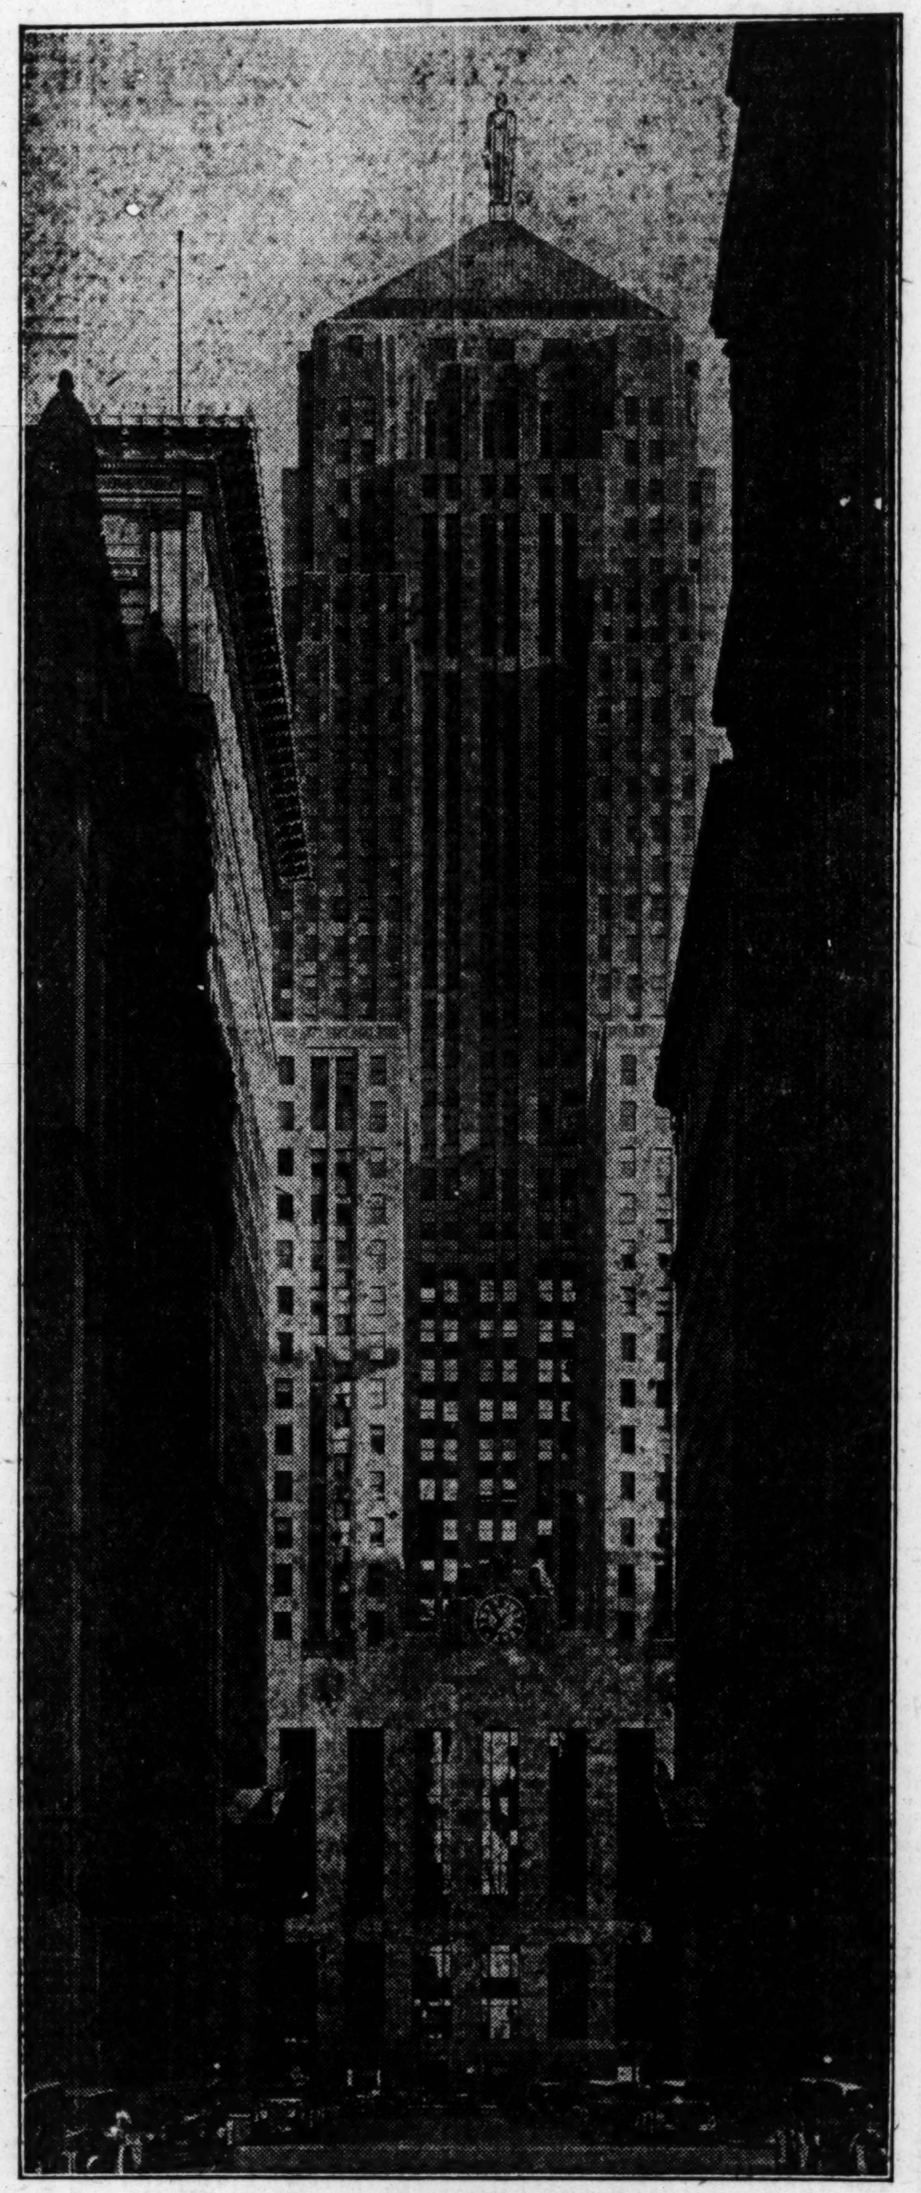
AN OLD AND HONORED INSTITUTION DEDICATES, TODAY, ITS NEW HOME..



HERE it stands, completed, the new Board of Trade Building, monarch of La Salle Street, towering head and shoulders above its neighbors, commanding focal point of Chicago's financial heart.

Every inch a proud and soaring thing, it sweeps upward 44 stories to the massive statue of Ceres, Goddess of Grain and Harvests, 609 feet above the pavement. Within its vast entrance lobby a great bulletin board proudly lists, as tenants, commercial and financial names famed and respected to the ends of the earth.

What mighty force created this great structure? What invisible magnet drew close to this intersection of La Salle Street and Jackson Boulevard the concentrated activities of business? Since 1885 the old Chicago Board of Trade Building, which this great edifice now replaces, stood right here and the financial district has literally grown up in its shadow.

Economists, historians will tell you. It is because grain—cotton—provisions—and grain's resultant—live stock—have been the basic reasons for Chicago's existence, the major factors in her amazing growth, the primary secret of her greatness in commerce and in transportation. Wheat, the staff of life, has given and continues to give life to Chicago. The very immensity of this new building proves the fact. And the long list of famous firms which have located here, to share in the world renown of this honored address, is eloquent testimony to the high regard which those who know the Chicago Board of Trade hold for its efficient economic service.

Chicago's Board of Trade has grown to world leadership. It is the oldest grain exchange. It is the largest in volume of business. The prices which emanate from its trading floor form the basis of buying and selling everywhere on earth. Chicago Board of Trade quotations, the standard in their field, must be available, instantly, everywhere. Hence the Main Trading Floor and Securities Trading Room have grown to be acknowledged nerve centers of business. Beneath their floors are over 2700 miles of telegraph and telephone wires. From this building run direct wires to all the great foreign exchanges and to 540 cities from coast to coast—over 150,000 miles of private wire in all—probably a greater long distance system than radiates from any other commercial structure in the world.

Now, as when founded in 1848, it is an orderly efficient headquarters where the products of nature and man are bought and sold under rules which nearly a century of daily testing have proven fairest for all, producer and consumer alike. Here the most elementary yet profound principle of economics rules—the law of supply and demand. Here competitive bidding creates fair prices. Here the traders in "futures" by working independently and against each other form, as a group, the greatest single insurance factor in the world for both farmer and miller.

The Chicago Board of Trade, by providing facilities for and regulating "futures" trading makes it possible for the farmer to know values and to get a fair price for his crop whenever he chooses to sell. It enables the miller to charge less for his flour through insuring himself against unexpected price fluctuation. It enables the banks to finance, in safety, the movement of crops at a low cost, since all doubts are removed concerning the quality, amount and current value of the grain on which money is loaned. The prosperity of the vast Mississippi and Missouri valleys, in contrast to agricultural conditions in other countries, can largely be attributed to its stabilizing and beneficial effects.

It is fitting that at this time, on its 82nd birthday, this famed organization should enter its new home, twelfth of the series of structures, each better equipped than its predecessor, which have marked its expanding usefulness to the city, the nation and the world.

On the threshold of a greater era of usefulness, in a new building superbly planned to aid its ever-broadening service, the members who comprise this body pledge themselves anew to the principles which animated its founders, resolved to be worthy of this old institution and of its new home.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehen y about the coming visit, because she had received just before sailing a letter from mione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a law , and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't w the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris Catherine a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. frey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her t he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she prom to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants d Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on ying in the apartment as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. der attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the rtment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her k to the apartment.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, re she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in, only to dis er a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the id says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying d believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender apart t he takes her in his arms as he says good-night. Catherine responds to his kiss. asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. On the y to her room she hears Germaine sobbing and goes to her. She retires hurriedly on ne's return. Next morning Catherine is violently ill and the doctor is called in. On overing Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontainebleau.

Geoffrey discovers that Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, eking a possible heir to the Bender fortune. Shortly after this discovery Blom's en ement to Mme. Baron, a widow, whose maiden name is the family name of Mme. der, is announced.

A fire breaks out in Mme. Bender's apartment early in the morning and she is burned death. Most of the building is saved. Catherine had returned suddenly to Paris the t before and when Geoffrey hears of the disaster he rushes to find her.

INSTALLMENT LXI.

CATHERINE DISAPPEARS.

Although from the avenue there was no sign of destruction, the damage s now only too apparent. The windows of the entresol and several on the r immediately above were blackened and smashed to atoms, all visible odwork charred to a crisp, while the three interior walls ran with rivulets water, still dripping into pools on the stones below. The lift, however, was armed, and the larger part of the building appeared to be little injured.

Above, the broad mahogany doors gaped wide. The pale gray carpet was ked through and plastered with muddy footprints, the walls on both sides den with moisture which had seeped through in streaks of discoloration. actual indication of the fire showed, but the entire atmosphere was per ated with the acrid odor of burnt and drenched wood.

Geoffrey entered and glanced about. He perceived a small gathering posed entirely of men, some of them with an official aspect, the rest non ripts whom he took to be representatives of the press. The first excite t had died away, the prevailing atmosphere now being that of tension and tancy.

Rapidly his eyes explored the rooms in search of Catherine, but she was n sight. He was still staring about with a frown of perplexity when a e sergeant, trim and efficient looking in his tight uniform, stepped for d with an interrogatory gesture.

She did not seem to hear him.

"Monsieur?"

Briefly Geoffrey stated his business, the guardian of the law greeting the rmation with a respectful nod.

"There is a relative of Mme. Bender's staying here," whispered the new er into the officer's ear, "a young American lady. Can you tell me where is?"

"An American lady, monsieur? I have not seen her. You believe she here?"

"There is no doubt about it. I am anxious to find her."

The sergeant, a small man with sharp features and black, observant eyes, k his head, his attention straying back towards the salon.

"You must be misinformed, monsieur. I understand there was no one the apartment last night except the two servants. You had better inquire them. There is the butler now——" and he motioned towards the squat re of Eduardo.

The Portuguese, his left arm in a sling and his glistening face daubed h smut, was speaking jerkily to one of the reporters, a grubby Frenchman, o was busily engaged in taking down notes in a battered book. As he ed his bloodshot eyes glanced in Geoffrey's direction, then away without gn of recognition.

For the first time Geoffrey caught sight of a still figure at the far end r the windows, huddled nervelessly in a bergere covered with violet bro le. From a drab countenance, deeply lined, two dull eyes stared up, ex ssionless, apathetic.

They were the eyes of Jeanne.

The maid was wrapped in a dark dressing gown buttoned to the chin. r disordered hair clung in dank whisps to her forehead, her lips were set in straight line. Immobile as an effigy, she sat with her feet in black pan ufles, and her arms, swathed in bandages, resting stiffly upon the wings of chair. If she was aware of Geoffrey's presence she gave no sign.

Geoffrey decided to end his suspense. Moving quickly towards Jeanne, bent over her and spoke in an undertone.

"Jeanne, where is Mlle. West?"

She did not seem to hear him. He repeated the question a little more in tently, and with a visible effort she turned her head, regarding him without rest.

"Mlle. West? But how should I know, monsieur?" she muttered in a less voice. "I have been through too much to think of mademoiselle."

"But you must know where she is," he urged impatiently, trying to fix attention. "Has she gone out?"

Her gaze wandered away. She seemed utterly absorbed in herself, with slack indifference of nervous exhaustion. Again he was forced to repeat words, this time with noticeable impatience.

"But I do not understand," she replied at last. "Surely monsieur is re that I have not seen mademoiselle for a full week."

"Not seen her?"

The words leaped out. Had the woman turned silly? Irritation laid hold him so that he longed to catch her by the shoulders and shake her. Several he men behind him had drawn closer, listening with marked curiosity.

"But you must have seen her! How could you help it? She was here night."

One of the bandaged hands made a slight gesture of protest as much as y that this was scarcely the moment to ask foolish questions.

"You are mistaken, monsieur. It is this evening she is supposed to re n. I should have thought you knew that."

His face reddened with anger. Leaning nearer, he spoke slowly and phatically, as if to a stupid child.

"Listen to me, Jeanne! You know as well as I do that mademoiselle e home last night. The point is, where has she got to?"

For answer he received an uncomprehending shrug and a blank shake of head. Either the maid could not or would not grasp his meaning. Alarm an to creep into his mind. Was it possible she had not seen Catherine? felt utterly at sea.

Eduardo, who had been listening, moved quietly to his side.

"Some mistake, Mr. Macadam," he mumbled. "Miss West did not come e. If you care to look, you'll see for yourself that her room has not occupied."

Speechless with rage, Geoffrey returned the man's unflinching stare. In e of the usual covert insolence in the butler's manner his statement some carried conviction.

"Is this true what you are telling me?" demanded Geoffrey rudely.

"Quite, monsieur, if she had been here, we could not have failed to know ould we?" came the supercilious retort.

Catherine not here! For an instant the room reeled, as though the lis r had been dealt a blow straight between the eyes.

What could it mean?

The news paralyzed Geoffrey's faculties. For the moment he forgot t he had come here primarily to inquire into the circumstances of the nchwoman's death, every consideration submerged in the wave of stag ng doubt that swept over him.

He continued to stare straight into the Portuguese's bloodshot eyes, g in vain to read the thoughts that lurked behind. Then he transferred scrutiny to the sallow face of the woman in the bergere. Both counte ces were like a blank wall, their stony indifference revealing nothing. ther servant appeared to treat his agitation with seriousness, or indeed to w any special interest. Already the maid's eyes had closed with a look of t fatigue, as though their owner wished to escape wearisome arguments.

Abruptly he strode out of the salon, determined to satisfy himself that t part of his informants' statement was true.

Good Morning!

Those in the mood for mirth, monkey-business and music, presented in adept, whole-hearted fashion, will greatly enjoy the "Fox Follies of 1930."

Unlike "Paramount On Parade," Warner Brothers "Show of Shows" or the Fox "Follies of 1929," no attempt is made in this production to present all the company's bright and shining lights. The piece is on the order of an elaborate musical comedy, stringing its episodes on the thread of a story which concerns a playboy youth and his wealthy uncle, whose affairs become entangled with those of two pretty actresses appearing in a show which, later on, is transported to uncle's palatial home for a benefit. [Not a new idea—but it works out effectively in this case.]

William Collier and Huntley Gordon are a likable pair as uncle and nephew. El Brendel as a valet with stage Johnny ambitions and Yola D'Avril as Babette, a maid who loves him truly and ferociously are excellent fun. So is Marjorie White—who's Fox's little white haired child these days. Miriam Seegar is charming as nephew's beloved. BUT, will you please especially notice the work done by Noel Francis who plays Gloria? There's artistry in everything she does.

You will hear some catchy songs, see some attractive costumes and snappy dances, and smile a lot as you watch "The Follies." You will, I'm sure, leave the theater feeling very glad that you entered it.

See you tomorrow.

Radical Singers Offer Music in Its More Conservative Forms

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Freiheit Singing society presented the paradox at Orchestra hall last night of a program radical in intent, an imaginative view of the enslaved universe in its struggle for freedom, as the program had it, yet with music that looked rather squarely at the past.

It is possible that the revolutionary music of the future will continue to be, as it has been in the past, written by the conservatives. Wagner is the typical example of a supposed radical transforming the world of music, but in spite of all the philosophy that Bernard Shaw somewhat laboriously read into the "Ring," it is hard to believe that he mixed very much in the political struggles of his day. And no one else seems to have done as much.

Last night's program was in two parts. The Freiheit Mandolin orchestra took the stage during the first half. It had been announced in a publicity statement to go in for folk songs and workingmen's themes, but these turned out to be chiefly works by Gretry, Arensky, Granados, and others whose reputation as revolutionaries is not marked. The first number, it is true, was the "Internationale," a rallying song for all who are dissatisfied with present conditions. But it must be confessed that without its words, and there were no words last night, it has about one-tenth the emotional excitement of "Dixie."

Anna Karish, organist, was also on the program in a group by Bonnet, Guimant, and Harry Rowe Shelley. Her playing followed the best conventions of the past in charm of performance, registrations, and as smoothly executed scales as one is likely to hear from the most celebrated organists. Then the mandolin society played another group featured by a supposed fugue on a Russian theme by Arensky, which was not in the least a fugue at all.

The Freiheit Singing society took its place during the intermission for two works by J. Schaefer, "Brand un Faier," with words by M. Broderson, and "Moshiach Ben Yosef," a revolutionary cantata with poem by B Shteiman. There can be no doubt that this is rather excellently written music, and no doubt of the earnestness of the performance by the society and M. Shain, its director.

Marion Davies Going East for Lillian Gish Stage Show

Lillian Gish's recent return to the legitimate stage in New York, where she is appearing in "Uncle Vanya," is the magnet that is drawing Marion Davies clear across the continent to see the show, the latter said yesterday as she arrived on the Santa Fe. Miss Davies said she had been told she might pick up some valuable professional pointers from the performance.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

If it were optional, would you take a two weeks' vacation, or would you forego a vacation and take double pay for two weeks?

The Answers.

G. L. Noble, 9738 Prospect avenue, advertising—Let me see, I think I would prefer the money. With double taxes to pay and special assessments for paving I could use the money better than the vacation.

L. R. Thompson, 7722 North Marshfield avenue, tailoring—No, I would prefer the vacation. I believe that every one should take two weeks vacation, because a change of scenery and climate will prolong life and increase happiness.

Miss Edna Trafelet, 5300 West 23d street, nurse — No, I had rather take the long expected vacation. After a year's labor one needs a rest. After all there is no comparison between money and one's health. I, for one, always feel much better after two weeks in the country.

Otto Pfeifer, 1340 North Shore avenue, railroad clerk—On second thought, I would rather work for two weeks with double pay. You know work will never hurt any one, who was interested in the work. Also the money would be more appreciated than the rest.

Mrs. Rose Powell, 2661 West Monroe street, waitress—I should prefer the two weeks with double pay. Because a person can do without a vacation, but the money could be laid away for a day of need. One day's rest a week should be enough for any one.

New Library for Loyola Is Dedicated

Costs $300,000; Gift of E. A. Cudahy.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Ceremonies marking the formal dedication yesterday of the $300,000 library building presented to Loyola university by Edward A. Cudahy in honor of his wife, who was present, also began the sixtieth annual commencement week festivities of the Jesuits' college. The old college, St. Ignatius, was on the west side. Edward Wilhelm Cudahy unveiled the bronze plaque in the new building inscribed with phrases from the donor's letter of presentation.

Hundreds of students and friends of Loyola filled the gymnasium for the dedicatory exercises at two o'clock. Dr. Arthur E. Bostwick of the St. Louis public library was the main speaker, and shorter addresses were made by Carl B. Roden of the Chicago public library and Arthur Mylam of the American Library association.

Presentation of the building was made by Mr. Cudahy, and acceptance on behalf of the university was voiced by President Robert M. Kelly, S. J. Immediately thereafter the new structure was open for inspection.

Announcement was made during the program that an additional gift of $100,000 had been made to the university by Mr. Cudahy as a provision for maintaining and endowing the library.

Three Chicagoans who are to be honored with degrees are Edward A. Cudahy, donor of the memorial library; Mrs. Anthony French Merrill, a niece of James Fenimore Cooper, novelist, and Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, president of the Illinois State Historical society.

Out of a student body of 6,000 in eight different departments Loyola will graduate 714 on Wednesday, after one of the most successful years in the history of the university.

Northwestern university will hold its seventy-second annual commencement in Patten gymnasium next Monday, June 16, with a graduating class exceeding by 100 the record class of 1929. Aproximately 1,500 candidates will be presented for degrees, the college of liberal arts leading all other schools with 375 graduates.

More candidates for advanced degrees are to be presented this year than ever before, the list numbering eighteen for doctor of philosophy, of whom five are women; eighty-two for master of arts, twenty-three for master of science, and five for master of science in journalism.

Graduates of the commerce school of De Paul university will be guests tomorrow night of the Commerce Graduate Club of De Paul, at the sixth annual dinner tendered by the alumni to the seniors, at the Bismarck hotel. Short addresses will be made by prominent members of the alumni association and responses by the members of the graduating class.

Baptists Dedicate Home for Aged at Maywood

The Rev. Dr. Johnston Myers, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, 2320 South Michigan avenue, presided yesterday afternoon at the dedication of the new $253,000 Baptist Old Peoples' home, Maywood. The building expands the capacity of the present home to accommodate 175 persons. Formerly 43 persons could be accommodated. There are three floors of double and single rooms, lounges, and sun parlors. The entire fourth floor is devoted to a hospital.

TWO HESSIAN NOBLES ARE ENGAGED TO TWO GREEK PRINCESSES

BERLIN, June 8.—(AP)—A double betrothal between the former royal houses of Greece and Hesse has been formally announced.

The engagement of hereditary Grand Duke George Donatus of Hesse, 23 years old, and eighteen year old Princess Cecilie of Greece, previously reported unofficially in the Berlin papers, was confirmed by an announcement from Darmstadt today.

The court marshal of the landgrave of Hesse also announced the engagement of Prince Christophe Ernest Auguste, youngest son of Landgrave Friedrich, and the Princess Sophie, daughter of Prince Andrew of Greece. Princess Sophie will be sixteen June 26. Prince Christophe's brother, Philippe, married Princess Mafalda of Italy in 1925.

THE STAGE

THE Goodman theater closed its fifth season with last night's performance of John Galsworthy's "Escape," and thus the régime of Thomas Wood Stevens as its director came to an end. The company gave a party for the retiring director back stage after the show. It was an eomtional occasion, for many members of the company and the technical staff are also leaving the Goodman.

The plans for next season, under the direction of Hubert Osborne, are still in a formative phase and no announcement has been made beyond assurances that the Goodman will remain an "art theater," with ambitions for progress and better acting. Among the possibilities on the schedule of plays, it is said, are a comedy by a Restoration dramatist; a comedy by Molière; a play by Bernard Shaw if the Theater Guild will give permission (this is probably "You Never Can Tell"); and a revival of "Peter Pan," if Maude Adams, the Frohman éstate and the author give permission, which is doubtful.

Mr. Stevens will immediately turn his attention to the staging of a pageant of his own authorship at Ohio State university June 30. This will be a dramatized chronicle of the history of education in the old northwest territory, and will be presented under the auspices of the universities and colleges of Ohio. The performance will take place in the stadium at Columbus, O.

Mr. Stevens also has a commission to write and stage an elaborate pageant for the celebration of the centennial of Oberlin college, about three years hence—an affair which will be the dedication of a new open air theater at Oberlin. Incidentally, it is likely that Jessie Bonstelle will stage his adaptation of "Tour du Monde" at the Detroit Civic theater this summer, in which case he will serve as advisory stage director.

Charlotte Greenwood will close her engagement in "Mebbe" at the Studebaker theater next Saturday night, after seven weeks in Chicago. "The Little Show" will end its stay at the Selwyn that same evening. Which will leave the Chicago stage in mid-June with only three playbills—an unprecedented condition.

The three pieces that will hold the bridge as long as possible are "Solid South," with Richard Bennett, at the Harris; "Candle Light," with Eugenie Leontovich (and also Donald Brian), at the Princess; and "Sisters of the Chorus," with Edna Hibbard and Enid Markey, at the Apollo.

Under one management or another, it seems likely that Paul Robeson will show his Othello to New York next season. Jed Harris is, of course, eager to have Mr. Robeson perform in his production, which would embody a number of Mr. Harris' ideas and would use neither the other actors nor the decor of the London presentation. The difficulty is that Mr. Robeson is under watertight contract to Maurice Browne, who is eager to bring his complete Savoy theater production (with himself as Iago) to New York, and may do so, as Sidney Ross and others are negotiating to that end. Incidentally, returned travelers report that the Browne production is something less than a great London hit.

Whatever happens in the case of the Robeson Othello Mr. Harris is going right ahead with his preparations for Frank B. Elser's adaptation of "Mr. Gilhooley," which will be tried out early in September and appear on Broadway later that month. In it will be Helen Hayes, Arthur Sinclair, John Butler, P. J. Kelly, and Ralph Cullinan.

Club Women Meet in Amphitheater of Colorado Rockies

Mount Morrison, Colo., June 8.—(AP)—In the natural amphitheater of the red rocks, west of here in the Colorado Rockies, members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs gathered today for their biennial memorial service.

"Singleness of purpose has drawn members of the general federation into a close bond of love," said Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Pasadena, Cal., past president of the general federation, in the memorial address.

"We are left to carry on the ideals fostered by the loved ones who have departed. Their cause and ours is one, and in honoring their memory we must not fail them."

Hoover Adviser Decries Legally Forced Reforms

Says Social Science Uses Other Means.

Boston, Mass., June 8.—(AP)—"Reform" or "uplift" movements are far removed from genuine social work, Dr. Miriam Van Waters, president of the National Conference of Social Work, said at the opening of the 57th annual meeting of that organization in Boston tonight.

Conference officials estimate that more than 5,000 visitors from every part of the United States and Canada and from foreign countries, members of 40 separate groups, will participate in the more than 300 meetings being held here this week.

Dr. Van Waters, who is referee of the Los Angeles Juvenile court and who at present is on leave of absence as consultant for President Hoover's commission on law observance and enforcement, declared that research was the characteristic of the present era of social service.

"Reformers," said Dr. Van Waters, "commonly have a low opinion of mankind, but the attitude of the social worker is one of respect. Public opinion confuses the two, and is mistaken in this. The social worker finds in those with whom he deals qualities showing regard for others, self-sacrifice, and loyalty quite as commonly as poverty, avarice, and crime.

"To attempt by means of legislative and constitutional reform to arrange matters so that the interests of some will not conflict with those of their fellows wholly lacks the concept of personality and relies too much on rewards and punishments."

Dr. Van Waters said it was this attitude toward personality which set the social worker apart from reformers adopting a program of militant warfare.

"The social worker has built up a concept of the laws which lie at the foundation of behavior," she said. "When the idea of causation appears, praise and blame disappear. We hear no more about the 'worthy poor,' but we hear a great deal about the vital quest of the way of life."

GARRETT INSTITUTE RECALLS 75 YEARS AS DIVINITY SCHOOL

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Celebration of 75 years of history of Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, began yesterday in connection with the spring quarter commencement of the seminary. The exercises will continue until Wednesday night. Yesterday morning, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church gave the baccalaureate sermon before the 35 graduates.

Bishop Hughes in his sermon recalled that yesterday was recognized by most of the Christian world as the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost, regarded by many as the birthday of the Christian church. He declared that ministers for the present day are in need of the same spiritual power as was possessed by the first members of the church, and that without that power no pastor of the present day would be able to do effective work.

The anniversary program will be continued this morning. Then Chicago Methodist Episcopal pastors will be the guests of the institute. The Rev. Dr. Halford E. Luccock, Yale university, will speak on "Preaching for the Present Day." President John Timothy Stone of the Presbyterian Theological seminary will preside. Dean Shailer Mathews of the divinity school of the University of Chicago will open the discussion following the address.

Tonight a historical pageant showing the history of the institute will be held in Patten gymnasium. The school was founded by a bequest from Mrs. Liza Garrett of $300,000 which has grown in value in the 75 years to something in excess of $5,000,000. More than 2,300 students have graduated during its history and have worked in every section of the world.

The Rev. Dr. F. C. Eiselen is the seventh president of the institute. The first class to graduate consisted of one member, while in 1929 there were 85 graduates in the four classes. The pageant tomorrow night will depict the world-wide influence of the school, as well as the fact that students from many nations have been attracted to Garrett.

Doris Sublets Her Column to Members of Young Generation

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Out of the mouths of the younger generation come words of wisdom for the young generation. Who knows better their code, their secret longings, their ambitions, and what course of conduct brings most popular returns? Certainly not us "grannies" who aren't invited to their parties nor let in on their whispered conferences!

So, for a couple of days, I move we let the younger ones sublet this department to air their views for the benefit of each other. Incidentally, I expect we elders may be considerably enlightened by the wholesome point of view exhibited.

"Alice" opens the young folks' conference. Naturally, her subject would be the one closest to the hearts of her sisters—how to be popular.

She offers her own case to prove that "girls who do not pet need not sit at home alone." Twenty-one, no more than average in appearance, Alice bats a record of five or six attractive men friends whom she has difficulty in satisfying with dates.

"Sure," Alice records, "they all wanted to kiss at first, but I soon relieved them of the idea. A clever girl can deviate the desires of the male so that rather than maul they will go in for more decent behavior. Some men, it is true, do not lend themselves so readily to alteration as others, but you don't have to bother with the 'some' while there are others."

Students Tell Story of Work with Paintings

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Student exhibitions always are stimulating. The National Academy of Art, 230 East Ohio street, under the directorship of Hubert Ropp, has put on an unusually interesting exhibit. There are paintings in oil and studies in water color, designs for interior decoration and for advertising, and a group of sculpture.

Of themselves possibly the paintings lack authority, but when the problems which they have fulfilled are set before you then their essential value is made clear. For example, some of the most effective portraiture seems unfinished. This is unreasonable except when you are told that each canvas is the result of but four periods of work. Then the finished head and the hastily sketched body or the adequate background and the suggested figure fall into their proper proportions and you are amazed at the grasp of the young artist on his subject.

Another amusing stunt which Mr. Ropp carries through all the classes is to give the students a covered table. Under the covering he has arranged a number of unrelated objects. Apples, a pineapple, a dish, vegetables, a bowl, a plate, candy, a little of anything and everything out of which pictorial composition may be evolved. The students reach their hand under the cloth, choose by touch the things they wish to paint, arrange them mentally, and then make their picture sight unseen. One pupil has a most effective arrangement, fresh and bizarre and colorful, in four apples on a purple plate, with a stick of red and white peppermint candy by the side, all set against a green background.

Another diversion in instruction is to have the pupils look at a group of objects, then either turn their backs or leave the room and paint what they remember. These methods train the eye and the memory and develop an imagination. The resulting work is extremely interesting. Even the young children practice the exercise, and their part of the exhibit is well worth while.

The designs for interior decoration are stimulating. This training is being extended into a two year course, with half the time devoted to actual problems and the other half to background instruction, familiarity with textures, history, periods, and so on. The proof of the pudding lies in the eating, they say, and Mr. Ropp's methods are successful, for his pupils are placed in jobs almost before they have left the shelter of the school. The exhibition will continue through June.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

K. L.: EACH ONE SHOULD HAVE his own comb and brush and keep it thoroughly clean. The brush may be washed with soap and water. Dry in the sun if possible.

M. K.: BLISTERS CAUSED BY perspiration may be relieved by the application of spirits of camphor on a piece of cheese cloth.

Elegance Is the Elusive Quality We All Strive For

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The perfection of elegance! Does it sound like a large order to be? It is —fairly large. But many more women could be it, according to the formula of a noted Parisian couturier, a recent visitor to our country.

To him, as he put it while here, "elegance is the most elusive quality a woman can possess. It depends on her intelligence. When you know that a woman was chic, that she was beautiful and yet you cannot remember what it was that she wore, then be assured that you have witnessed the perfection of elegance."

Clothes can be forgotten, he added, only when the ensemble is perfect. Clothes must complement personality as well as coloring and features to achieve perfection.

Many women get their perfection of elegance by having a hubby or a papa with the kind of bank account that permits them to turn themselves over to a clever stylist. Many get it by using their own heads and their own pay envelopes. Anyway, this whole dress business is opening up beauty avenues for women that never before thought of dress as a great beauty influence. And the recipe for perfection of elegance can be no better put than was done by the famous Frenchman.

But let's adapt it to the things we associate with straight beautifying. Let's take makeup, for instance. The perfection of elegance in makeup is just as worthy a struggle as dress elegance. When a woman was beautiful and chic and you can't remember that her features were especially noticeable, you may be sure she knew her paint pots. Furthermore, you may be sure that she was groomed in every detail of personal upkeep. Otherwise, you would have remembered that her cheek coloring was too high, her eye shadow too heavy, her lipstick was used with little artistry; her hair not smartly coiffed.

What goes for dress perfection goes for the physical characteristics of the woman or for the things she does or does not do to embellish her physical self.

Passing on Instructions.

Little Bill had been told repeatedly to clean his plate if he wanted dessert. One evening a distinguished surgeon was invited to dinner.

To my embarrassment 'little Bill looked at the doctor's plate and said, "You gotta clean your plate or mother won't give you any dessert."

E. L.

Wished Herself Miles Away.

As a stranger in the town I was chatting with two of my neighbors when one of them addressed me:

"Mrs. W., what would you think of me dyeing my hair?"

"O, no, don't do it," I answered. "I think dyed hair looks terrible and besides the gray locks are always peeping out and telling the truth. Be your age and be proud of it."

And the third woman exclaimed, "Why, I dye mine."

I wished that I had been a thousand miles away.

Bolero and Waistcoat for the Girl About Town

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Paris fashions are becoming more and more telegraphic in style as the weather gets warmer. There is a tendency to abbreviate everything except hemlines. Evening wraps shrink into short jackets, capes into capelets, coats into boleros.

There is nothing so delightful on a slender figure as the tailored bolero suit which has been adopted by many of the smartest members of the younger set for their courses around Paris in these last days before the big flitting. Fuller figures had best beware, for while the bolero is a handy figure saver and throws out the waist line to many a princess, yet this particular version of it implies extreme youth.

The bolero suit sketched above was seen on a naively chic debutante lunching with her mother at the Ritz the other day. It was in Bugatti blue crêpe romain. The collarless bolero is cut out to show the tucked front of the white handkerchief linen blouse. Its sides continue into cravat ties.

She has obviously "shot her cuffs" of starched handkerchief linen, amusingly mannish, fastened by mirror links that match the buttons of the plastron. The snug fitting sleeveless waistcoat of Bugatti blue crêpe is buttoned by four self covered buttons and drapes slightly round the waist. Three pointed topped, panel box plaits mounted on the skirt, front and back, give it a slightly flaring line at the hem, which is sixteen inches from the floor—a couple of inches shorter than the skirt worn by our young elegante's mother.

The line of the hat, with its shallow squarish crown and rolled up front brim widening toward the sides, is new and youthful. This little girl had chosen it in white starched linen, trimmed with a band of blue crêpe attached by a mirrored harness buckle in the back.

Food Talk.

It is human nature to choose attractive food. Even the little child will reach for the brilliant red apple, rather than one not so beautifully colored, or the striped stick of candy instead of a plain colored lemon stick. As we grow older, texture, size, arrangement and harmony of color are qualities that appeal to us.

A home economics friend of mine believes this desire for beauty has become exaggerated. She holds that we have acquired this idea of appearance and have gone beyond reason in demanding beautiful color at the expense of other desirable qualities. Just the other day she was served some brilliant blue green peas that were most disappointing. They were marrow-fat peas and necessarily of varying sizes. Some were hard and others were soft. Somewhere on the road to the table, these peas lost their naturally fine flavor. I can fully appreciate my friend's rebellious feeling.

All of this brings up the question, did the flavor of the peas have to be sacrificed in order to preserve the color? It did not. One of the first requisites in cooking peas is to know peas. There are some points to consider in buying, as well as in cooking. Fresh peas should never be bought shelled. It takes a little time to do the shelling, and it is the kind of job that will allow us to do a little meditating. Buy them in the pod, and be sure the pods are fresh and crisp. This insures tenderness and sweetness.

The green color of peas is best preserved when they are cooked in a moderate amount of water until just tender. The water must be boiling before the peas are added. Use about one cup of water for each cup of peas. For each quart of water add 1 teaspoonful of salt to the water. Cook the peas in the uncovered vessel 25 to 30 minutes or until just tender. No longer.

This method of cooking allows all the volatile acid which is so harmful to green color to escape. Peas that cook in acid water do not retain their color. Those that cook in slightly alkaline water remain a beautiful green. Chicago city water is distinctly alkaline. In communities where the water is neutral or even acid, not more than 1-16 teaspoon baking soda which is an alkaline substance, may be added for each quart of water to preserve the color.

When a few pea pods are added to the cooking water a more delicate flavor is given to the peas. A few mint leaves give peas a distinctive flavor that is attractive especially when they are to be served with lamb.

RECIPES.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP.

4 bunches fresh or 2 No. 1 cans asparagus.
1 slice medium onion.
1 tablespoon chopped parsley.
2 tablespoons butter.
4 tablespoons flour.
2 tablespoons salt.
2¼ cups chicken or meat broth.
(Bouillon made from chicken bouillon cubes may be used.)
1¾ cups milk.

Remove scales and tough outside portions from lower end of stalks. Wash and cut off the tips about two inches long. Cook stalks, onion and parsley in enough water to cover until almost done. Add tips and finish cooking about 10 minutes longer. Remove tips. Press stalks through a sieve. (If canned asparagus is used press stalks through sieve and reserve tips.) There should be 2 2-3 cups of pulp and liquid. If not add water. In the meantime prepare a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt, broth and milk. Add pulp and reheat. When ready to serve add asparagus tips.

Yield: 6 servings: 1 serving total: 107 calories; protein, 123 calories; fat, 55 calories; carbohydrates, 36 calories.

JELLIED PEAR SALAD.

1 No. 2½ can pears.
Boiling water.
1½ tablespoons gelatin softened in 4 tablespoons cold water.
3 tablespoons lemon juice.
Crisp lettuce leaves.
1 cup cooked mayonnaise.
1 tablespoon sugar.
1 tablespoon juice from canned pears.

Drain juice from canned pears and measure. Add enough boiling water to juice to make 1 pint. Reheat to boiling point and pour over the softened gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Cool slightly, add lemon juice and pour into a square pan. Arrange halves of pears round side up in gelatin mixture. Place in refrigerator to stiffen.

Cut into squares so that a half pear is in each serving. Serve on a bed of lettuce leaves. In the meantime have cream chilled. Whip with a rotary egg beater until stiff. Fold in the mayonnaise, sugar, and juice. Serve 2 tablespoons dressing on each salad.

Yield: 9 servings. One serving: Total, 234 calories; protein, 4 calories; fat, 193 calories; carbohydrates, 37 calories.

CHOCOLATE MILK SHAKE.

2 tablespoons cocoa syrup.
Chipped ice.

Put all the ingredients into a fruit jar or a cocktail shaker and shake vigorously or whisk with an egg beater. Yield: Two servings. To make chocolate malted milk add 4 teaspoons plain malted milk mixed to a smooth paste with 1½ teaspoons milk to the chocolate milk shake given above. Shake vigorously.

Yield: Two servings. One serving: Total, 263 calories; protein, 37 calories; fat, 95 calories; carbohydrates, 131 calories.

COCOA SIRUP.

⅛ teaspoon salt.
2 cups sugar.
2 teaspoons vanilla.

Mix the cocoa and half the water to a smooth paste. Add the rest of the water and cook directly over a flame, stirring until thickened and smooth. This will be about the boiling point. Add salt and sugar. Boil to 220 F., or about three minutes, stirring continuously. Cool slightly before adding vanilla.

Pour into a sterile jar and seal tightly. Yield: two cups. If there is less than this quantity add boiling water. One tablespoon: Total, 186 calories; protein, 6 calories; fat, 15 calories; carbohydrates, 165 calories.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

A Pitiful Plea.

"I was laid up for more than two years with gangrene in both legs and last March I had to have them amputated below the knees. After spending all the money we had saved and could borrow I am able to go to work again. I live a mile and a half from the street car and four blocks from a bus and it is too far to walk on my knees, but if I could get a car my wife could drive me back and forth. Could you help me get an old one through your column? W. M."

If you are planning to invest in a new automobile and your old one has reached such a state of dilapidation that it wouldn't be worth turning in, won't you give it to this unfortunate man? Perhaps it could be repaired and put in running condition for him.

There's a Crying Need for Movies Adapted to Needs of Children

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A booklet by Mrs. Bevans on "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them" will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The subject of movies for children is a big one. The answer that was given in Sunday's article to the motion picture producers was only a drop in the bucket, because movies for children is a live, important matter, with so much to be said about it that it would fill a book.

One of the things to be said first is that movies are something we've got to accept as part of present day living. The second is, that children are going to be allowed to go to them.

A small proportion of people will keep their children away from them. A little larger proportion will try to do some selecting, having a hard time to find suitable films when they do investigate. But the majority will just let their children go.

There is a tremendous responsibility resting on the shoulders of the producers. All the other arts and industries are meeting the needs of childhood — musicians, artists, shoemakers, publishers, clothing manufacturers, toy makers. There is not the slightest reason why the moving picture industry should not meet the needs of childhood, too. Surely it has reaped enough riches from its child patrons and their parents.

When the producers complain that their Saturday morning and educational movies weren't popular, they are not making out a good case against movies just for children. Children of all people in the world, are the last ones they should expect to go to the movies seeking education. The trouble with the film material made just for children has been that it is'nt entertaining and it isn't good enough.

Children like adult films because they're full of action, scenic effect, and because they tell a story. [And incidentally, the fact that the children like adult movies doesn't mean that they're good for them. Children like lots of things that aren't good for them.] If as much trouble was taken to find stories that children like as is taken with adult films, and then if those stories were well screened, the children would flock to them.

It has been said many times by many people, but it is true—that the movie and the talkie can be made a wholesome, interesting entertainment for children. And it should be. We dress children, feed them, educate them as children—not as adults. Let's not suddenly lose our sense of fitness when it comes to movies. Let us try to create a public opinion that will result in the making of suitable pictures for children. Keeping them away from unsuitable ones is a good means to this end.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

William Lloyd, aged 4, is deathly afraid of dogs, but does not care to admit it. To keep him from running in the house every time a dog passes we have to lock the front door when he is in the yard playing.

One day we answered the door bell, having heard hurried steps across the porch, and a frantic ringing of the bell. Almost breathless, Lloyd gasped, "Let me in! Let me in quick! A 'normous dog is out here and he is 'fraid of Lloyd!" MRS. E. R.

When little 4 year old Jane looked out of her bedroom window one cold, frosty morning and saw an icicle hanging from the roof she said, "O, mother! Jack Frost came last night. I see his tail hanging from the roof." MRS. G. D.
